

A PRINTER'S UTOPIA
A printer woke one morning.
And found the sun was bright;
His beautiful food, each plate! And
His cup.

And everything was right,
And as he sat in the shop,
He heard the jester start.
Their humoring in the parsonage—
It was music to his heart.

The sheets went through without a blotch.

And life was just a song;
The streets were full of beauty to such,
And not a thing went wrong.
In the room kept and the boudoir,
He found everyone in place.

And each one working with a will,
With a smile on his face.

The morning small some orders
And checks for which well done
The letters there were not
A kick from any one.

Delivery dates had all been kept.

No need, to add!

And not a single one complained.

That "charges" were too high.

All day the plant, from early dawn
Till all night, to fall, early dawn.

Kept working on and working on
And nothing seemed to "stall."

He took himself to bed that night.

Without giving by his little bed,

He prayed this little prayer:

O Lord, I know that some time I
Will have in perish; long, I
Know that some time I shall die.
For people often do.

Today we must speak a job.

Something's all right;

So it's all the same, O Lord,

I'd like to die tonight."

HOW TO SECURE BETTER MILEAGE ON GASOLINE

Care in driving automobile would do a great deal to cut down traffic accidents. But now experts tell us that care need not be limited to drivers. Drivers of traffic also can help if it is directed toward the handling of the motor and the acceleration drivers can have themselves a good deal of fun in the course of a year.

The chief engineer of a Canadian motor company says there are no less than 26,130,000 cars in the United States, with 17 billion gallons of gas a year. If they would follow nine simple rules, he adds, they can save themselves no less than 10 million gallons of gas a year.

Be courteous to strangers that go for improvements. Your part of the cost will only be what is just.

Don't drink beer because it is bad for your eyes or for fear that your taxes may be raised fifteen cents.

Buy your goods, employer, pay your taxes at home.

Prayer Meeting

Rev. H. H. Soper, pastor at St. Paul's United Church, Brampton, in the church board on Saturday. The regeneration is to become effective on June 1st. Rev. N. G. Soper succeeded Rev. N. G. Soper in October to this position. Previous to coming to St. Paul's, he was engaged in missionary work in China.

"You think that a college education leaves a girl better equipped for domestic life?"

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne.

"She would lose her temper, it must be some comfort to her husband for her to express herself grammatically and even classically."

"I hear you've got a new handmaiden as if she were Japan."

She is accepted as an authority on social conditions in China.

CANADIANS AND THEIR INDUSTRIES—AND THE BANK

FRUIT GROWING

APPLE GROWER: "Hello, Peter, how's the grape business?"

GRAPE GROWER: "Pretty fair, Jonathan. How are apples?"

APPLE GROWER: "Likewise. My young trees are growing like weeds and the old ones are in fine condition and bearing well again. And my financial side is good, too. I've paid off my loan for seedlings at the Bank of Montreal and the Bank has agreed to help me market my crop."

GRAPE GROWER: "So you're another customer of that bank. I'm not surprised, though, the way it takes care of us. I don't have to worry about credit. The Bank knows I always keep my agreements with them. You will remember, Jonathan, that I salaried my vineyard last year, and the Bank financed my new posts and wire."

Some of the Bank's services used by fruit growers: Business chequing accounts; savings accounts; trade and credit information, domestic and foreign; closer rates on American and all classes of foreign exchange; special wire facilities for speed transfers; safekeeping of securities; safety deposit boxes; money orders; letters of credit; travellers' cheques; banking by mail.

Holiday at Banff and Lake Louise

The pleasure of a well-planned holiday in the Canadian Rockies will attract thousands of tourists from all over the world. They will distribute themselves between the Banff Springs Hotel overlooking the Bow Valley, and the Chateau Lake Louise on the shore of the lake of the same name, and six bungalow camps of charm and comfort in settings as lovely as they are different from each other.

Year by year the Canadian Rockies are becoming the most popular summer playground of the continent, due to the grandeur of the scenery, and the splendid opportunities for a real mountain holiday with riding, hiking, mountain climbing, swimming, golf, and tennis.

At Banff Springs Hotel, which will be open from June 13 to September 15, golf on a course that ranks with the best in the country is a chief attraction. Not to be overlooked however, is the sport of sailing and boating on the many places, mountain climbing, tennis on a championship court, fishing in tumultuous mountain streams, and taking that sport that is a favorite here, golfing, topped off by a swim in the sulphur or natural water pools and dancing in the large ball rooms.

Chateau Lake Louise, open from June 20 to September 15, is situated on Lake Louise, opposite Victoria Glacier. Enclosed by towering snow-clad peaks, it promises a sheer breath-taking beauty and in addition attractions particularly its own. It is an excellent centre for sorties on horseback or by foot to the scenic wonders of the district.

There will be special events during the summer, including a golf tournament July 6-11; Trillik Hilliard official outing, July 21-August 4; Trillik Hilliard official outing, August 1-15; Indian Days at Banff, July 31-August 15; and a special show for the evening, July 16 to August 15.

JESUS IN GETHSEMANE

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson, June 1, 1936.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Not my will, but thine be done." Luke 22: 42.

LESSON PASSAGE: Luke 22: 39-53.

INTO the woods my Master went.

He said to me, "Sit here while I go into the woods."

He went into the woods.

He went with love and shame.

But the olives they were not ready to be harvested.

The little gray leaves were kind to him.

The thorn tree had a mind to him.

When into the woods he came.

THOUGHTS OF OTHERS, 22, 48

Approaching the greatest decision of his life, Jesus turned to his apostles.

We can hardly overestimate the concern that Jesus had for his disciples.

A short time ago he had written to his Master, "I am not yet fit for the kingdom."

Jesus had been greater in social and economic progress than in Canada.

There were conditions in which the early settlers, their unswerving resolve to conquer the innumerable difficulties surrounding them, had been trained to live.

WALK UP! Walk up! Ladies and gentlemen, The season of the agricultural fair is a perpetual institution. More and more there is to learn, the bigger the fair ought to be. And as a matter of fact, the attendance at fairs are big, but that is exceeded only with lack of time often under great difficulties.

Todays a farmer can go to a fair a substantial distance from his home

and spend a comparatively short time he can afford to be home again.

If he desires to go to another place, he can do so easily.

Fifty years ago that would have been a matter of considerable difficulty, impossible

without a horse, the young farmer drove his bride in the latest decorated buckboard, and just as old as the eligible bachelor may meet his desired date at the agricultural fair,

and many of them from the beginning.

Before the first Canadian census was taken in 1881, the fair of the Mount of Olives.

The shadow of Jesus had been cast

over the hearts of men.

He was going into an olive garden to pray.

It was to be his temptation.

He was to be tested.

He was to be tempted.

He was to be tested.

He was to be tested.
