IN MEMORIAM

INGHAM—In loving memory of Beale (Peggy) Ingham, who passed away October 3rd, 1935. Somewhere back of the sunset, Where loveless never dies, She dwells in the land of glory, With dreams in her lighted eyes; And beauty lives all around her, And music in the air; She is far from all thought of sadness, Of sorrow and doubt and care.

INGHAM—In loving memory of a dear wife and loving mother, who passed away October 3rd, 1935. The world may change from year to year, And friends may pass away, But never will the love I loved, Be forgotten in my heart.

INGHAM—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Private John Ingham, who was killed in action October 1st, 1918.

Heigh Ho! Come to the Fair!

Yes, folks, it's Fair Time again... because the pumpkin is yellow on the vine and the leaves are turning to their crimson robes! These are almost sure signs of Fall Fair time.

Georgetown Fair, under the auspices of the Esquimaux Agricultural Society, celebrates its thirtieth year of continuous shows on October 2nd and 3rd next Friday and Saturday. For many years Georgetown Fair has been more or less known to the county. A place where old friends meet and share the happy hours of by-gone days. This year's Fair promises to be in every respect, and is a record, to equal or to beat our yearly show of the past.

An excellent prize list has been laid out, with an unusually large special list, and entries are being sent in to the secretary in ever increasing numbers. There are many talented artists at this year's show in painting, potteries, on bookwork for ladies and gentlemen, sweet-baking contests, bidden contests, baby shows and a number of other interesting and enjoyable fun.

Georgetown Fair has always been noted for its trials of speed and strength, and some good races are looked forward to this year, as the prize list is very enticing for promoters.

The livestock exhibits are expected in "top" all previous shows, and the large fall exhibits of vegetables, fruit, cooking, fancy work and art, have always drawn their share of the gathering.

The Lorne Rifles (Scottish) Band, Band 15th winners at the C.M.E., will be in attendance during the entire afternoon, and will render an outstanding musical program.

President James Fisher, Secretary Wm. A. Wilson, and other members and directors of the Fair have left nothing undone to make this year's show a unique event in the history of the Society. We invite all, young and old, to come and enjoy an afternoon of fine entertainment.

District Deputy Grand Master Joe Hall was chairman of the evening and after the banquet announced the toast list as follows:—

—Ladies responded to with the National Anthem.
—"Grand Lodge," proposed by Wm. Knighton of Brampton, Ontario, and responded to by Bro. Brownlee of Toronto, Grand Conductor.

—"Our Visitors," proposed by W. J. Lucas, Noble Grand, Orion Lodge, and responded to by Bro. Murray McDonald, past D.D.G.M. of Orion Lodge.

Following the toast list Grand Master Knighton gave a very able and instructive address on the aims and achievements of the order which was much appreciated by the large gathering.

Entertainment was provided during the evening by Johnny Amerson, and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought the happy gathering to a close.

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston
Ottawa, Sept. 29—Canadian farmers in various parts of the country appear to have secured larger markets for their produce as a result of the trade agreement signed a year ago. The new tariff rates have been operating since January 1st, and the figures for eight months are quite encouraging. It is always difficult to assign to any one particular cause any such real success, because modern life and commerce have become extremely complex. But there seems to be a real relationship between the lower tariff rates given Canada and the enlarged shipments of goods to the Dominion.

Shipments of cheese, for instance, rose from a value of $45,314 in the first six months of 1935 to $1,109,741 in 1936. Shipments of poultry rose from 77,564 lbs to 172,478 lbs. Great shipments rose from seven and a half million lbs. to 10,964,000 lbs. 4,344 head to 14,495 head; poultry, from a value of $5,265 to $20,347; cattle, from 87,444 head to 18,807 head; potatoes, from 32,153 bushels to 61,820 bushels; turnips, from 852,129 bushels to 1,208,024 bushels; strawberries, from 350,373 lbs. to 678,002 lbs.; maple sugar, from 1,539,790 lbs. to 4,726,975 lbs.

In spite of duty reductions, exports of hay, of alfalfa and grass seed showed a decrease, but with those exceptions, all farm items on the trade agreement showed an improvement. It is quite likely that some of them would have gone down had it not been for the trade agreement. Whether the present ones can be improved upon is a question not easily answered. Canada has been enjoying the better part of the bargain, judging from trade figures, with both countries and Mr. Fisher says that it is necessary to offer some substantial concessions to Australia and New Zealand in order to retain the present volume of trade.

These agreements were signed in 1935 and 1932, preceding the Ottawa conference. Australia and New Zealand, both countries was at a relatively low ebb; it has grown quite remarkably since then. With Australia our trade is at the highest it ever was; with New Zealand it is quite good. The present government does not intend to let the trade agreement slip. They are trying to make it work. Only about 500 applications for loans have so far been approved, providing homes and apartments for perhaps 700 persons. "That doesn't touch the fringe of the housing problem in Canada. The Housing Act only assists that small class of persons with a fairly good income, some capital or land already available, and held up only by the high cost of second mortgage money. The people who need housing the most get no help at all from the measure.

It is possible that the latest amendments to the Act will bring it within the scope of a few people in more modest circumstances. There is $10,000,000 of Federal money waiting for loan approval, enough to launch a 50 million dollar project. So far only eight or nine per cent of it has been put to work, after 15 or 16 months of operation.

More ambitious housing schemes are being developed by the architects of the National Employment Commission, and we shall have, in the near future, legislation to launch subsidised building of thousands of homes in western areas of the country, it is indicated.

This coming session is bound to see a revival of the 1913 cry for imperial and Canadian defence—war hasn't broken out before then. There are growing indications that a body of opinion in Canada believes that we need to strengthen our coasts, and improve our air defence. Even the House of Commons, which has been beginning to say that the League, on which we based our hope of the prevention of war in this generation, has definitely failed, and that we must find our own defence, and elsewhere now. We shall hear a good deal about the Monroe doctrine, the need of a highly armed British fleet, and so on.
