Collins—Carson.
A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. George's Church, when May, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Collins, was married to Mr. John Nelson Carson. The Rev. P. Wase officiated. The bride given away by her father, wore a gown of white georgette, a tulle veil in cap effect, and wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses, lily of the valley and baby's breath. She was attended by her two sisters, Mrs. Franke McFarlane of Oakville, who was maid of honor and wore mauve georgette, with drowsy hat, and shoes to match, and Mrs. Thomas, Alton of Trenton, who wore yellow georgette, with drowsy hat and shoes to match, and a black carriage bag and baby's breath. The groom was attended by Mr. Faunce Forgyves, Mr. Alfred Collins, Jr., brother of the bride and Mr. Frank McFarlane were ushers. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. King Edward Hotel, who were figured chieftain. The bride and groom left for New York, the bride travelling in the afternoon, accompanied with white for trimmings.
