The Georgetown Herald, Wednesday Evening, May 10th, 1933.

TO MOTERE Y carnot now the hour recall
When first I gaind into thy face,
And now the look of leader love
Which death itself could not efface.

I only know that as far back as I the sands of time can trace. Thou wert there, and I secure within thy over fund embrace.

In this to whose bitter dress.

My life and being thou didet give.

The loving hopeful mother breast.

Whalever heights I might attain,

Thy sacrifice would place me then

To which my guilty sout might sink

But that thy prayer would follow me

To brief to earth the fairest port.
