Long distance telephone service is constantly improving. Seventy per cent of long distance connections are now completed while the calling party holds the line.

In 1927 it took an average of 5.8 minutes to complete connection. In 1929 the average was 3.5 minutes per call and many calls, of course, are put through on the

And with this greater speed there have been two reductions in long distance rates within the last year. Every Bell telephone is a long distance station today, making speech possible across the province or the world - more quickly - and at lower rates han_ever_before.
