> MRS RAY AGNEW Christmas eve was saddered for whole community by the sudden death of Mrs. Ray Agnew on that evening. A bright young woman, apparently in good health and about her duties as usual, she was preparing on Christmas eve for the enjoyment of the festive occasion. The Christmas tree in this home was laden with gifts and she and her husband were just about to reveal the surprises in store for them when she was seized with a severe pain in her head. The family physician was called but she had lapsed into unconsciousness before his arrival. She never rallied and passed away within an hour from the time of the hemorage that had struck the brain. Mrs. Agnew was a bright young woman and folks! She and her sorrowing husband had been married five years and their's was a happy home, shared with Mr. Agnew's fether. It would seem

HYDRO AND TELEPHONE LINES DOWN-NEW YEAR'S DINNERS POSTPONED-MANY FRUIT AND SHADE TREES DAM-AGED

The worst ice and sleet storm in many years hit this section on Thursday night last and in twelve hours caused much damage to Hydro and Telephone lines which were broken by the weight of the ice and sections of trees falling on them. In many places in the country poles were down. Superintendent Porster of the Hydro and his men deserve credit for their splendid work. They were on the job early and late, all New Year's day. and gave Georgetown customers service in splendid time considering the damage done. Thuse with electric ranges and no auxiliary system of cooking, found it necessary to postporfed their New Year's dinner, other than the liquid refreshments. However, everybody on the hydro lines in town is now getting service again and the New Years' dinners on Satururday and Sunday were up to the standard Chief Marshall was also a busy man all New Year's day with his gang of men clearing streets and roadways of fallen trees and lines. -His prompt action was also appreciated. Bell Telephone line men are getting their lines in shape again, although it may be some time before a complete service is restored. Many fruit and shade trees were damaged in town and surrounding
