THE TELEPHONE GIRL

The telephone girl sits still in her chair. And listens to voices from everywhere. Here all the gossip—here all the news. She knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys. She knows every girl who is chasing the boys. She knows every man who is chasing his wife. She knows every woman who has had a dark past. In fact there's a secret 'neath each telephone girl. If the telephone girl would tell all she knows. She would turn half our friends into bitterest foes. She would sow a small wind that would soon be a gale. Enfranchise us in trouble or land us in jail. She could let go a story, which, gaining in force, would cause half our wives to sue for divorce. She would get all the churches mixed up in a fight. And turn all our days into sorrowful nights. In fact she would keep the whole town in a stew. If she told one-tenth part of the things which she knows. How doesn't she make your head whirl? When you think what you owe the telephone girl?

ADVICE TO SCHOLARS

May a few words of encouragement be permitted to all pupils and scholars now entering the last lap of their school year, especially to those who are writing examinations that will determine their progress at school. This is perhaps a greater opportunity than you dream of now. It may mean advancement for a lifetime, or it may mean the beginning of a series of repeated failures. No examination is easy, but to some it may appear almost impossible, and now is the time for you to make up your mind about that. You may be behind with your year's work, or you may feel you are not capable of passing, and so have made up your mind not to try. If you do that you will do it all your life. But if you determine that no matter how difficult it may be you will give it your very best effort or positively die in the attempt, then success is almost assured, and you will have acquired a habit of facing every sort of difficulty you may meet with in your life hereafter. A little extra study and a little extra concentration on the work that is most difficult and you will be surprised how much lost ground may be regained, and what progress can be achieved.

INSIDE INFORMATION

(The following are excerpts from a particularly sane and witty article by H. I. Phillips, in the American Magazine, entitled "The Stock Market Operations.")
For the last few weeks I have been shavering at home, mulling the lot man, dodging the ash collector, ignoring the corner policeman and refusing to be drawn into any conversation with the letter-carrier, gamster, inspector, landman, or butcher. . . . I've got all the inside information on the stock market that I want. I know my weakness. If I listen to them I'm sunk. . . . as absurd. . . . but I'm human and gullible. I like to believe there is a Santa Clause. Stories of quick riches have been circulating for years, acted on during the inside information, fascinates me. Until very recently I yearned to get a thousand shares of some stock that would leap 300 or 400 points and not keep me waiting.
I've stopped trying to beat the stock market, however, because it cost me too much money and too many sleepless nights. I'm not saying there isn't money to be made in the stock market. There's a lot of it there, including mine. But I'm through. I've gone back to working for a living and I've resumed relations with the savings banks.
National banks aren't very exciting institutions. . . . Your little hundred dollars won't turn into a thousand dollars. But neither will it shrink to sixty-nine cents overnight. A little bit of something is better than lots of nothing at all.
Never mind what you read about men making fortunes in Wall Street. It can be done, but not by amateurs. Put what money you can get together into savings banks, preferred stock in Grade A corporations, all-secured bonds. Look for security, not for quick profits. And don't weaken!

FARMERS' WEEK AT THE ONTARIO AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

JUNE 17, 18, 19, and 22.

Everything is set for a larger attendance and a more interesting program than usual in connection with the annual visit of the farm folks of Ontario to Agricultural College.
The College has just started on a more worthwhile visit than ever. Special features of interest are being arranged, and Dr. Christie, the new and energetic President, is anxious to meet as many farmers and farm families as can possibly take a day off to visit the College and Experimental Farm at this time.
Special days have been designated for the different counties, but any family not able to make the trip on the day designated for their county will be entirely welcome on any one of the other days. Here is the list as arranged:
Monday, June 17th—Essex, Kent, Elgin, Norfolk, Haldimand, Welland, Lincoln, Wentworth.
Tuesday, June 18th—Halton, Waterloo, Dufferin, Perth, Huron, Grey, Bruce.
Wednesday, June 19th—Brant, Peel, Simcoe, York, Ontario, Durham, Northumberland, and Eastern counties.
Thursday, June 20th—Middlesex, Oxford, Wellington, Victoria, Peterborough, Lanark, Muskoka.
The Ontario Agricultural College is the greatest institution of its kind in the British Empire, and every Ontario farmer should keep in close touch with the work that is being done there. The very best way is to make a personal visit.

Let Us Smile

Judge Joseph H. Graham, of San Francisco, the "great reconciler" of divorce applicants, does not believe in hasty marriages.
"Such marriages," Judge Graham once said, "are usually failures. Take for example, the Smiths, who married hastily a month ago. I asked him the other day how marriage agreed with him."
"Well," said he, "during the honeymoon I talked and she listened. Then for a week she talked and I listened. Now we both talk and the neighbors listen."

BUSINESS SUMMARY

The boot and shoe industry shows little change from last year. The mining industry is reported as normal, with a moderate improvement in export trade, and the woolen textile working continued on firm orders. Continued cold and wet weather has delayed farming operations. Seedling but high and light soils is progressing but on low-lying ground it has been retarded."

RUSH FOR LAND STILL GOING ON

The land rush in Northern Alberta continues apace. It is reported by the Edmonton office of the Canadian National Railway Colonization Department that approximately 1,000 new settlers are capital aggregating more than one million dollars, had gone into the Peace River country and Northern Alberta since the first of the year and up to the first week of April. It is estimated that during April alone nearly 1,000 homesteads will be taken. During the period of April 1st to 15th, a total of 312 settlers with capital totalling $170,000, were taken in the Peace River district. Among these was one man with $200,000 capital, another with $14,000 and another with $12,000. Last year there were 3,370 homesteads filed on in the Edmonton district, an increase of 147 percent over the previous years. It is estimated that the increase noted so far, this year will not only be kept up, but may even exceed it. The figures only double, it will mean that close to 7,000 homesteads will be taken up in this district alone.
Several cases of hog cholera were disclosed at Shuburne last week, and several herds were dispatched by government inspectors. The stock yards were thoroughly fumigated and it is believed that the epidemic has been halted.

IS IT WORTH WHILE?

Is it worth while for Canada to $2,000,000 each year, which sum is a moderate estimate of the money value of the infant lives lost each year in this country?
It is difficult to place a money value upon human life, because, in the first place, it seems a cold and heartless thing to do. We rather resent the fact that anyone should think of our own children as having a dollar value. There are such human elements as mother-love expended upon a child which are beyond any measure of value.
However, we think of the question in an impersonal way, we do find certain interesting facts. It requires money to feed, house, clothe and educate a child. There is, as it were, an amount of money invested in every child. When the child grows to be an adult and begins to earn money, he then becomes an asset, and to the extent that he carries more than is required for his bare living, he is paying dividends upon the money invested in him.
An eminent American statistician, taking these points into consideration, has found that the value of a child at birth is over $2,000. This sum invested would bring in the money required to rear the child and the net income of his working years.
Upon this basis which we believe is sound and reasonable, we find that every twenty-two thousand dollars which die each year in Canada have an economic value of over $2,000,000. This represents a drain upon our national resources which is not only unjust, but a national consideration.
Public health work is not a matter of sentimentality. It is essentially an expenditure of reasonable sums of money along certain established lines of prevention. Public Health is a business which can pay a dividend far beyond what is paid on any other investment. At least one-half of the $2,000,000 now lost each year can be saved through providing the necessary public health services. Is it worth while?
Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 18 College St., Toronto, will be answered by letter. Questions as to diagnosis and treatment will not be answered.
