Regarding Scarlet Fever

The following information from Dr. C. V. Williams, M.H.O., just before going to press, may help quiet some of the wild rumors we hear regarding scarlet fever in town. Up to date 11 cases have been reported, 4 of which were reported in December; six houses are p'acarded; no new cases have been reported for a week, and all patients are doing nicely.

Streetsville Choir at Knox Church

The choir of St. Andrew's church, Streetsville exchanged with the choir of Knox church, Georgetown, last Sunday evening. Some 35 members of Streetsville Choir under the leadership of Mrs. Greig supplied the musical service here. An anthem by the choir and solos by Miss Couse and Mrs. Greig were much appreciated by the congregation. Following the service the wives of the members of Session served tea to the visitors. Rev. Dr. Howard's subject for the evening was "How to re-vitalise one's life in these days."

Look Out for Her

Local merchants are warned to be on the lookout for a neatly dressed woman selling home-made candy. Last Thursday a woman visited a local store, and addressed the proprietor as Mr. So-and-so, and stated that as she was a customer occasionally at the store, and her husband was out of work she was trying to make some money by selling home-made candy. She showed the business man a nice box of fudge, and said she sold it in 40 and 50-cent boxes. The local business man decided to purchase a box, and the lady went to her car and returned with a neatly tied box. Later when he opened it he found it contained less than half a pound of cheap taffy. The lady drove a very good car. The matter was reported to the police, but no trace of the woman was found.—Burlington Gazette.

DECISIONS RESPECTING NEWSPAPERS

Court decisions respecting newspaper suscriptions are very clear. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether in his name or another's or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for payment. If a person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken or not. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals form the post office or removing and leaving them unpaid, is prima facie evidence of intention of fraud.

A GROWING MENACE

More and more these times are becoming "give me" times. Men have acquired the idea that the country unquestionably owes them a living and because of this attitude, a growing number of our population are fast losing their initiative to make their own way, and are content to allow the municipality to provide for them and their dependants. If this attitude continues and grows our national fibre will be weakened and Canada's reputation as a strong virile race will be lost. This danger is real. The "give me" addicts, those people who claim that society owes them a living, are increasing. In these days many of our people rush to the authorities on the smallest excuse and cry "give me." Sport is tainted in the same manner. Our young people want their games organized, equipment supplied before they consider taking part. That old spirit of playing the game for the game's sake is going. Now, it's "give me." Under distressing circumstances of unemployment, etc., society endeavors to fill its obligation to the unfortunate, but at the present rate of going the "unfortunate" will soon make up a part of our population too large to be cared for. Less of the "give me" class is essential if our country is to remain strong and progressive.—Southampton Beacon.

GERALD LARKIN SAYS SENSOVE TRADE MANNERS AT SALADA ANNUAL MEETING

Newspaper Advertising Still Backbone of Salada Publicity

Mr. Gerald H. Larkin, President of Salada Tea Company, in addressing the annual meeting of the staff said: "Meetings such as this at the end of a good year are always a source of pleasure to everyone of us. When general conditions are bad, and when even our own business has, in a measure, reflected these conditions we sometimes find the effort to bear ourselves cheerfully more than a little difficult. Any such feeling must be fought against and defeated by everyone of us, if we are going to make the following a success. By cheerfulness I do not mean any foolish measure of optimism, although under present conditions I need hardly warn any of you against that, but I do mean a reasonable faith in the future based on the past history of this country, and of the world.

There is undoubtedly a measure of defeatist propaganda being carried on. I have heard it said, and within the last month or two, that every country in the world, including Canada and the United States, is headed for revolution; that things are getting steadily worse every day. This talk comes, not as one might suppose, from extreme socialists or communists, but rather from people who are still in moderately comfortable circumstances but who, not having enough to do, allow themselves to absorb all the depressing features of present day conditions and so reach a point where their judgment is entirely warped. We are all meeting people like this and must do our part to combat their ideas.

As I see it, what the world needs is greater mutual understanding between its component parts; greater appreciation of each others difficulties; less nationalism and more internationalism. It was exactly those features which won the war. There was real and sincere co-operation between the Allied and Associated Powers. Unfortunately, immediately after the war, bad statesmanship concluded a disastrous peace; a peace that bred distrust, not only between the victors and the defeated, but also among the victorious nations themselves. Extreme nationalism supplanted what at least has been a form of partial internationalism, and all countries succumbed to it. Tariff walls were—and still are being built higher and higher until international trade has to all intents and purposes ceased to exist. What this country needs, what the United States needs, what the world needs is a breaking down of the greater part of these barriers if we are to return to our normal standard of living. You are probably already convinced of this; if so, work for it. It is sure to come, but the quicker it can be brought about the more quickly the pessimists will be discredited, and the more quickly reasonable optimism will be justified.

Your influence is great; you are in constant touch with the grocer, who, in turn, is in touch with every individual in his community; you are also meeting other salesmen who reach other trades. Do your share and gradually the truth will spread. Politicians can only act if they feel they have the majority of the public behind them, and, it is vital to the welfare of the world, to the welfare of Canada and to the welfare of this Company that they should in 1933 act liberally, abandon narrow nationalism and be brought to see that only a wider internationalism can rescue us from the pit we have digged for ourselves."

Mr. Macdougall, Advertising Manager, mentioned that newspapers, which form the backbone of their advertising, will be used just as extensively as ever by SALADA.

RUNS UPSTAIRS AT 92

Daughter's Pride in Active Father

"I feel in duty bound," writes Mrs. A. J. W., "to express my gratitude for the marvellous results my father has obtained from Kruschen Salts. They should really be called 'Miracles.' He is ninety-two years old, and is as fit as a fiddle. He can nip about, and run up and down stairs. His friends marvel why it is he is always alert, and never feels slack. He always tells them the reason, my regular daily dose of Kruschen Salts every morning.' We always recommend Kruschen Salts to all our friends. To my idea no family should be without it." —(Mrs.) A. J. W.

Most people grow old long before their time because they neglect one vital need of health—the need for internal cleanliness. Eventually they start the healthy Kruschen habit. Then they start getting rid every day of all waste matter from the system. New, healthy blood goes coursing through the veins. And almost immediately they feel their youth has returned; they feel young, energetic and happy. In a word, they've got that famous 'Kruschen Feeling.'

DESTROY YOUR OLD LICENSE PLATES

Motorists who have purchased or are about to buy their 1933 auto licenses are asked by the police to either destroy the 1932 markers or keep them under lock and key.

The 1932 plates will doubtless be in common use for some weeks and are frequently picked up by auto thieves for use on stolen autos. Police officials point out that many motorists leave their old license plates lying about unlocked garages, a condition which makes the job of checking stolen autos more difficult.

Intermediates Tie at Oakville But are Outscored by Milton

JUNIORS PLAY TIE GAME WITH MARLBORO MIDGETS; OAKVILLE PLAY INTERMEDIATES HERE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Georgetown went down to Oakville last Friday night and played a no-score game with the local boys in thirty minutes of overtime. Either team might have won this game as the ice was covered with slush from start to finish and play was ragged and rough.

Oakville play their return game here on Friday night and if the weather is favorable promises to be the best game of the season and a victory would about clinch a top position for either team. Let's pack the Arena and give the boys all the support we can.

Most all good things have to come to an end sometime or another and undoubtedly that is the only consoling thought left for the Georgetown Intermediate team as they look over the wreckage of their winning streak which came to a sudden stop on Monday night when they journeyed to Milton and were taken by a 4 to 1 score. Up until Monday night the team had won three out of four games played and tied the other one, but they don't expect to win them all. But when the play-off time comes the boys will be there.

The soft condition of the ice did not let the Meads speedy forwards get away and instead of playing in the co-operative basis the boys seemed to be very selfish with the puck and tried to beat the whole Milton team on solo rushes. Milton on the other hand played a smart combination game from the minute they stepped on the ice and on the night's play and score were equal to the win.

Hockey was fairly fast and of the rugged type with plenty of hard checking and slashing, with lots of excitement. Penalties were handed out often for accidental trips and heavy body-checking. On top of all that there was much wrangling with the referee over the Milton team changing players while play was still going on, and having too many players on the ice when one should have been in the cooler.

The parade started in the first period when Milton opened the scoring on a solo rush. Hewitt in an attempt to even it up barged through and missed the open net. Ward then drew a penalty when he became too friendly with one of his opponents (for no reason at all). Milton then bagged a second goal off a face-off in front of the net, when a man was left uncovered. Play became rough for the balance of the period and Milton drew a penalty and Ward and Thompson each shared one.

The second stanza was uneventful, although the losers showed their best form in this period. Milton carried an attack down centre ice and passed to left wing. The latter who packs a hard shot went in close and poked the rubber past Richardson in the Georgetown net, who was drawn out of position. This put the game on ice for them, as they now had three goals. J. Bradley, McCutcheon and a Milton player each spent a time on the side line for rough tactics.

Georgetown's gdal came in the last frame when Hewitt went in close and sneaked a pass to Tost who drew out the goalie and beat him easily. Georgetown were playing five men to 4 when this count came. It was in this period that Tuller and Tost met head-on, and Tuller had to be carried off for repairs, but later returned to finish the game after some delay. Thompson and D. Bradley for Georgetown and two Milton men drew penalties. The remainder of the period was not fast hockey. Milton played a defensive game, guarding their two goal lead and Georgetown did not seem to have the punch left to blast their four-man attacks through. The game ended Milton 2, Georgetown 1.

It would not be fair to pick stars in this game for all the boys worked hard and if the ice had of been good the large crowd that accompanied the boys, would have been treated to some real hockey. Although we might mention here that the fans wonder why Andy Mitchie was kept out of this game. Andy has been playing fine hockey this year and deserves a place on the team.

Georgetown: Goal, Richardson; defense, D. Bradley and Thompson; centre, J. Bradley; wings, Ward and McCutcheon; subs, Tost, Hewitt, Brown and Burke.

Referee—H. Teasdale, Brampton.

MARALBORO MIDGETS VS. GEORGETOWN JUNIORS

Speed! Speed!

That is the only word with which to describe that Maralboro-Junior game last Friday night at the Arena here. Good ice and speedy skating with clever stick-handling and marvelous back-checking were outstanding in this game.

Working smoothly and well to make most of the game as a conditioner and to try out various players and plays, Maralboro Midgets of Toronto and the local Junior team played a tie game in an exhibition fixture. The score was 4 all after ten minutes of overtime play.

Georgetown utilized the major part of the time to their own advantage working three-man lines to good advantage. The Midgets broke fast in a few seconds of play and beat Alcott on a long shot from the blue line. The second Georgetown line came on and applied the pressure and Gowland got one goal and Chaplin two goals to their credit. Both teams drew a penalty.

The locals checked ruggedly but were baffled by the smart combination work of the Midgets, who might have won had they pressed their advantage. The Conacher Brothers starred for the visitors while Hall, Newhurst and Chaplin turned in an excellent game for the locals. In the second and third frames Maralboros secured two goals to even up the count and put the game into overtime. In these two periods The Midgets drew three penalties and the locals two. In the overtime session both teams were awarded a goal. Maralboro scoring first, then Gowland for Georgetown. This stiff tied up the score but the game was ended here after 10 minutes of play.

Through the entire game excellent hockey was displayed and we know the Juniors will give a good account of themselves at Milton to-night in their first game of the season in the league.

RESTORATION FUND COMMITTEE CHURCH OF ENGLAND IN CANADA

Continuance of Anglican missionary work in the six dioceses of the ecclesiastical province of Rupert's Land, jeopardised by the loss of episcopal endowments and other funds, is assured for the next three years through the generosity of friends of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada (including the Woman's Auxiliary) and the liberal contributions of bishops and clergy throughout the Dominion.

Within a few weeks after the establishment of the Episcopal and Clerical Special Maintenance Fund to provide the interest on the lost endowments, the amount of approximately $60,000, estimated to be necessary to carry on the work for the next three years, has been almost pledged.

In the meantime the appeal of the Restoration Fund Committee for the replacement in full of the endowments, totalling some $760,000 by the laity of the church, will be made in April.

The dioceses of Rupert's Land, Moosonee, Mackenzie, Athabasca, Mackenzie River and Yukon benefit through the Episcopal and Clerical Special Maintenance Fund.

Agents of the M.S.C.C. are contributing seven per cent. of their salaries to the fund while the contributions of the bishops and clergy are voluntary.

Work of the church among the Indians and Eskimos in the dioceses of Moosonee, Mackenzie, Athabasca, MacKenzie River and the Yukon has started one of the brightest pages in the history of the church in the Dominion. The progress of the work has been linked with such heroic names as Chief Pelly, Archdeacon Cochran, "The Apostle of the Mad River," Bishop George Mountain, hero of a missionary journey by canoe of more than 3,500 miles from Montreal to the Mad River, Bishop Anderson, the first chief pastor of Rupert's Land, Bishop Harden of Moosonee, Robert Macdonald, first Anglican missionary to reach the Yukon, Henry Budd, the Indian clergyman, Archbishop Machray, the master builder of the middle west, Bishop McLean of Saskatchewan, Bishop Hompas, "The Apostle of the North," and Dr. Edmond J. Peck.

From the coming of John West, Chaplain of the Hudson's Bay Company and missionary of the Church Missionary Society, to the Red River Colony until 1930 when the society transferred its work to the Anglican Church in Canada, the great English organization supplied 172 missionaries and 48 women workers and expended more than $4,500,000 on its activities in the Canadian West.

News of the staggering blow to the church's work has been received with the deepest regret by missionary leaders of the church in the Motherland. But the prompt and challenging manner in which the Canadian church has set about the work of replacing the funds has called forth many expressions of esteem and admiration.

Writing to Canon, Rev. Canon Davies, General Secretary of the Church Assembly Missionary Council said: "The Missionary Council has received with the deepest regret the news of the terrible financial disaster which has befallen the Anglican church in the Province of Rupert's Land. We desire to express our sympathy with the bishops and clergy in that province and we thank God for the splendid courage with which the church in Canada has risen to meet the heavy blow."

Similar expressions were received from Rev. Canon Stacy Waddy, Secretary for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, Rev. A. Thornton Down, General Organizing Secretary of the Society for the Promotion of Christian Knowledge and the Rev. F. Bate, Secretary of the Colonial and Continental Church Society.

QUALITY OF SEED GRAIN IS SHOWN BY TESTING

Practically every year in Western Canada, particularly in Alberta and Saskatchewan, certain areas receive early frosts which injure the vitality of oats. This injury to the grain as seed is not apparent except from actual germination test.

The wide-spread loss which would follow and which, unfortunately, in earlier times did follow the use of frosted grain as seed, may readily be imagined.

The laboratory service established in each of the several Seed Branch inspection districts in Canada has as an important part of its work the germination of agricultural seeds to determine their vitality and suitability for planting.

In Alberta in the season of 1926-27 there was an area lying north of Calgary extending some sixty miles, and from Drumheller west to the mountains, where all oats were found to be unsuitable for seed as a result of frost. Upon advice from the Seed Branch district office at Calgary shipment was made into this area of an adequate supply of seed oats of proven germination from sections of the province which had escaped frost injury.

In 1933 when it was necessary to locate large quantities of seed oats for Southern Saskatchewan and supplies from Alberta had to be drawn upon it was found, upon actual laboratory germination trials, that practically all the oats of the Peace River country were suitable for seed. Exceptions were in the Berwyn and Blythe areas. In the former one-half of the oats would not germinate over sixty-five per cent. This knowledge of the actual germinating quality of the seed grain in the various parts of the province was essential in satisfactory meeting the grave situation of shortage of seed supply in Saskatchewan.

In the season of 1933 a very large area extending from slightly south of Calgary to north of Red Deer and lying west of the C.P.R. line running north and south through Alberta was quite seriously affected, all oats excepting those that were exceptionally early being injured by frost. Samples of oats from this area have been collected by Seed Branch officials and are now under examination in the Seed Branch Laboratory at Calgary. The results of these tests will show where and to what extent seed oats from outside sources will be required.

Knowing the possibility of frost injury farmers are more and more appreciative of the seed testing service and thousands of samples of seed grain are submitted yearly by farmers for germination test at the Dominion Seed Branch Laboratories at Calgary, Saskatoon and Winnipeg.

ROUNDING OFF HIS RECORD

"Is not this work almost too much for you, friend," asked the new vicar. "You must be a great age."

"Yeasir, yeasir!" mumbled the old bellringer. "Ow many years I've tolled this bell I can't tell ye, but it's beginning to tell on me. 'Owsomever, I've rung the bell for five dead vicars—"

"Dear me," ejaculated the minister.

"And," continued the sexton, "I'll be happy when I've made up the 'alf dozen! I think I'll retire then."
