King Who Fell Victim to His Own Majesty by Nova Scotia Lady

Pradjadhipok, King of Siam, who was a visitor to Canada in 1911 and a few months later had the strange experience of being made a prisoner by his own army and navy officers, and being removed to his throne in three days, is not only king but also a sort of god to his people. As in the case of several other oriental state religions, it is supposed to be of divine descent and the spiritual as well as the temporal leader of his people.

The King has done more than any other man to introduce western ideas into Siam, says a writer in the Windsor Tribune, and these western ideas which disrupted the atmosphere of isolation which surrounded and protected him. A few years ago nobody in Siam—certainly not the army, which he has equipped with tanks, aeroplanes and machine guns—would have dared enter Siam upon his person or place the royal family under his feet. He has made the people bow their heads to the ground. They dared not look at him.

KING PRADJADHIPOK

King Pradjadhipok was born in 1894, and with his brother, Rama, who preceded him on the throne, was tutored by a learned Nova Scotia lady, Mrs. Leonard.

OUTLIVED ITS USEFULNESS

It looks as if the Ontario Gazette has outlived its usefulness. Here is a copy of the Ontario Gazette, the official publication of the Ontario Government, and apparently before an actual publication of the Ontario Gazette, it must be published within its columns.

DOWN THE PICTUREQUE AND HISTORIC WATER WHICH WAS FOLLOWED BY JACQUES CARTIER TO BEATIFY CANADA—ST. LAWRENCE RIVER

It is not a very long ago when a long water cruise was considered a luxury and could be undertaken only by the well-to-do, but with the development of modern steamship travel, the low rate, such a cruise is now-day, looked upon as almost a necessity for those who wish to become travellers and reap the benefits of greater health and happiness resulting from the change of atmosphere and scenery.

Thus, the vacationist wishing to enjoy as many fascinating and varied scenes as possible, and to visit the most beautiful spots of the world, will find the St. Lawrence River a most desirable route.

THE WORLD AND WE

In discussing problems, personal and national, the first thing to do is to grab hold of the wrong end of the stick! One obvious trouble in the world today is that we are trying to do it in a hurry.

Similarly, it is quite useless to attack criticism, and try to change systems or societies if we ignore the whole motive force behind their change.

You cannot just change the world, you have got to change the men and women who constitute the world.

THE ROMANS

had a phrase for it—

"CAVEAT EMPTOR," meaning "Let the buyer beware." This wasn't used as a bit of balm to ease the ancient conscience; nor, yet was it placarded in the booths and stalls of the market-place.

A shopkeeper knew little about the source of his merchandise. This tunic he bought from a trader, who said it came from Byzantium. So he sold it as the latest Byzantine style. The trader told him the dye was pure Tyrian—it wouldn't fade. So he sold it as Tyrian dyed. But the buyer knew the responsibility was his own. If he guessed wrongly, or his judgment was poor, it was his hard luck.

Today, fortunately, there are safer guides than the blanket-warning to "let your eyes be your market." These guides are the newspaper advertisements. In this newspaper, they are a catalogue of the best values in town—signed by responsible firms.

A signed advertisement is, in a way, like a promissory note. The advertiser has made a statement, and affixed his signature as a sign of good faith. So, read the advertisements before you start out on a buying-trip. Make this a daily habit, and see how much you save—in time, in temper, in money, in shoe-leather.
