THIS AND THAT IN SPORT

By G. Mac McGilvray

The melancholy days have come. The days sport writers dread. For hockey's had its winter fling, and everything else is dead. It's chilly yet for baseball talk. For this is sports "off season." And if the column's dull today, Youse guys will know the reason!

Annual meeting of Halton baseball club, some about all there is to talk about this week.

Action had their election of officers last week and almost a new executive heads the 1937 season in the Tauxey town. J. H. Litchman was elected president, while the other officers are as follows: vice-president, E. Dron; secretary-treasurer, E. Dron; committee—Masters, W. G. A. Storey, manager, N. Farrell.

The baseball boys have started their spring training in the park, but not many have been turning out to face the spring sun and get the kinks out early.

We haven't heard of any softball being organized in town as yet this year, but we think it would be a good idea to get the midgets into some form of softball organization and play the games under floodlight. The already growing of softball in many towns. The question is, "would night softball pay in Georgetown?"

The use of floodlights for lighting athletic fields helped to usher in the lighted sports park. With the quick rise of softball a general demand for lighting layout that would be suitable for small communities. The lighting engineers of the Hydro would work out standard equipment of varying cost and intensity of illumination. These lighting plans are to be laid for the asking.

The multiple-angle reflectors are today shedding their light on a host of playing fields. Reports show that the cost of lighting a field averages 100 nights of use each season. They have become a gathering place for the folks in town and those in the country round about, furnishing a new tie in community interests.

Gordon Alcott has in mind a very interesting program for next winter for the boys who this year are graduating from the midget age. "I would like to make known my plans," he answers to queries.

MARoons AND BRUINS FETTER

The Maroons and Bruins of the Midget N.H.L. showed wonderful form in their final game on Monday night, the 11th of the season last Friday evening at Hunter's Inn. Both teams and their managers entered the scene of battle full of confidence, and emerged after an overtime session, full but not confident. In fact some of the gladiators were understandably after toward set-to.

Play opened slowly with each indicating cautiously feeling out his appetite. The second course saw the boys warming to their task, and they were in full flight during the third and overtime periods.

During the rest periods the boys sang lustily, but not so well, and the crowd sang enthusiastically in appreciation of the work of the Maroons and looked forward to a good season. "Early training in the gym on the books for the fall," he says.

NORVAL RIFLE CLUB

The Norval Rifle Club visited the Toronto range on Monday night, and were successful in winning from the Norval team by a margin of eight points out a maximum total of 1900. The Irish team scored 1866 and Norval 1354.

"The Weekly Gold Button Contest which was shot concurrent with the above match, resulted in a four cornered tie. In the shoot off Mr. R. W. Hall 90, G. H. Hill 90, H. Nurse 88, W. Robinson 84, W. G. Brown 87, W. Wilson 87, R. E. E. Walker 86, Dr. Stevenson 86, E. McKinlay 85, P. Huster 85, P. Johnson 87, W. Lisk 84.

Our member, Mr. H. Nurse, visited Toronto on Friday last and competed in the W. G. Memorial Challenge Cup, making a possible score of 150 points. Mr. E. Fairbairn of the North Toronto Club also made the possible but lost the cup by placing one more shot in the centre than Mr. Nurse.

The bride was attended in her going away suit of grey tulle with wine accessories and wore a dress of printed chiffon with navy blue accessories and a corsage of yellow Tulipman roses and forget me notes. The best man was Mr. Jack Lawrence of London, Ont. After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home where her mother presided, seating a group of black crepe and corsage of roses.
