THE WRECK

Just a man hurried from cradle to grave, Petered by laws like some stoical slave; Hurtled from mother's fond arms to a chair, "Now see the darling we man sitting there!" Rushed into rompers—to buy them was joy Then he was "Daddy's own regular boy!" Ringed out off (they had shone like sun gold) Curis were not meant for "a big four-year-old!" Hastened through lower school, asked to forsake Marbles and top—a career was at stake; Punished with brain food to make him advance; Praised for his progress by uncles and aunts; Speeded through senior grades, helped out at home; Head crunched with facts till it felt like a tome; Made to take music, that art which retards; Intricate symbols on intricate lines; Flustered at morning, at noon and at night; All through his college days, "Know ledge is might!" Teased and tormented by laurus dis- played; Winners are those of which heroes are made; Urged, till he mastered the tricks of the game; Given a chair in some great hall of fame; Now prodding others to get into stride; "Laggards are one thing we cannot abide!" Harassed by worries that filled him with fright; Worn by rushing from morning till night; Nerves all 8-tuple and head all a- throbs; Caught in the mesh of the masterful pace; Valiantly struggling to keep up the pace; Forced while in midlife to give up the race; Broken in body, in spirit and mind; Soon he has followed the way of man- kind; Fold his hand tenderly over his breast; Close his sad eyelids. At last he has rest. Maude Laidman

PLUM JAM AND JELLY

By Betty Barclay

"You've heard of a 'judy plum' haven't you? Well, there are plenty of nice judy plums in the markets today for the housewife who knows how to cook. Plum jam and jelly can be when cold winter days roll round. Dark-skinned plums are the best favored for jam and jellies. Instead of using underripe fruit, use in grandmother's day, fully ripened fruit, with all its luscious color and flavor can be made into wholesome, health- ful jellies. Bottled fruit peels makes this possible. This is pure fruit peels—no substances in fruits that makes jelly 'jelly.' It is extracted from fruits having plenty of it, refined, concentrated to a known and definite strength, and bottled. It is now possible to add a controlled amount of pectin to any fruit and thus get per- fect results. Use these 'judy peels' and 'tasted' recipes for plum jelly and plum jam.

Ripe Plum Jelly—Ripe Plum Jelly
4 cups (2 lbs.) juiced
7/8 cups (3/4 lb.) sugar
1/2 bottle fruit peels
To prepare fruit, crush thoroughly about 4 pounds fully ripe fruit. Do not peel or pit. Add 1 cup water. (For Ripe Plum Jelly add juice of 1 bottle fruit peels.) Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add pectin, stirring constantly. Then pour into a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire and stir quickly. Pour into 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

ORANGE MILK FOAM
(Serves 1)
6 tablespoons orange juice
6 tablespoons evaporated milk
6 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Beat or shake thoroughly. Serve at once in a large glass, chilling with ice if desired. Fresh milk may be used in place of evaporated milk.
This is an excellent mid-meal drink for children who are undernourished. It is also a good beverage accompaniment for meals. Evaporated milk makes the drink very economical.

COCONUT SALADS
One seldom thinks of coconut when preparing a salad. At least one woman does until she has experimented with this food in salad form. After that the coconut salad is a frequent delicacy. Try these and be convinced:
Coconut Salad Deliciously
2 cups cabbage, finely shredded
1 cup grated pineapple, drained
1 cup coconut, previously shredded
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Dash of salt
Crisp cabbage by draining it to stand in ice water. Drain and dry thoroughly. Toss lightly together with remaining ingredients. Serve on crisp lettuce. Garnish with strips of pineapple and chopped chives. Serves 6.

*Stuffed Prune Salad
2 packages cream cheese
1/2 can coconut, Southern style chopped
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
24 cooked prunes, seeded
Blend cheese, coconut, and mayonnaise. Stuff prunes with mixture. Serve on crisp lettuce. Garnish with additional mayonnaise. Serves 8.

News and Information For the Busy Farmer

When to Cut Sunflowers
"It is generally recommended to cut sunflowers when they are about 50 to 60 per cent in bloom," states E. Hopkins, Dominion Field Husbandman. "At this stage they contain more dry matter than earlier stages and are more easily handled than at other stages. If the heads are allowed to firm until the seed is in the danger stage the stock become very difficult to cut and handle in the field, and difficulty is also experienced in getting the larger seeds to pass through the throat of the ensilage cutter."

Feeder Purchase Policy
Renewal of the Feeder Purchase Policy designed to encourage the winter feeding of cattle and horses of suitable type and quality is announced by the Hon. Robert Weir, federal minister of Agriculture. Under the terms of this policy, broadly put, the federal department will pay the reasonable travelling expenses of a farmer or stock raiser to the stockyard point of purchase, the feeder sales, or nearest station, to range point at which he wishes to purchase. To secure the benefits of the policy at least one car of stock (100 head of cattle or 40 hams, or a combination of 2 hams at the equivalent of one beef animal) must be purchased. Stock purchased is subject to approval and suitable by the official representative of the Dominion Live Stock Branch serving the point of purchase.

Ontario growers are again advised against the practice of picking immature fruit on the market. C. E. Brantford, of the Ontario Marketing Board, reports that, only recently, he noticed a quantity of plums on the Toronto market, which should not have been on the trees for at least another two weeks. Another practice, detrimental to the business as a whole, is that of selling fruit from the trees who are definitely in the market for this quality or product. Generally, it does not seem to be known that there is a law against selling such, unless these are being transported direct to a processing plant, to be used in the manufacture of acids by-products.

Planting of Celery Increased in Ontario
Revised acreage figures for Ontario indicate that 868 acres have been planted to celery this year. The two leading districts, Lambton County and Burlington, report plantings of 400 and 325 acres respectively. Weather conditions have been favorable, and reports from growers indicate that the marketing of culls does serious injury to the entire trade, through creating dissatisfied customers.

Weekly Crop Report
Reports from crop representatives indicate that excellent yields of grain and being reported in certain parts of the province. In other sections yields are considerably lower than in 1931. Some fall wheat has been seeded for the 1933 crop. Many reports indicate that the yield of corn in Ontario is 15 to 25 per cent decrease in out put in comparison with 1931. Bruce County reports livestock to be in good condition due to pasturing, while in the whole milk trade more demand is shown for milk from T. H.-rated cows. Backwash-mixtures local growers are preparing in the low late land of Grand Valley-Dundalk sections in Dufferin. Some top crops of alfalfa and clover have been harvested in Grey. Peal has had outbreak of weevils in old winter wheat and barley. Damage from Leaf Hopper is reported in South Bruce. In Waterloo, fall wheat is yielding about 40 bu. to the acre, oats about 60 bu. to the acre, and hay average yield. Late tomato crop have come along well in Essex due to recent rains. Excellent yields from corn crops of good quality are noted in several counties. Kent County will have an average crop of barley this year. The quality of corn varies as a good crop in Lincoln. Middlesex has enjoyed first-class pasturing this summer. One farmer in that county has 4,000 bushels of corn, while another had a yield of 50 bu. per acre. Favorable weather for harvesting has been general. A variety of improved potatoes were recently shipped from Prince Edward County.

On Thinning Mangels
Experiments carried out over a period of eight years by the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, show that the largest crop of mangels is secured when they are thinned to 9 inches between the rows. The report also observes that the system of blocking plants into small bunches results in the production of many small roots, which are difficult to harvest.

Sheep and Swine Classes
An outstanding feature of the sheep and swine sections at the Central Canada Exhibition were the classes open to county pens of lambs and bacon hogs, selected and entered by Agricultural Representatives from counties in Eastern Ontario and Western Ontario. A real deal of good natured rivalry was evident between the residents of the various counties in the various classes in the class open to pens of lambs. Lanark won first and third, with Renfrew second, while in the bacon hog section, Carletonville first, Lanark second and Renfrew third.

Ontario Potato Outlook
J. T. Casson, Ontario Marketing Board states that the early potato crop is being marketed rapidly, and yields are averaging about sixty-five per cent of those of last year. The southern counties have almost finished shipping, and the crop in the central part of the Province is being moved as quickly as it is ready.

Sheep at Exhibition
The new Junior Agricultural Section at the Central Canada Exhibition was an outstanding feature. The special classes, open to members of Calf clubs in Eastern Ontario and Western Ontario, created keen interest around the ringside. Between 35 and 40 club members exhibited their calves and the manner in which they cared for them. They were awarded the championship for groups, while Donald McIntyre, one of the members of the winning group, received the championship for his own calf. This same young man won first for showmanship in the class open to calf club members and later they won a little farther in them.

BUCK WHEELER'S JUDY

which explosives had been kept for safety at the time when the blasting was done on the Red Crags. This proved a welcoming haven. Judy let go her hold of Edna and Milton and strained at the thick wooden door. At last she wrenched it open, and with little ceremony shoved the almost exhausted man through the narrow opening. Once inside, the three sank in a huddle on the stone flagging. They were both in a daze, wrapped in black darkness. While they cleared their lungs and got their breath, they heard the walking, moaning, and shrieking of the storm as it beat and raged against the bluff, and howling like a million demons over the rapids.

Finally the gale subsided, and Edna and Milton, still sitting in a close huddle, exchanged a few low-spoken words. Judy kept silent, but her companion heard her climb up to the door and attempted to open it. Evidently she was having difficulty in getting it open, for she failed to push it back. "We'd better help her," Edna suggested. "We'll try to get it open for her." "What shall we do? How shall we ever get out?" Edna exclaimed in muffled tones of despair. "We shall succeed if we have to muffed in this black hole much longer," Milton added. "The storm must be passing now. For it's so very quiet outside."

Judy continued to hold her silence, but in the still period that followed, both Edna and Milton felt the touch of her strong hand. Never had they experienced anything more assuring than this kindly caress. She climbed up to the door again, and began to pound with her fists against the panel. The other two girls shouted and called, but their stifled voices seemed to go nowhere. At last came the crunching of feet on the floor, and the heavy door, however, and the de-throated voice of old Buck Wheeler was plainly heard, followed by the digging away of the snow from the door. "What's gone on here? How shall we ever get out?" Edna exclaimed in muffled tones of despair. "We shall succeed if we have to muffed in this black hole much longer," Milton added. "The storm must be passing now. For it's so very quiet outside."

THE LAUGH CORNER
Pastor—"You say you cannot get along with your husband? People must learn to bear and forbear. You say every try heaping coals of fire on his head?"
Young Wife—"No, I never did. But I've tried boiling hot water."

Teacher—"Tommy, come here and give me what you've got in your mouth!"
Tommy—"I wish I could, it's toothache."

Father—"So you want to marry my daughter?"
Suitor—"Yes, but first I want to know if there is any insanity in your family?"
Father—"No, and there's not going to be any."

DRIVERS OF COMMERCIAL VEHICLES FIGURE LARGELY IN AUTO ACCIDENTS
It is difficult to understand how drivers, expert enough to be in charge of commercial motor vehicles, could be involved in over 1,900 accidents in one province, in one year—yet that is the record for Ontario in 1931. Last year 110 commercial vehicles were involved in fatal accidents, 1,088 were involved in accidents in which personal injury was sustained. These are official figures, furnished by the Motor Vehicles Branch of the Ontario Department of Highways. It is expected that the use of commercial vehicles in the province will continue to increase. It is therefore of the utmost importance that drivers thereof take warning from last year's appalling experience. And it is equally imperative that drivers of pleasure cars and pedestrians co-operate in an effort to put the blame on the careless motorist, killing and maiming of humans on Ontario's streets and highways.

EXCESS FAT RUINING HER HEALTH
Better after Losing 14 lbs.
There are a number of bodily ailments that are apt to arise in overweight men and women, and if excess fat is reduced in the right way, very often improved health follows—as it did with this woman.
"I used to have a great deal of fat that seemed to nearly stop me breathing, especially when I knelt down to do my housework. I was walking up a hill. I would simply have to fight for my breath for about 20 minutes. But now that has all gone, thanks to Kruschen. I have lost 14 lbs. in weight, and am able to get about in comfort. I can work all day and not feel tired. I feel so much better, and am so pleased to have lost some of the fat that was steadily gaining ground with me and ruining my general health."—(Miss) A. K.
There are six vital mineral salts in Kruschen. These salts combat the cause by assisting the internal organs to perform their functional properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which are allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue. Unlike ordinary aperients, Kruschen does not contain any action to a single part of the system. Its tonic effects extend to every organ, gland, nerve and vein.

Decide Golf Prize On Roof of World

"THE Prince of Wales Trophy, one of golf's most coveted possessions, has just been decided on the spectacular links of the Banff Springs Golf Course, a mile above sea level, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies. This year the trophy went overseas to an Englishman, down from Oxford University, a newcomer to the ranks of champions who made the long trip a week ahead of play. He is W. A. Sims, Bedfordshire Golf Club, Bedford, England, who is seen shaking hands, with the runner-up, Gordon MacWilliams, Howness Golf Club, Calgary, one time Alberta champion. Mr. Sims won the final, four up and three to play, and the game was refereed by "Bill" Thompson, genial pro of the Banff course, who is seen standing between the pair. A large gallery followed the play. The Brewster Cup championship was decided at the same time over the Banff Springs course. It was a woman's championship and was taken by Mrs. G. F. Dewolf (right in photograph) of Vernon, B.C., who defeated Miss Jean McMillan, of Calgary, Alta. in a close fight that was only decided on the 18th hole by one up. Lay-out shows the two champions being congratulated by their opponents; and the Prince of Wales Cup with the Banff Springs Hotel in the background.
