

SUMMER PARSIES

On the golden loom of day
The lily weaves her spray,
Weaves her spray with softly blended
Tints of summer nearly ended.

Now the aster's purple hood
Decks the hillside and the wood;
Flowering sedges fringe the cool
Emerald shadows of the pool.

Golden red is here again
With her torches down the lane,
And the sun's sweet-tipped,
And the hawk's crimson-tipped.

There's a whisper in the grasses,
"Summer comes—and summer passes."
Meadows still are awed with clover
But the Robin's song is over.

MAKE GRAPE JELLY IT'S A FAVORITE

By Betty Barclay

Do you know that grape jelly is the most popular jelly in America? It is a fact. More of this jelly is consumed every year than any other kind. It is so hard to believe when you consider its delicious taste and the ease with which it can be prepared by modern methods.

The grape season is rapidly getting under way now, and early shipment means a lower cost to the consumer than later fruit. So there is no reason why every woman should not put up as many jars of this jelly as her family craves. And just too.

Grape Jelly
4 cups (2 lbs.) juice
7 cups (3 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, wash about 3 pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add 1/2 cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. If Malaga or other light-skinned grapes are used, the juice of 1 bunch should be added to prepared juice.

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil, boil for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Then add 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup fruit, and 1/2 cup water. Remove from fire and strain quickly. Paraffin hot top of jars, fill about 11 glasses with 4 cups each.

Wine Grape Jam
4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
7 cups (3 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, strip skins from about 3 pounds fully ripe grapes. Remove seeds by stirring. Chop or grind skins and add to pulp 1/2 cup water and 1/2 cup water. Grated rind of 1 orange. Stir until mixture boils. Simmer covered 30 minutes. Strain grapes and other light-skinned grapes may be stemmed, crushed whole, simmered with 1/2 cup water 30 minutes, strained, and then strained with light-skinned grapes add juice of 1 lemon to water. The 4 cups prepared fruit.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hot fire, stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Make about 11 glasses of fluid ounce each.

DO SOMETHING AT ONCE

It has been said that we cannot do everything at once, but we can do something at once. We are often confused by the realization that there is so much to do. When the moving van rattles off, leaving the furniture dumped all over the new house, picture books, chairs, bedding all in a huddle, our first feeling is that it is impossible to evolve any order out of this chaos. Instead of bringing our hands to rest because we cannot do everything at once, we start at once to do something. Putting things in the closet, putting books in the bookcase, putting the dishes in the china cabinet are small tasks, but by keeping at them, the disorder disappears and the new house becomes habitable. Sometimes as we look around on the world we are overwhelmed by the numerous conditions that are wrong. Lawlessness is rampant and many men and women seem to regard it as a joke. The old standards of right and wrong are questioned. Liberty has degenerated into license. Even those who are most anxious to be helpful are likely to be overwhelmed when they contrast the enormous need with that which they have to offer. You cannot do everything at once, that is true, yet this is no reason for standing idle. You can do something at once, you can attack some problem immediately. You can improve something to some extent. Do not congratulate yourself by emphasizing the vastness of the need. Concentrate on something that you can do within the power of your ability and tackle it without delay. If everybody waited at once to do something, in time everything would be done.

The purpose of the visit is a mystery, but even a holiday being admitted by the distinguished visitor.

GROWTH OF HOCKEY

Once Canadian Pastime Now Popular in Europe and the United States.

Hockey has long been the Canadian national pastime. For generations Canadian boys have played hockey on makeshift ice in the backyards, on the frozen surface of the old swimming hole, on the lakes and rivers. Just as American boys play sandlot football, Canadian boys have grown up with the game for long years and up until the last few years or so it was considered exclusively a Canadian game. In that time, however, hockey has made an invasion of the United States, and has achieved an astounding success. Throughout Great Britain and Europe, too, more and more players are becoming proficient in the puck-chasing pastime.

A few years ago professional hockey made its debut in New York and the northern United States. To Montreal, Montreal, Montreal, the ice hockey society, is in full swing. It is difficult to see the new game. Its objective is to score goals by shooting the puck into the goal.

The hockey season is a very exciting one. It is a game of strategy and danger immediately appealed to the hockey fan. The game is a very fast and exciting one. KING ZOG OF ALBANIA is the youngest ruler in Europe and the only unmarried one. Zog's marriage prospects have been the occasion of almost as much discussion as those of the Prince of Wales. The Italians would like him to wed their Princess Maria, but Zog has declined. King Zog has been urging this suit for some time past. But the Albanian people are fearful of getting too closely tied up with Italy, and it is whispered that a gentle ruse was tried to checkmate such an alliance. Zog was induced to visit Vienna, and there he met and fell desperately in love with the beautiful Princess de Janko, a beautiful woman and star among Viennese dancers. The king's suit, however, has been rejected by the baroness, and the likelihood of an ultimate match with Maria of Italy is that much the less.

"NICKEL" MOST USED COIN.

Royal Canadian Mint Made 5,820,000 Five-Cent Pieces.

The coin in greatest use in Canada is the five-cent piece, or the "nickel." It is a fact that the Royal Canadian Mint in Ottawa in one year delivered 5,820,000 five-cent pieces, a total that exceeds that of one-cent pieces, or "pennies," of which 5,160,000 were issued. Ten-cent pieces or "dimes" were the third point of delivery with a total of 2,294,000.

The 50-cent piece, a silver coin, is so comparatively little demand, for only 60,000 were issued. A total of 48,000 twenty-five-cent pieces, or "quarters," were minted. During the year the Royal Canadian Mint struck 11,816,690 coins and issued 18,970,000. No gold pieces were minted.

The gross value of rough and fine gold and fine silver received by the mint per year is $28,625,174. The deliveries from that institution to the Canadian Government Department of Finance totalled $21,178,881. Trade bars sold were valued at $820,841.

INLAND SEA WHICH HANK

The gypsum deposits of New Brunswick, among the richest in the world, are believed to have resulted from the sinking of an inland sea which once existed in and surrounding the Bay Fundy area. The National Resources Department of the Canadian National Railways. This sea probably had a very narrow outlet to what is now the Atlantic Ocean. The subsidence was slow and led in certain parts to the evaporation of sea water which in turn caused the formation of deposits of gypsum and salt over a large area. The climate then seems to have changed and mud and detritus were carried into the region of the Bay. With this detritus buried in the mud that now forms the shalls which characterise the gypsum areas, were periodically formed fossilized fish are commonly found today.
