DAINTIES FOR THE THRIFTY

By Betty Barclay

Conditions are improving but even yet thrifty housewives are interested in dainty dishes that do not put too great a strain upon the family purse. Here are two recipes that will surely appeal.

Pineapple Flax Leaf
1 package quick-setting gelatin (flavorless)
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
1 teaspoonful onion juice
1 cup cooked ham, chopped fine
2 tablespoons sour pickle, chopped fine

Dissolve quick-setting gelatin dessert in boiling water; add cold water and onion juice. Chill until it begins to thicken, add chopped ham and pickle; pour into leaf pan and chill. Remove on platter and cut in thick slices to serve. Serves 6.

Pineapple Coconut Creams
1 package quick-setting gelatin (flavorless)
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup cream, whipped
1 cup shredded coconut

Dissolve quick-setting gelatin dessert in boiling water; add sugar, chill until it begins to thicken. Add milk, mixing thoroughly. Fold in whipped cream and coconut. Pour into mould and chill until firm. Serves 6.

Orange Meringue Custard
1-3 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
3 oranges
3 eggs
3 tablespoons granulated sugar

Blend sweetened condensed sugar diced pulp and juice of oranges. Add well-beaten egg yolks. Pour into buttered baking dish. Cover top with meringue made from stiffly-beaten egg whites and sugar. Bake 15 minutes, or until meringue is brown. In a moderately slow oven (325 degrees F). Serves six.

Bakeless Fudding
1-3 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
Juice of 1 lemon
1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs
2 eggs

Blend together sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice and well-beaten eggs. Stir until thick. Add graham cracker crumbs. Place in shallow pan. May be furnished with whipped cream and nut meats. Serves six.

Divine! Passenger (in bus stuck in snow-drift)—"We can't sit here all day, driver. What are we going to do?" Driver (fed up)—"Well, 'ow about makin' a nice snow man?"

BUILDING

DESCRIPTION OF NEW CURRENCY

Seven members of the Royal family and two of Canada's prime ministers are portrayed on the new paper currency put into circulation on Monday last by the Bank of Canada. These details are being published to guard against possible counterfeit notes.

A likeness of Princess Elizabeth, granddaughter of the King and Queen, will appear on the $20 denomination. The portrait of the princess is on two of the higher denominations notes. Sir John Macdonald, Premier from 1867 to 1891, is appearing on the $500 note, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Liberal Prime Minister from 1896 to 1911, on the $1,000 note, the highest which the Bank of Canada will issue.

The size of the new notes will be a novelty for Canada, their measurements being only 6 inches long by 3 1/2 inches wide. They will be approximately the size of the United States notes, fractionally shorter but wider. Notes of each denomination will be printed in English and in French, the colors and designs being exactly the same in each case.

Each denomination is printed in soft, carefully chosen shades but these are considerably more varied in color than in the existing notes. The $20's will be green, two's blue, five's orange, ten's purple, twenty's dark red, fifty's brown, with a shade of red, 100's chocolate brown, 500's sepia and 1,000's olive green.

Peter Delivered From Prison

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson, March 17, 1935

GOLDEN TEXT: "Prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him." Acts 12: 5. LESSON PARABLE: Acts 12: 6-17. The heart endures the cycle of the seasons: Autumn of shattering bloom, winter of pain—

Wherever I am assured, by the same seasons April will come again! One of these dainty mornings I shall see Out on the icy furrow of my grief Suddenly, lo—the heart's anemone Trusting its valiant leaf! Sara Henderson Hay.

If any person were writing an account of significant events in a his year of grace, he might begin by listing the various religious and social movements in Italy or Hitler in Germany. Yet it may well be that the most significant events in his life would be those which occurred in the present gathering strength are more fraught with destiny for the future of mankind than any other event of the time of which this season speaks.

Herod Agrippa had great power. To his credit he stands in the annals of history as a ruler of great ability and of great courage. He was a man of great power and of great courage. He was a man of great power and of great courage.

Peter, the outstanding leader of the Christians, was in prison—so the prestige did his group of converts. The people, however, was not above; he felt that Christ was with him. He had also another source of comfort and strength as increasing numbers of converts were flocking to the church. No one can tell how much those earnest prayers helped Peter.

Not much is known about this Mary who lived in Jerusalem, but she had a great influence in the early Christian Church. She opened her home to the followers of Jesus and made her hospitality an evangelistic agency. Her character may be judged by the single fact that prayer meetings were held in her house. She has this other claim of fame: she was the mother of John the Baptist.

There are people who have had such direct definite experiences of God's touch on their lives that they can never again doubt. Mary, 18.

A BARBER WHO HAD RHEUMATISM

Tells How He Carried On

"I have been a barber for twenty years. For the past five years I was so afflicted that it was with the greatest difficulty I was able to carry on my business. I may say I am a barber by trade. After having tried numerous remedies, I was finally advised to try Kruschen. I am pleased to say that after having used Kruschen for some twelve months, I am now free from aches and pains and am able to carry on my business. In fact, I consider I am rid of rheumatism, thanks to Kruschen Salts." W.M.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effective solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They readily dull the sharp points of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acid through the natural channels.

What can be said about a barber who did not do very much, hardly enough to earn a place in the story of the apostolic age, yet who is in the picture of the Bible as a hero in the house of Mary and when Peter knocked at the door of the gate, she went to listen to discover whether it was a friend or foe—the gate was kept locked in fear of persecution. She recognized Peter's voice as, before his arrest, he had been a guest in the home. She was so overjoyed that instead of unlocking the gate and letting Peter in, she ran and told the others that the prisoner for whom they had been waiting was here and stood before the gate. They told her that she was imagining things, but she stuck to her story. Investigation proved that she was right. Evidently Peter had become interested in the Christian cause by reason of what she had written in the inn and guests in the home where she worked. Being Christians at close range she had been able to see the true nature of the man who had been put to death by Herod, who James, the brother of our Lord, who had been given a place of leadership in Jerusalem. Peter's message was more than an act of official courtesy; it was an expression of brotherhood and good will. The Christian fellowship entails many duties and responsibilities, but it does give a rich reward in fellowship. Peter's prison experience was bearable when he knew that a household kept up continuous prayer for him and that James and his old time fellow disciples rejoiced in his escape. Peter had been warned by his Master not to expect an easy life. Hardship overtook him but he bore it gladly because of the presence of Christ and the fellowship of Christians.

Questions for Discussion 1. What are some significant social and spiritual movements today? 2. Was the angel supernatural or only a "messenger"? 3. Is genuine hospitality wanting? 4. Which is worse, caste or class? 5. Why was James made leader in Jerusalem?

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

CASTING REFLECTIONS

A mirror will bring out that priceless smile of youth.

YOU may think you have exhausted the supply of good possibilities in your home but the chances are that there are countless interesting subjects you have completely overlooked. It is the unusual that attracts attention but it is necessary to use your eyes and a little imagination and ingenuity to ferret out these exceptional views, angles, etc., and get pictures that show individuality. Mirror pictures, for instance, are intriguing and offer unlimited possibilities if one will do a little experimenting. Let's take the above picture as an example.

When focusing for reflected images only, it is necessary to add the distance from the mirror to the subject, to the distance from the mirror to the camera and then set the focus accordingly. If it is desired to include the subject in the picture with the reflected image the focus should be set for the distance from the mirror to the lens. The smaller the lens opening the greater the depth of field and the sharper will be the reflected images. Of course, the nearer the subject to the mirror the less is required in the matter of "depth".

In the picture above, the subject was about two feet and the camera six feet from the mirror. As both the subject and reflected image were to be included in the picture the diaphragm was set at f.16 and a photograph furnished the light. If the figures and camera were in a position to show only the reflected image in the picture being subject, the focus would then have been set at the eight foot distance mark. The diagram shows position of subject, camera and photoflash lamp when the picture was taken. After setting the focus of your camera at the proper distance and the diaphragm at f.16 set the shutter for time exposure—"B". Do not have any bright lights in the room. Place photoflash lamp in ordinary floor lamp with this reaching distance from camera as designated in diagram. Be sure to remove the shade from the lamp. Take your position in the camera and caution your subject not to move. Press the cable release to open your shutter and immediately turn on the photoflash and then quickly close the shutter—the picture has been taken. Photoflash lamps are made in two sizes, costing 15 and 25 cents each. For the type of picture the 25 cent size should be used.

In amateur photography experimenting becomes the spice of life and you will be surprised at the interesting effects you will get in working out "stunt" pictures on gloomy, rainy days when outdoor activities are taboo. Results in some instances may be rather surprising but you will have a lot of inexpensive amusement and pictures that show individuality. Anyone can take the ordinary run of pictures but it requires a little ingenuity to get the unusual. That is what you should "shoot" for.

TO DEVELOP A NATION'S RESOURCES

In 1921, following the union of Upper and Lower Canada, the Bank opened a branch at Toronto to succeed the agency there, and established offices in nine other cities of Upper Canada, the Honourable Peter McGill, then president of the Bank, explained why the directors had entered upon a policy of establishing branches or agencies in the three western provinces:

"The Legislature having conferred on the Bank important privileges, and authorized the creation and employment of a large capital, the Board, instead of concentrating it all in the large cities, felt it to be their duty gradually to extend throughout the province the benefits derivable from the use of it by the establishment of branches and agencies at such points and in such localities as appeared to them best calculated to encourage and assist the agriculture and commerce of the country, to develop its resources, and to promote the increase of its responsible production...."

Even before the union of Upper and Lower Canada, the Bank sought constantly to encourage those factors in trade which would combine effectively to the up-building of the country—a purpose which is as strong today as ever.
