

WEIGHING MAN IN THE BALANCE

Beneath men have been heard to say what man does to justify his presence upon the earth" and was never critical they are apt to think he has done his best. He interferes with Nature thereby bringing nature's wrathful retribution in the form of floods and droughts down on his unfortunate head as a punishment for the sins of cutting down of the ardent forests, laying the entire land open to the onslaught of sun and storm. However, new evidence and interesting articles written by Jack Minton the Kingsville naturalist, serve to show these critics how far from the truth they really are. Mr. Minton says: "God made the world. He made man and gave him power to manage everything here on earth. Look, for instance, at the animal world, with hundreds in the forest, barnyard, field, and in the Jones' barn and the Holstein. And the herefied? No, He gave man the original stock and then God through man instruments, such as the milking machine for the high cream content of their milk, came to produce the greatest quantity of milk; and has since the best of beef cattle, and has given us a life a long time of known, that after all these years of the finest milk in the world are manufactured in Canada."

IT WOULD HAVE BEEN BETTER

The Penetanguishene Herald decided to cease publication because of poor advertising and subscription support, but the Board of Trade, which had a seat on the council, would be a disadvantage without its home newspaper, and instituted efforts which resulted in the paper being taken over by the owners of the Penetanguishene Post. This will now be printed in Midland, but how much better it would have been to have kept the printing plant and start operating in the town where so many local business men who appreciate the advantages of having a local paper.

Even though I have no personal knowledge of the advantages of having a local paper, I can assure you that it is much better to have a local paper than to have one from a distance.

With the growth of the provincial achievements would outweigh the misfortunes by far—Midwinter Sun.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
Making a Hobby of One Kind of Picture Subject

Many amateur make hobbies of finding subjects with which to typify a single idea, phase of life or activity. Here are pictures from an amateur "Inconuous Desuetude."

WEALTHY art collectors often indulge their fancy by specializing in one kind of picture subject, such as landscapes, marine views, genre sketches or portraits, and assembling the pictures in a separate exhibit.

An amateur photographer you do not have to be wealthy to enjoy a similar hobby. With your camera you, too, can make a specialty of one kind of subject and derive even more pleasure than does the art collector because you have made the pictures yourself.

Choices for a one-subject photographic collection are endless. There are all kinds of appealing individual subjects, types of which may be selected; there are the different activities and phases of life, the various phenomena of nature, and the characteristics of human nature, all of which may be portrayed in interesting pictures. If you will cultivate a discerning eye for them and have your cameras with you when you go places.

We know a clever amateur who chose as his subject WIND AND WIND. He has painted cyclones, blizzards, gales and seafights. He is no mathematician but he has learned to take his camera with him and take the best advantage of the wind waves he finds. His pictures consist of things in movement, under the impetus of wind, or the results thereof—trees bending under the force of a storm, pretty girls with

PRINTERS' INK AND THE FARM

Flying Fish Can Claim
No Title to Real Flight

Canada is the chief producer of caron black in the British Empire and most of the carbon mentioned in statistics as originating in Empire countries is produced in Canada.

The carbon is used for many purposes but principally in the printers' ink trade and the rubber industry. Printers ink link other days.

Now,

many other important articles of commerce, was originally an agricultural product. The links of the very early ages were made from charcoal, wood, bone and gum, also varnish, much after the style of the ordinary black printing ink of today, the principal constituents of which are lampblack, charcoal and pitch.
