Let Your Figures Tell Which Feed to Use

WE OFFER you Purina Chows on just one basis—they must make more money for you than anything else you can feed to your poultry or live stock. Unless Purina does this, you don't want to buy it.

Put Purina to the test of the record sheet and the scale—right out on your own place. Keep track of your feed cost—of your income—of your profits. Purina may cost you a little more in the sack—but the extra eggs, milk, pork or beef will more than offset that. After all, it's the results in the pocketbook that you're interested in.

Ask us for free record sheets and the form of a milk scale. Let us send you enough Purina to prove its value to you. Phone us—drop in.

THE PASSWORD

A little love, a little kindness, yet to tender to a weeping's call A patient hearing, lest we too forget The God who ever is all

A little love, a little tolerance, too, To understand and another's wayward needs To clasp a hand and help a traveller through The tangled paths o'ergrown with weeds.

A little love, a little generous gift, Not of the world, but of ourselves Of all within that tends to pure uplift Give generously to help another's need.

A little love, a little prayer, maybe, For those who little most—with bitter tears; A little prayer that those now blind may see The light that shines beyond the veils.

A little love, a little helping of the weak To touch the hands now groping in the dark; And in the ear one whispered word to say Of him who safely guides the frail-est bark.

A little love, to keep in common touch With those who are forgotten; And give the password that shall help so much To ease a heart or lighten sorrow's load.

A little love, O heart, be not ashamed Of generous giving, every gift above: Till to the world the password is proclaimed And truth revealed through love.

—By Laura Redell.

An old resident of Port Credit, Mr. Morton, died at his home, 2145 Lakeshore road, Toronto, from heart trouble. He was removed from his residence to the hospital Friday night. Mr. Morton was in his 76th year.

Cattle running at large on the highway can be prosecuted and are taken against the owners. This may seem harsh but it is better than for some motorists to have an accident by trying to avoid a collision.

Bolton Board of Trade, of which Dr. John O'Hara is president, will petition the village council to have a thorough inspection of the village by the fire wardens with a view to lessening the fire hazard as far as possible.

At the meeting of Campbellville Lodge No. 603, A.F. & A.M. at Campbellville, on Tuesday evening the following officers were elected for the year: W.M. Cecil Howden; S.W. John O'Hara; J. W. E. O'Hara; Secretary, Rev. C. G. Jones; Treasurer, R. C. Menzies; Tyler, L. W. McMillan.

While attending the auction sale at Wm. Lawson's in Carleton Place, recently Mr. Adam Wallace, of Grand Valley, had the misfortune to get his left leg broken below the knee. The accident occurred through the kick of a colt which was being sold in the ring.

A wheat grower from the foothills of the Canadian Rockies, Joseph H. St. Louis, was the winner of the grand prize of the National Hay and Grain Show at Chicago this week. Smith whose title was the "best of hard red spring wheat" which weighed 63.3 pounds to the bushel.

High prices were realized for about fifty excellent milk cows, mostly from and springers, at a sale held by Geo. H. King, Dundas highway, on Thursday last. Bidding opened at $100. The price was $185, while twenty-five cows yielded an average of $184. This was a highly satisfactory result for the good demand.

At the last meeting of the Peel County Council, Rev. Lindsay gave his report of the Halton-Peel Old People's Home. There are 71 inmates at present. Eight deaths have occurred during the past year. The building and farm was in excellent shape. Many of the inmates are pensioners and this money would go into the treasury.

CANADIAN DOLLAR IS GOOD

The man far back from the border in United States is going to be schooled in the value of the Canadian dollar by the time he returns through his course in trading he will not be keen to knock twenty cents off for the exchange of it into United States money.

At least that is what we read in news from Washington today. No less a body than the Federal Reserve Board is to undertake the role of national educator. That powerful organization has heard the groans of Canadians as they have had their good Canadian dollar hammered down at times to 85 and even 80 cents in exchange stations and stores some distance from the border.

The Reserve Board has its headquarters in Washington, and it could have a good time were it to take a special tour of that city, of New York or Chicago and start out to spend them in the largest stores there. It would not be necessary to go as far as the filling stations and the stores in the great interior.

A Canadian citizen, however, were very sharp they would do their own schooling in such a way that United States money would learn the value of the Canadian dollar.

Such schooling would be done by sending more of these Canadian dollars in this country where they can buy 100 cents on the dollar. We put down many of these dollars and they pile up there and become common. We don't get as many American dollars on this side of the line as they send Canadian dollars over there, and for that reason we can't trade dollar for dollar with them.

Until we reach that point it is advisable for people going to United States to change their Canadian money for United States currency at banks in Canada. They will have to pay the rate of discount for the day and no more, and they will save money by so doing.

Canada will not resent any schooling that the Federal Reserve Board can do regarding the value behind the Canadian dollar, but the most effective schooling can be done by the Canadian people themselves.

DRIVERS NAMES WILL BE POSTED

The names of all motorists whose driving licenses are suspended, whether for reckless driving or on liquor charges, will be posted on a billboard in the Motor Vehicle Office at the Parliament Buildings.

It is the aim of the Highway Department that this publicity will act as a deterrent to traffic accidents.

In announcing this new move, Hon. George S. Henry states that the list will include the names of the offenders in all cases calling for suspension, and that the nature of the offense will be indicated.

Mr. Henry proposes that the press co-operate in this movement, and may refer to the names on the list. The list will be added to day by day.

Persons whose names are listed in the Motor Vehicle Department suspend a license, that motorist's name will be put on the board.

This action follows the announcement last week of the exchange between the Highway Department and the Liquor Control Board of lists of persons convicted of driving while intoxicated, and those who have had liquor permits cancelled. According to a Government statement to The Globe last night, the posting of a list will be only at the Highway Department, and there will be no public list at the Liquor Control Board's Office.

SEND IT EARLY

We are always glad to get all the news you can send in and we are doubly glad when you send in early. We can usually put a few items in that occur just prior to publication time, but if the news items happen early in the week, let us have it early. It usually happens every week on Wednesday morning we would get sufficient news articles to more than fill the columns of The Herald with the earlier in the week the news can be of search to find items of real local interest. The result is we get good news articles and you get condense them very much and you are disappointed because your article did not appear. A lot of it was left out, when we would have both benefited if the articles had reached us earlier. Let us see the news you can, but please send it as early as you can—Thank you.

Write—Will you love me if I grow fat?
Husband—No, I promised for better or for worse—not through thick and thin.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

MANY Canadians who went to the United States to take up permanent residence are realizing that there's no place like home, and during the last six months nearly 18,000 of them have returned to their own country. And there is a desire in the window for a lot more of the wanderers.

WE have it on pretty definite information that there will be a Federal election in January next or the early part of February. Some may scoff at this idea but remember we told you last time that about when the Provincial election would be held. There is always a way of finding out these things—Alvinism Free Press.

THE new liquor regulations will tend to reduce consumption of booze, and curbing it is not favored. As a matter of fact Ontario objects to its use as a food. As long as it is satisfied to use liquor for a cold only when he has a cold, the public is with him. If he gets when he gets getting properly plastered that he loses public support. Take a man who must, but don't make an ass of yourself. And remember the well-alarmed gent is a past everywhere—Bull-star.

BEFORE the prohibition cause can hope to repeat some of its earlier successes. For unless there is a revision of the ideas of some of its advocates on the subject of temperance education would appear to be necessary. A lot of humbug was propagated during the election campaign last closed, and not an inconsiderable portion of it emanated from prohibition sources. For years the temperance cause has suffered from the misdirected efforts of fanatics who have viewed the liquor question simply as a challenge to fight, and who waste temperance education as a process of hurling invective at all and sundry who do not immediately agree with them.—Farmer's Sun.

IN this motor age when gasoline is handled as frequently as factory output or sugar in other days, the Toronto newspaper suggests that we are prone to forget that it is a dangerous explosive. Only an occasional tragedy reminds us of the public's peril. The only wonder is that these tragedies are not of more frequent occurrence. For gasoline is used for so many domestic purposes that people are apt to forget that they are tempting sudden death as well as a configuration. Gasoline should be used for domestic purposes as infrequently as possible. Use it in the same care and respect that is given to dynamite. The familiarity that breeds contempt has never bestowed in a more dangerous place.

JUST two weeks now until Christmas and in the foreground of a pleasant picture which the word always brings to mind, looms the Christmas shopping which is rather frightening when thought of in connection with those who are to be remembered this year with gifts, is made out. To really successful success in the Christmas shopping one must be very early, so that there will be no necessity of those few days of hectic buying if the start in that line is delayed too long. Georgetown stores showing lovely line of goods would be suitable as gifts, and if one has been fairly observant while in conversation with intimate friends, while guests in their homes, many suggestions might have been picked up which will now become very useful. In assisting in the choice of Christmas gifts. Our friends unconsciously give hints for the gift they desire. Take the shopping begins, and Georgetown stores, right at your door, can supply your Christmas needs. Take your time now and shop around for what you want. Resolve to shop in Georgetown early in the day and enjoy a merry Christmas.

SOME OBITUARY

This is the obituary printed in the Tribune, Fountain St., South Carolina, on August 26th, of one of our daughters, his wife having preceded him to the grave five years ago and thus escaped five years of thankless duty.

The surviving son and daughter have the hearty congratulations of the community. They at least have their hands on the property for which they have so impatiently waited. The community has a great loss in the loss of a life that did anything to benefit anybody.

He held on to unimpaired property while his town grew up and double and made him rich. He would against every bond issue for public improvement and opportunity to get on taxation designed to benefit the community. He never contributed a penny to any charity or community enterprise and he paid his bills so tardily and resentfully that the money was scarce worth the effort to collect it. His wealth made him important enough to dominate his church, but he felt that he had done his full duty when he laid in prayer each Sunday morning. The less important matter of paying expenses he left to the poor members of the congregation.

After the death of his wife he lived alone in the unimpaired, tumble-down shack that had been his home for forty-five years.

He planned to live with his children, but each of them was afraid of the one that fed and endured him would work some trick to get the property, and all at length agreed to let him fend for himself.

The attending physician attributed his death to some brain trouble, but he attended a church picnic the day before he was stricken and it is probable that the opportunity to get so much free food after having starved himself for years caused him to founder.

The funeral service was very impressive. A mixed choir sang "Jesus Christ, who died for us." The preacher spoke eloquently of the eternal joy that is the reward of those who put their trust in God.

A few merchants in the congregation went audibly when the preacher mentioned that the old man's earthly account was settled.

The coffin was a little too small for the man so large, but double and will rest easier for being tight to the last.

May he rest in peace.

His death, like that of the martyr, benefits mankind. It puts his money into circulation.
