A GIRL'S "TE"

If you can face life with courage and thanksgiving,
 The courage that meets trouble with a smile;
 If you hear gossip rave, and then, forgiving,
 Speak kindly words that rob them of their gulf;
 If you can revel in all sports athletic,
 And not forget the gentler games,
 Be strong and self-reliant, not pathetic
 Give friendliness to all who meet with you.
 If you can master languages and sciences,
 And not consider that you know it all;
 If you can use with skill each new appliance,
 And do a man's work, should occasion call;
 If you delight in theatre and dancing,
 Yet not let either get too strong a hold;
 If money daily serves some good and virtuous
 Nor do you bow unto a god of gold;
 If you can sew, or sweep, or darn, or stock,
 Yet not become a tired household drudge;
 If you can cook without digestion
 No only use the chafing dish for fudge;
 If you can dress in silks and rare old lace,
 Nor let dress make of you a mannequin;
 If you can sing without too many graces,
 Or, playing, make sweet harmony, not
 If some day you should love and wed another,
 And in his keeping give your future life,
 Where happiness you'll find, as with no other,
 And be to him a trustful, loving wife,
 I'm sure, beyond the fear of contradiction,
 Of all true folk you'll be the pride and boast.
 You'll be, my girl, above all queens of fiction,
 A woman whom the world will proudly toast.

NEW "CONFIDENCE" RACKET

A new racket has just been worked by smooth "confidence men" in London. One of them posed as a federal officer and the manager of a "confidence racket" in the office of a merchant, informing the cashier that he was a federal officer on a secret search for counterfeit money currency. He asked to look at the bills in the office. Suddenly he scrutinized a $20 bill, which is one of the counterfeit bills, he said, with a look toward the merchant. "I'll give you a receipt for it, and the department will reimburse you for the amount." He gave the receipt, took the bill and that is the end of the merchant's day of his "confidence racket" and he is a wretched man.

News and Information For the Busy Farmer

Corn and Beans
 Corn and beans are two crops essential for all kinds of live stock, taking the place of green grass in the ration after the season for grass is over. Corn is planted any time after danger of frost is past. Manure should be put in fairly early so that the seed will have the early moisture. Turnips are not planted before the middle of week in June and may go until about July 10. If planted too early they make less palatable feed than those which make the most of their growth in early fall.

Call Them Out
 As soon as the spring apart in egg production commences to lessen there are certain hens, in every flock that should be culled out and marketed. The sooner they are gotten rid of the bigger will be the flock profit. Labor is reduced, feed costs are lowered and the room in the laying house and on the range. Poultry should also sell for more money in the early part of the season than later. There is a material gain in disposing of the non-productive birds. One of the simplest ways to get rid of them is to go over the birds when they roost at night. Pick out those with shriveled, rough combs, shrunk, hard abdomens. A bird with a large amount of hard fat around the abdomen is not in laying condition.

Reforestation
 Tree planting is gaining in popularity with farmers in all parts of the province. As an example of good work done by an individual farmer, Walter S. Riddell of Thorndale, Ont., this year undertook an extensive scheme of reforestation on his farm. His present holdings are 200 acres, mostly spruce, pine, cedar and oak. There will be enough in the cover fifteen acres. Middlesex County has been one of the leaders in reforestation. In 1931 there were 168,500 seedling trees supplied by the Government to residents of the County for reforestation purposes. These seedlings are supplied free of charge. Other counties are doing almost as well and a number of fine municipal forests are in course of growth.

Rutabagas in Demand
 According to reports, the Farmers' Co-operative Association of Blackwater, has an order for 30,000 bushels of "Big Boy" rutabagas to be delivered next marketing season. These rutabagas are intended for distribution in Toronto and Hamilton. This information is gratifying to the Ontario Marketing Board, as it was at the suggestion of the Board that the rutabagas be grown in this county. The Board was adopted by the Blackwater organization. While the marketing of rutabagas was in the experimental stage, over 7,000 bushels were sold, mostly in Toronto, with trial shipments to Montreal and New York City. On every satisfaction is reported, and one firm volunteered the information that its table rutabagas had done better than those that it had received from other sources.

Weekly Crop Report
 Orchards in Dundas County are looking particularly well and prospects are for a good crop in well based orchards. A large part of the orchards are being trimmed up and put in shape and will be sprayed this week. A large part of the orchards are being trimmed up and put in shape and will be sprayed this week. Planting Strawberries
 The new bed of strawberries should be planted now. Obtain new plants from a reliable source. Dig them with a digging fork, shake out the soil, gather them up quickly and remove to some shallow container. Dip them in water, sorted and straightened out preparatory to planting. The sooner they are planted the better. Dig a shallow trench, and place the plants in the opening made with the spade, two people working together can plant very rapidly, even to 4000 per day. All blossoms should be removed the first year to enable the plants to produce before winter. Remove runners and new plants in order to form the main row. Thorough and frequent cultivation should be given during the winter. Nitrogen in the form of nitrate of soda or ammonia sulphate may be used to advantage just after the plants have started into growth.

FARMER STRICKEN BY STRANGE DREAM

Suffering from a strange malady similar to sleeping sickness but not diagnosed as such, Arthur Woodcock, 45, well-known Pittsburg Township farmer, is under treatment at St. Joseph's Hospital, Guelph. His case has aroused much interest among Guelph's medical fraternity. Woodcock, who had enjoyed excellent health, failed to arise as usual on bed last Thursday morning, and members of his family upon investigation found that he was in a coma from which it was impossible to arouse him. Removed to hospital, he eventually regained consciousness, but the disease which he is afflicted is something entirely different from anything previously treated in Guelph, and is being closely studied by attending doctors.

DESTINY
 "I was ever so, 'till ever be
 That man's great aim and destiny
 In ceaseless striving to attain
 A joy that like some sweet refrain
 Is heaven-released to ease his pain.
 But why, oh why seek far beyond,
 And leave the magic wand
 Awaits to summon those who see?
 'Twas ever so, 'till ever be."
 —John W. R. Penlon.

You Can't Save
 Money by buying Cheap or Inferior Paint. You may pay less "per package" for it, but it will cost you more per "square foot." The reason is simple: Lacking Quality, it will only cover 600 square feet. Lacking performance, it will require more material to do a given area: You can save both money and time, by using Lowes Brothers Paint. It will cover from 200 to 300 square feet farther per gallon than cheap paint.
 It will take less material to do a given area. It will last longer, brush easier and look better. Figure your paint cost—not on the gallon price—but on the square-foot coverage. Try Lowes Brothers on your next job for best performance and real economy.

"High Standard" Paint
 A superior paint for door frames, sashes, trim and all exterior woodwork. Has a body that assures maximum covering capacity—permanence of color and richness of finish. Choice of many modern colors. Per-Square-Foot the most economical.

Shingle Paint & Stain
SHINGLE PAINT—An inexpensive but preservative and protective paint for rough siding, shingles, fences, etc.
SHINGLE STAIN—An unexcelled stain for use on shingles, siding, etc., where permanence of color and durability is desirable. Ask for color card.

Dorch & Deck Paint
 Made to withstand the scuffing and scraping of feet. Stands up under the most rigid conditions and is not affected by rain, snow or frost. All its colors hide well; work easily and spread far.

TAKE MEXICO
 by way of example
TURBULENT Mexico is a hundred years behind the United States or Canada in respect of the living standards of its people. In Mexico, outside one or two of its major cities, retail stores, regarded as a whole, are primitive in comparison with those in the United States and Canada.
 Explain as you may the backwardness of Mexico, you will have to admit that a primary cause is: The people in Mexico don't read advertisements as do the peoples in the United States and in Canada.
 It's the same in respect of Spain, the Balkan countries, China, and the countries of Latin America.
 Advertisements are not read in these countries because newspapers are fewer and industry is underdeveloped; and without newspapers and advertisements no country can rise to high levels of culture and content and prosperity.
 In France they have plenty of newspapers, some with immense circulations, but the industrialists of France haven't learned to advertise as have the industrialists of Canada, the United States and Britain. Result: France, outside the big cities, is a country of peasants.
 Russia's evolution toward high cultural levels would be expected, if the country had more newspapers with lots of advertisements in them.
 Japan is a country with fine newspapers and of a many advertisers and look at Japan's position among the nations.
 Say what you may, think what you may, the fact remains that that country whose people are much advertised to advances rapidly in civilization. Advertisers are the great stimulators of a nation—greater than editors, statesmen, teachers and preachers.
 So when you pick up newspapers regard the advertisements in them as being positive forces applied on men and women to push them forward and upward to something finer and better.
 The degree of your responsiveness to advertisements is an index to the measure of your cultural development.
MAKE it your practice to read advertisements—even the advertisements of things and services which you may have no thought of buying or using. Then the breadth of your mind will be made greater—with much advantage to you and to those whose lives you touch and influence.
