Hornby Church of England Celebrates It's Centenary June 20th

Built of timbers and boards cut from virgin pine of Trafalgar Township, St. Stephen's Church of England, Hornby, celebrating its centenary on June 20, has stood sing a lone knoll on the Hornby-Milton road and weathered the storms of a hundred years.

On land given by John Cowan, who was one of the first lay delegates of the congregation, the church was built, as nearly as can be ascertained, in 1837, to house a congregation that had been gathered before 1834 by Rev. Mr. Boulton, a young curate of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto.

The earliest reference to the presence of an Anglican congregation at Hornby was made by Rev. Adam Elliott, in notes dated 1834, when he said that he had been asked to visit the Trafalgar congregation, when returning from Esquesing. He referred to the death, at an early age, of Rev. Mr. Boulton, who, besides his duties as curate in Toronto, had been a teacher of the Upper Canada College, and had ministered to congregations as widely separated as Hornby, Scarboro and York Mills.

Arthur Brain, a member of the congregation, recalls the words of his grandmother, Susan Cowan, daughter of the donor of the church site, that she had sat on a log and watched the building of the church. Family records of her descendants indicate that the church was built in 1837, but the first register of the church disappeared years ago.

Rev. George Graham, Streetsville, was the first rector definitely assigned to minister to the congregation, and on May 13, 1838, he recorded the baptism of John, son of John and Eliza Branning.

The first wedding was not solemnized until the following year, when Andrew Robinson and Letitia Bowes were married by Rev. Graham. The country, at that time, was still undeveloped, as instanced by the fact that neither bride nor groom was able to sign the register with more than a cross.

Another interesting entry was the baptism of twins. The babies were carried 14 miles by their father and mother, Richard and Ann Shortill of Ballinafad, to the church at Hornby. Pioneer families were large ones, and some of the entries show 17 and 18 children of one family baptised at the church. In one case, nine children of one afmily were baptised on the same day.

A chancel and vestry were added to the church in 1868, and in 1880 the church was redecorated and the present pews installed. When first the church was built, there was no other accommodation for worshippers than pine boards laid across pine blocks, and there was no organ to lead the singing. The choirmaster, perforce, followed the example of early Presbyterian precentors, and used a tuning fork to sound the note.

From 1841 to 1843 Rev. G. W. Warr of Oakville had charge of the parish, but relinquished his ministry because the distance between Hornby and Oakville was too great. Rev. Richard McGeorge of Streetsville assumed the responsibility, and, during his term of office, founded the congregation of St. Paul's at Norval, which, with St. John's Church at Stewartlown, forms the circuit of the present rector, Rev. W. G. Book. The church was at first in the diocese of Toronto, but was joined in that of Niagara, when the later diocese was organized.

Rectors who have served the church during the past century, with the year in which they took office, were the following: Rev. G. Grahame, 1836; Rev. R. J. McGeorge, '41; Rev. Donald Fraser, '48; Rev. T. W. Marsh, '53; Rev. F. Tremaine, '55; Rev. W. J. Mackenzie, '75; Rev. P. J. Mignot, '85; Rev. R. McNamara, '96; Rev. Wilson McCann, '98; Rev. R. F. Nie, 1901; Rev. S. C. Nixon, '03; Rev. A. G. Smith, '13; Rev. J. Rogers, '18; Rev. F. O. Twiss, '30; Rev. W. A. Kyle, '32; Rev. R. S. Boyd, '36; Rev. P. C. Jackson, '35, and Rev. W. G. Brook, '37.

ICED TEA

Iced Tea is a deliciously different cool drink and it is very easily made. Use 6 heaping teaspoons of "Salada" Black Tea. Infuse Tea in one pint of freshly boiled water for six minutes. Strain, and pour liquid into a two-quart container. While hot, add:

1½ cups of granulated sugar, and juice of two lemons.

Then shake or stir contents well, until sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Fill container with cold water. Do not allow Tea to cool before adding the cold water; otherwise, liquid will become cloudy.

This is now ready to serve in tall glasses with chipped ice or cubes. A slice of lemon may be added if desired. The above will make two quarts of iced tea, or 7 tall glasses.

Moved by Hall, seconded by Parr, that the 1937 assessment roll as revised by this Court of Revision, and initialed by the Clerk, be confirmed and adopted.—Carried.

The Court complimented Assessor W. G. Marshall on the completion of an assessment roll, on which there were so few appeals.

Moved by Cripps, seconded by Hall, that this Court of Revision do now adjourn.—Carried.

JURY UNABLE TO FIX RESPONSIBILITY

An inquest to inquire into the death of William John Piller, who was killed in an auto accident on Sunday, May 23rd, was held in the town hall, Georgetown, under the direction of Coroner Stead of Oakville, on Friday last. Crown Attorney W. I. Dick, K.C. appeared for the Crown.

After hearing the evidence, the jury brought in a verdict of accidental death, with a rider recommending that stop signs be erected at the intersection of the Seventh Line and No. 5 Sideroad, where the accident occurred.

A charge of criminal negligence against Edward Wedge, the driver of the other car in the accident, will be heard before Magistrate Ball at Georgetown on Thursday.

500 Veterans Attend Zone 13 Drumhead Service

WREATH DEPOSITED AT CENOTAPH—SPLENDID ADDRESS BY REV. (CAPT.) S. E. LAMBERT

The annual church parade of Zone 13 Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. was held in Georgetown on Sunday last to Rosevnor Park, where the service took place.

The parade, under the direction of Lt.-Col. G. O. Brown, V.D., formed on the High School grounds, and was composed of over five hundred veterans from New Toronto, Mimico, Long Branch, Port Credit, Oakville, Burlington, Brampton, Streetsville, Acton, Milton, Orangeville and members of the local post.

There were three bands in the parade placed as follows: Georgetown Pipe Band, Burlington Citizens' Band, and the Lorne Scots Band of Georgetown with the Veterans between the bands. Veteran Donald Latimer headed the parade with a large Union Jack. There were many Union Jacks in the parade, also several Legion banners and Naval Ensigns. It was one of the finest parades of Veterans yet held in town.

At the Cenotaph the Pipe Band played "The Death of the Chief." Rev. W. G. O. Thompson, Chaplain of Post 130 led in prayer. A wreath was placed by Capt. J. M. McDonald. The Last Post was sounded by Bugler Gilliver, then two minutes silence in memory of the dead was followed by Reveille.

The service concluded at the Cenotaph the parade continued to the Park where the Drumhead service was held.

The Lorne Scots Band supplied the music during the service. Rev. W. G. O. Thompson led in prayer and also the responsive reading of Psalm 121.

The address of the afternoon was given by Rev. (Captain) S. E. Lambert, Chaplain of Christie Street Hospital, Toronto. In the course of his splendid address Captain Lambert paid tribute to the many who had died for the cause of freedom and were still dying in the military hospitals, and while their sacrifice looked at times as though it were in vain, they had the deep consciousness of having served their country in time of need. Men are still carrying on in Christie Street and other hospitals who have never been able since the war to attend a service like this. They need a lot of courage and we should never forget these, but make it easy as possible for them to live and easy to die. We are proud to be living under the Union Jack and in this coronation year the National Anthems has been sung more times than ever before. There are two many living in this country who should be living under their own flag. They are taking the places of our own men and this should not be. The Legion stands for peace and may God give us grace as we apply ourselves to the cause of peace and righteousness."

The Oath of Allegiance to King George VI was administered by Rev. (Captain) Lambert, after which the benediction was pronounced by Rev. W. G. O. Thompson, and the bands played "God Save the King."

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

The Daughters of the Church entertained their mothers last Friday evening, in the basement of St. George's Church, to what proved a most delightful banquet. The Honourary President, Mrs. W. G. O. Thompson, at the request of the President, Mrs. F. D. McNally, occupied the chair and offered the greetings of the Daughters, and a very warm welcome, to the mothers and the other guests. The King's health was proposed by Miss Vesuvie Adams, and the National Anthem sung.

A vocal solo followed, by Miss Helen McGowan, accompanied by Mrs. Gowdie. The toast to "Our Mothers," was proposed by Miss Lillian Russell and responded to by Mrs. Hall. Miss Helen McGowan then sang again. The toast to "The Church and our sister organizations" was proposed by Miss Bessie Walker and responded to by Mrs. Grant, after the singing of "The Church's One Foundation."

The Rector then introduced the speaker of the evening, the Reverend G. N. Luxton, Rector of St. George's Church, St. Catharines, remarking that the name "Luxton" was not strange to Georgetown, as Mr. Arthur Luxton, the father of our guest, was at one time bank accountant here. Mr. Luxton then proceeded to address the people of St. George's, expressing his pleasure in being present. He then spoke of the fear that many expressed for the young people of today, but found, in his own experience, that youth is keen and dependable, and faithful to the church, but that "the modern parent" is the greatest problem, since parents today are not setting their sons and daughters the example they have a right to expect. He then suggested a method for church people to use in their prayers, giving five points, which might be represented by the fingers. The thumb, strong and lifting, represents adoration; the second, or index finger, the finger of skill, represents patience; the third, the largest finger, represents thanksgiving; the fourth, or wedding-ring finger, believed to have a vein running directly to the heart, represents intercession or prayer for others; the fifth, or smallest finger of all, represents our prayers for ourselves.

The Rector expressed the thanks of the Daughters, their guests and himself, to Mr. Luxton, and the delightful evening was brought to a close with the benediction.

HALTON JUNIORS TO HOLD ANNUAL ACHIEVEMENT DAYS

The annual Junior Farmers' Live Stock Judging Competition and Girls' Achievement Day are to be held in Milton and district on Saturday, June 12th. Well over 100 young people are expected to compete. The young ladies' competition is open to those who have been carrying on special projects under the leadership of Miss Betty Wallace of the Institute Branch, Toronto. Some 60 young ladies in various groups throughout the county are expected to complete one or more projects and these qualify for the achievement day. At this time teams to represent Halton at the C.N.E. will be selected and the two high contestants will be awarded the W. I. Championship Trips to Ottawa. At the same time a somewhat similar number of young men will visit leading stock farms in Halton, where ten classes of livestock will be judged. One of the most interesting features of this latter competition will be the competition between teams of junior boys coached by some of the senior junior farmers. The coach of the winning team will receive a 6 or 7 day trip to Ottawa and a similar prize will be awarded to the high contestant. The announcement of the prize winners, and presentation of trophies will be made on the same evening.

CARD OF THANKS

We hereby convey to friends and neighbors our very sincere thanks for the many kindnesses and sympathy extended to us, also floral tributes on the occasion of our sad bereavement by the death of our beloved husband and father, the late John Conrcer Cook.—Wife and Family.

Cheltenham Baptist Church Passes Century Mark on June 6th

Wolves howled in the forest while children trod woodland paths to Sabbath school in Cheltenham a century ago. On June 6 the Baptist church will celebrate the centenary of the school, which was first, held in the home of Charles Haines, Sr., who, with his son, Charles, dropped the way through the bush to land the father had taken up under a Crown deed.

Three generations of his family, including himself, have held the post of superintendent of this Sunday school, and, in all, five members of the family have filled the post. Charles Haines, Sr., was succeeded by his son, Charles, and the present superintendent of the school, A. T. Haines, is a grandson of the first settler. Charles Haines, Jr., was superintendent for 37 years, and A. T. Haines has occupied the position for the past 35 years.

The history of the founder of the school throws light on the struggles of the pioneers who made Peel county. Charles Haines sailed from England to New York, where he spent the first winter of his life in the New World. Later moved to Toronto in 1817. His first child was born in the courthouse of "Little York." Sailing in the same ship form England had been a judge who was to sit on a case between the government and the Hudson's Bay Company." The judge prophesied Haines that, if he would come to York the judge would provide living quarters and funds, so that he, too, might have a comfortable home.

This agreement was followed and a son, Ebenezer, father of A. T. Haines, was born in the halls of justice, so to speak. A. T. Haines remembers his grandfather's description of the town at that time. There was a log jail, and across from the jail a grassy field, surrounded by a picket fence, in which "breachy" cattle were impounded. The courthouse in which Ebenezer Haines was born, according to the pioneer's description, was situated where the Arcade now stands on Yonge street.

Charles Haines split rails for a day, and then decided that there was no future in the rail business and resigned. By trade he was a millwright, and when he saw a newly surveyed map of Peel county, he decided that a winding valley on the northwestern reaches of the Credit River offered better promise of a comfortable living than did prospects in the town of York.

In 1820 he and his son, Charles, Jr., plodded through the bush trails, following the blaze marks of surveyors until, after wandering disconsolately about a wild, inhospitable countryside, they found lot 28. Their hopes fell when they saw the land they had chosen, for, according to the words of the older man, "it seemed only fit for the habitation of bears and wolves, of which there were plenty about."

Rather than give up the land he had taken from the Crown, Charles Haines returned to York, and found employment for the winter, and in the spring of the following year returned and brought a yoke of oxen.

There were few settlers in the district at that time, and the nearest grist mill was at Weston, 30 miles away. Farmers who wanted their grain ground had to carry it on their shoulders to and from the mill. Only by communal enterprise were the pioneers able to retain their hold on the land they had cleared, difficulties piling up that only the community as a whole could cope with.

Haines, remembering the trade he had followed in England, built a grist mill on the Credit in 1847, and although the mill was a small affair compared to that which is situated in the same location today, it was constructed with great difficulty because of the lack of transportation for bringing the necessary machinery to the village.

Ten years after he had brought his family to Cheltenham, Charles Haines was baptised in the Credit River, not far from his home, by the Rev. A. Stewart of Toronto. Four years later, in 1838, a two weeks' "protracted meeting" was held in the schoolhouse at Boston, a tiny hamlet further up the river, and his wife and other pioneers of the district were baptized. Rev. Mr. Millard of Etobicoke made monthly calls to the district, and services were held in the houses of the worshippers.

The genesis of the Sabbath school, however, came before the visits of Rev. Mr. Millard, and, so far as can be ascertained, services were held for the children of the district in the home of Charles Haines, Sr., in 1833. A church was not formally organized until 1844, although for some years prior to that time there had been regular meetings of members of the congregation at the homes of the members.

Rev. James Campbell was the first minister to make his home in the district, and Sabbath school and church services were held in the village school, on the site of the present C.N.R. station. At this school a meeting was held for the formal organization of the school, and Joseph Mountain was chosen children's superintendent. Teachers were chosen, and a collection taken from these, amounting to 15 shillings seven pence half-penny, which was used for the purchase of books.

In 1846 there was an attendance of 80 at the opening service. Meetings had to be discontinued during the winter, however, because of the impassable condition of the few roads leading to the village.

A library was formed, a pioneer secretary noting that, "it is our belief that an intelligence of intellectual, religious and moral nature may be furthered by the establishing of a library." If officers of this library were absent from meetings of their board, without good excuse, they were fined tirpence each, and, if they were absent for three meetings without tendering sufficient explanation, they were expelled from the board. Readers were allowed two weeks in which to perust books, which were chiefly of an informative character, including a number of good scientific works.

The first church to house the congregation was built in 1848, during the pastorate of Rev. Hugh Reid, who was not ordained until 1853. The present building was erected in 1892, in the ministry of Rev. James Hamilton. Rev. W. S. Watson is the pastor incumbent, and Prof. George Gilmour of McMaster University the special speaker at the centenary.

DR. HERBERT E. MAW DIES SUDDENLY AT CALEDONIA

Dr. Herbert E. Maw, prominent Caledonia resident, dropped dead last Wednesday while on his way to his farm in Onondaga Township.

The car in which he and Mrs. Maw were riding skidded from the road, but did not upset. The doctor alighted to make towing arrangements with Earl Bundy of Middleport, a neighbor, who was passing at the time. As he was talking to Bundy he suddenly collapsed and died.

Dr. Maw was born in Georgetown sixty-seven years ago. He was a graduate of Trinity College, Toronto. One brother and one sister survive: Joseph Maw of Madison, Wisconsin, and Mrs. Nellie McDonald of Georgetown.
