Where Everybody's Happy

(Contributed by Pauline Tremblay)
There's a town called Don't You Worry.

On the banks of the River St. Lawrence, where the cheer-up and be-happy blues are swept all the while; when the never-grumble flower blooms beside the fragrant try; and the New-Give-Up and Patience Point their faces to the sky. In the valley of contentment, in the province of I Will, you will find this lovely city, the foot of No-Fear Hill. Music lingers quite enticing. You'll find scattered here and there, and to-morrow is clinging. Called the Vinous Earnest Prayer; Everybody there is happy. And is singing all the while, in the town of Don't You Worry, On the banks of River St. Lawrence.

What of the Future

The same old story that has been told all down through the ages is being enacted in these modern days in such the same manner as before, with, possibly, a few variations, but with the same inevitable result. We refer to the carelessness with which some people go through life, never, apparently, considering that the time is coming when they will be too old to work, and that it would be good business for them to put by a little for the time when they will be compelled to relinquish their positions and live the remainder of their lives on what they have saved from their days of activity.

We were much taken with a slogan in one of the insurance papers we receive each month which said: "Save on the gas and invest for the last." There is a lot of meaning in that bit of saying. There are today a lot of people driving cars who are using up the substance that they should be putting by for their wives and small families should any disease suddenly overtake the breadwinner.

Very few have taken into consideration the fact that a two thousand dollar insurance policy left to a widow really amounts to only an income of two dollars and thirty-one cents a week. Not very much for the poor woman to live on these days is it? And how many are there today who do not carry even two thousand dollars insurance?

Referring to the matter of people squandering their present earnings in second-hand cars and the gas and other necessities to keep them up, we know of a true happening enacted this spring in Grey County, though a number of miles from Durham. A certain party did not have the necessary money to buy his license. Ordinarily one would suppose the car would be in the barn. He got in touch with this financier. He put in touch with a dealer in cars, bought a new car "license included," traded in his old one as a first payment and now tours the country with a best of them. What he intends to do when the second, third and other payments come due is not yet known, but there is no doubt he will work it out some way.

We have been told of one party who visited the store and bought three dozen eggs on credit. He took them to another store and sold them—and used the money to buy gas for his car.

This kind of financing is beyond us. A man with a wife and family, if he is worthy of the name, should see to it that they are provided for to the best of his ability should death suddenly overtake him. There are cases where illness in the family may prevent this, but to our mind there is little excuse for the man who squanders his small savings in gasoline or riotous living, then shuffles off to his happy hunting ground leaving his wife with a large family and a bankrupt estate. It is sad that the Lord fashioned all things, but it looks as though the oil must have slipped when he was sculpturing some of the members of the human race.—Durham Chronicle.

Sal 40 Years Behind Same Little Deal

At the little red school house of Section 14, Nelson township, about 100 of its old pupils assembled recently to do honor to Miss Helen Pattinson, who taught some of them when the school was opened just forty years ago. She still occupies the same little desk from which she will soon be teaching grandchildren of her earliest students. From as far away as Saskatchewan and Florida the former pupils came and attended school once more occupying their same old seats now worn with age. It was a grand reunion and Miss Pattinson was the recipient of a fitting gift and hearty felicitations. The old school was profusely decorated for the occasion.

General News

At the annual convention of the Ontario Magistrates' Association, held at Toronto recently, H. P. Morse, of Arton, Police Magistrate for Halton County, was elected first vice-president of the association.

At its meeting on Saturday last Alhion council passed accounts amounting to $100 for sheep killed by dogs. There were many destructive curs in the country as well as in the towns and villages.

Nothing will be done by way of erecting a factory for General Metal Devices, Limited, Norwich, in Oakville, for some time. Tendons for such a building were received here but no award will be made.

Chinguacousy council has passed a grant of $100 to the county of Peel Firemen's Association, part of the donation to be given to a special township class; also a grant of $125 to the county of Peel Agricultural Society on condition that free tickets be given to all school children in the township.

The gang plow or cultivator used on the unseeded stubble fields, says the Farmer's Advocate, will start many weed seeds growing, to be killed later by the regular fall plowing. This practice will help lessen the weeds next year. It's worth trying.

The Lam of George Young, on the Provincial Highway about two miles south of Orangeville, was struck by lightning in the storm of Monday afternoon and destroyed by fire, along with implements, the season's grain, a litter of pigs and some calves.

Hats in Paris are being worn so far back upon the head that the return of the old-time bonnet is prophesied. At the Ministry of War it is said that chaplains of the Royal Air Force may fly as passengers in the course of duty, and may, if physically fit, be ordered to do so when, for example, for reasons of urgency, they should proceed by air.

The German gliders who are now giving exhibitions at Provincetown, Mass., are proving that gliding, when properly done, is pretty smooth sailing.

Of the twenty-nine men who have served as presidents of the United States only four had reached or passed the age of sixty when inaugurated. Marriage statistics issued by the Union of South Africa record the finding of one couple each month, other men each more than ninety-five years of age. Three hundred bridegrooms of eighty five or over are also mentioned, and three centenarian brides.

The sum of approximately $7,000,000 is expended each year by the Dominion Government for the promotion of the agricultural industry.

A striking increase is to be noted in the export of mutton and lamb from Canada. In the twelve months ended May, 1926, 18,738 cwt., worth $385,311, was exported as compared with 13,119 cwt., worth $296,954, in the previous year.

Notes and Comments

AN old age pension act, providing a monthly stipend of $20 for persons 70 years of age who have lived 30 years in Canada and five in Manitoba, has been adopted by the government of that province. The measure became effective on September 1st, and it is reported that 3,000 persons already have applied for the pension.

THE Ontario Department of Agriculture has given notice that the distribution of potatoes to school children will be discontinued. There will, however, be classes at the school fall fairs, the exhibits to come from home gardens. The season for this attitude on the part of the Department is expensive and the difficulty experienced in handling the distribution.

THE British harvesters, who recently were shipped back to the Old Country, claiming they were ill-treated while in Winnipeg, were not wanted to work, and were easily influenced by communist propaganda. If such were the case Canada will be much better off without them. Canada wants immigrants—but they must be willing to work and work hard.

THE curb gas pump is adding to traffic congestion in many towns and is proving a vexatious problem. The Provincial authorities have now decreed that municipal bodies which granted licenses to operate pumps on the curbs have done so illegally. The Town Council of Simcoe was recently notified to this effect and notified with not only refused an application for a license, but cancelled all the permits that had been granted in the past, throwing all responsibility for the pumps on their owners.

THERE should be no great difficulty in the matter of driving licenses if the traffic officers are reasonable, as doubtless, most of them are. A man should not be in peril of a fine if he happens to change his coat and forget his license. If there is any reason to suspect that a driver is not licensed, it can be easily ascertained if this is the case or not. To give unnecessary trouble to a driver who is conducting himself properly, simply because he has forgotten a bit of pasteboard, would be an outrage that surely the law would not contemplate.—Goderich Signal.

THE series of articles on Health that in common with many other papers, we have been running for some months is a valuable one and should be appreciated by many. It is compiled under the direction and with the approval of the Central Medical Association in the province and may be relied on as good sound general advice on how to keep well, and often how to get rid of disease. It is meant, primarily, we believe, to promote the interests of the general public in matters of health. The advice is given gratuitously, and we give it free space. The medical profession has been doing a good deal of that sort of thing, and it is to be commended and encouraged for doing so. It has often been done to the detriment of the remunerative aspect of the profession. It has the effect of improving the health of people and of preventing the spread of various diseases, so that a doctor's services are often, dispensed with where otherwise they would be called in. This is really self-sacrifice from the mere monetary point of view. All honor to those in the profession who hold such ideals and who live up to them.

National Council of Women

The first local appeal in the Dominion wide effort to be conducted by the National Council of Women of Canada for a $200,000 Foundation Fund will be started by the Vancouver Local Council on Monday, September 17.

Vancouver was one of the cities visited by Mrs. Frederick Etherington of Kingston, Ont., first vice-president of the National Council of Women and convenor of the Foundation Fund Committee, on a tour of the western provinces from which she recently returned.

According to Mrs. Etherington all indications point toward a hearty support of the Foundation Fund project in the west. Speaking of the trip she said:

"The attitude of the members of the western Local Councils is most encouraging. At the meetings in Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Victoria, and Vancouver a hearty support of the Foundation Fund was pledged and representatives who attended the meetings from other towns and cities stated that their Local Council also intended to give fullest co-operation."

"It is particularly fitting that the city of Vancouver should be the first to conduct an appeal in this nation wide effort," Mrs. Etherington continued, "since the Foundation Fund movement was originated at the annual convention of the National Council which was held here two years ago. Mrs. G. O. Falls, president of the Vancouver Council, is confident her organization will have no difficulty in raising its portion of the fund."

As part of the Foundation Fund effort Mrs. Falls had requested the president of each of the separate women's organizations that compose the Local Council to secure one life membership.

Early next week Mrs. Etherington will start a tour of the eastern provinces in company with Captain H. H. Bradford, director of the project. Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, Halifax and St. John will be visited and a number of other Local Councils will be represented at the meetings in these cities.

Squire's Wife: "And where's your daughter, Mrs. Brown?"
Mrs. Brown: "Well, m'm, she was that used in the house that I sent her out to domestic service."

Abandon Boy (to Tobaccoist): "My father wants to ken if it's true that there's a tobacco test."
Tobaccoist: "Perfectly true."
Boy: "Well then, will you trust him w' two ounces o' tobacco?"

No Gambling of Fairs

The press and secretaries of fairs have received the following final notice from J. Lockie Wilson regarding the operation of games of chance and similar devices:

"Complaints have already reached me that objectionable side-shows, wheels-of-fortune and gambling devices are being permitted to operate in connection with fairs held under the auspices of agricultural societies in this province. I beg to call the attention of your officers and directors to the notice which was issued on this matter on August 21, 1925, which read as follows: "The officers of the society shall prevent all immoral or indecent shows and all kinds of gambling and all games of chance, including wheels-of-fortune, dice games, pool, coin tables, draw lotteries or other illegal games at the place of holding the exhibition or fair, or within 300 yards thereof, and any association or society permitting such illegal proceedings shall forfeit all claim to any legislative grant during the year next ensuing."

"Now that the department has given fair notice, there can be no complaint or appeal if the grant is discontinued, when the operation of such side-shows has been proven."

"I am instructed to advise you that the section of the act above quoted will be strictly enforced this year, and I am confident that you may count on the hearty co-operation of your officers and the law-abiding members of your society to see that no violation is permitted in connection with the fair in your charge."

The Sports had been at it again. "And furthermore," said Mrs. O'Connell her long tirade, "you certainly are not much of a husband."

"Well, my dear," Mr. O'Connell retorted wearily, "I can truthfully say that you are a lot of wife."
