WAITING FOR 8.30

Mother and Anne had always been very close to one another. When Anne married and moved to another city, each missed the other greatly.

The one thing more than any other has helped to keep them close—the telephone. Every Friday evening Anne calls her mother by Long Distance... after 8.30 p.m. when the low night rates are in effect. During the week they both keep memos of topics they wish to discuss. Then there is no time lost... and smiling faces.

What if they are 120 miles apart! The telephone connection is made in about a minute—nearly always while Anne holds the line. Their talks are just as clear as on land, and the cost, after 8.30 p.m., is only 40 cents.

GUILD BANQUET

On the Evening of April the 28th, in Knox Church, Georgetown a very excellent banquet was given by the Blue Section to the Red Section in honor of a victory by the Red over the Blue in a contest for high points of merit between the two sections of the guild.

The programme was a treat. After the Toast to the King the Chairman Alex Fraser, offered a few well chosen remarks and then proceeded to introduce some community singing, followed by vocal and instrumental numbers and a few speeches.

The Young Brothers, with violin and piano were very distinctively received and encored. Jack Harrison sang in excellent taste and form. The second prize was given by the Blue to the Red for having the most lights in the banquet with a piano solo. The Toast to the Victors was happily and considerably protracted by James Kennedy and it was responded to by Miss A. McLaughlin in an attractive performance.

The toast to the Church was proposed by Fred Farlinger who grasped effectively the task he was to do, for he did not forget that we have a human organized Church, and also a great spiritual body of believers. This toast was responded to by the pastor. He indulged in a few humorous opening thoughts and then settled down to speak of the gravity and peace and loving grace of the Church. In his closing words he appealed to the people for warrant to praise the Church, its cooperation, co-operation and soul-peace.

Impromptu speeches were given by Mr. L. Curtin, J. and Miss Jean Mackenzie. Mr. Curtin struck a happy vein of congratulations and Miss Mackenzie expressed the joy at seeing so many happy victors and equally as many good losers. Women in all the speeches were the kindly recollections of Alex Fraser, who proposed along with these, Miss Ada Hume and Mrs. Clarkson come in for the praise for congratulations they had made. Seated at the head table were: Alex Fraser, Rev. Dr. Howard, Miss Murray, James Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Curtin, Fred Farlinger, Miss Jean Mackenzie, Miss M. McKay, and Miss A. McLaughlin.
