IN MEMORIAM PRESSWOOD-In loving memory of Private John Presswood, 18290, 75th Battalion, killed in action October 1st, in his 21st year.

In ever glorious France, Near the unrelenting sea, They laid my body to rest Far, far, away from me. We long to see your face, dear son, But since it cannot be, We leave you in the care of Him, Who cares for these and us.

Ever remembered by his loving Mother, Father, Sisters and Brothers.

IN MEMORIAM TRACY-In loving memory of George Herbert James Tracy, who died October 2nd, 1918.

Dear Herbert, you were suffering, God knew you were in pain, He knew you would never get better in this world again.

God saw the road was getting rough, The hills were hard to climb, So He closed your weary eyelids, And whispered "Peace be thine".

Sadly missed by Father, Mother and Brothers.

LAWSON-BONJARD

The marriage took place quietly on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 29th, in Knox college chapel of Miss Helen Tolman Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Lawson, and granddaughter of Major L. Grant of Georgetown, to Mr. Stratton K. Bonjard, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Bonjard of Toronto. The chapel was lovely with lilies and ferns and flowers in a charming tower were at the front of the church and in the aisle. Rev. Kenneth MacLean of Georgetown officiated at the service and during the signing of the register Madame Dussart sang.

The bride, who was given away by her grandfather, wore a French gown of beige lace, fashioned with a full skirt and long sleeves and her hair was styled in a girly wave with an amber buckle. Her hat was of beige felt with a large brim and her beige shoes had amber buckles. She carried a bouquet of lily of the valley and cornflowers, and wore a long Russian crinoline in beige shades to the chapel. Miss Marjorie Mulock was the bride's only attendant and she was in a gown of amber brown georgette with which she wore matching shoes and hat and she carried yellow roses. Mr. Digby Wyatt was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held for the immediate relatives of the bride and groom at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. H. D. Hall, Ridge Rd. Mrs. Hall received with the bride and groom and wore a gown of navy blue corded silk with white touches of beige and her hat was black. Her flowers were roses and orchids. The bride and groom left later for a wedding trip up the Hudson river and for travelling the bride loaned a trunk of grey crepe in which she wore a small hat in matching tone and her coat was of gray velour.

LOCK THE DOOR

There is a legend about a farmer who went to great expense to fortify and lock his barn after a very fine blooded horse had been stolen.

The legend has come to be a means of showing how unwise it is to wait until the horse has been stolen to lock the door.

Advertising is a form of protection against loss of business which is occasionally treated like the farmer treated the barn and the horse.

From a seemingly logical premise that since there is no business or since business is not quite what it should be now the merchant proceeds to the decision that there is no need to advertise.

This reasoning overlooks a great fundamental fact and that is that advertising is extended salesmanship; that just because a man hasn't money with which to buy to-day is no reason he will not have to to-morrow; that the man who goes after the business consistently reaps consistent rewards; that most folk shop where they are invited to shop; and—that
