A THIRTY WIFE

A Stratford railroad told this story: A man and his wife boarded the Stratford-Owen Sound train at Stratford, and because there is no ticket agent there, they had to buy their tickets from the conductor. The wife readily asked for a return ticket, but when the husband did likewise she protested. "You're not so sure you'll be coming back," she said. "Well, however, the man bought the return ticket. A passenger who had overheard the conversation made some casual inquiries of the couple. He learned that the husband was on his way to Owen Sound to undergo an operation.

RECOMPENSE

I saw two covers in Life's field at dawn.
To whom came one in angel guise and said,
"Is it for labour that a man is born?
Lo, I am Lazar. Come ye and eat my bread!" Then gladly one forsook his task under the lamp, and with the tempter went his cloth-ful way.
The other toiled until the setting sun With stalling shadows blurred the day day.
Ere harvest time, upon earth's peaceful breast,
Laid him down under the un-reaping dead.
"Labour hath other recompense than rest."
"God besteth him not less, but rather more."
"Hark! the sowed and others reaped his story."
—Laet.-Col. John McCreary

THE VIMY PILGRIMAGE

After reading the glowing headlines in press reports this week, referring to the Vimy Ridge battle, I was struck by the magnitude of the achievement and the heroism of the Canadian soldiers who fought there.
The Vimy Ridge battle was a turning point in the war.
It was a battle of attrition.
It was a battle of courage.
It was a battle of sacrifice.
It was a battle of glory.
It was a battle of honor.
It was a battle of pride.
It was a battle of love.
It was a battle of faith.
It was a battle of hope.
It was a battle of joy.
It was a battle of peace.
It was a battle of unity.
It was a battle of strength.
It was a battle of power.
It was a battle of wisdom.
It was a battle of knowledge.
It was a battle of truth.
It was a battle of justice.
It was a battle of freedom.
It was a battle of equality.
It was a battle of brotherhood.
It was a battle of sisterhood.
It was a battle of humanity.
It was a battle of God.

VALUED ASSISTANCE

There is nothing that is more welcome to a newspaper office than the friendly subscriber who sends in a bill either by placing by letter, or by dropping in at the office.
We are always glad to receive such
valued assistance.
We are always glad to receive such
valued assistance.
We are always glad to receive such
valued assistance.

DO NOT DO THIS

We ask our correspondents not to include announcements of entertainments, held for the raising of money, in news advertising columns. Our advertising department is our stock in trade, to ask us to donate space is asking us to give free that which we sell for money.
We donate columns of space during the year to promoting community interests, but we cannot accept money-making schemes for all the organizations in the community. If a newspaper were subsidizing by government, this might be done, but it is not. Hence a rule to go by when any gathering or meeting regarding same as advertising.

ASK CONSTRUCTION OF BRAMPTON-MILTON ROAD

Asking that Peel county council add a two-concession stretch of township road to its county road system and thus complete a short and improved route to connect Milton and Brampton county towns of Ontario and Peel, a Deputation headed by Walden Harold Clancy of Georgetown waited on Peel council Wednesday afternoon. This move, it is claimed, would provide a route for travel between the two towns, little more than eleven miles in length, and from four to five miles shorter than any present route. Others in the deputation included: George Curtis, reeve of Georgetown; Victor Hall, reeve of Trillium; and Hoy Smith, reeve of Halton county engineer.
To reach Milton over the proposed road, county road No. 10 would leave Brampton, drive west to Haltonville, proceed five miles down the road to the right, then turn west, where Milton would be plainly in sight to the left. At the present time, both roads are gravel, and the road would be direct anyone over the complicated route with the many turns, if there is a desire to keep on gravel roads.
Of the two concessions which Peel is being asked to add to its county road system, the first is a concession half to make a good base, and the other half is graded. County Engineer Hoy Smith told members of the council. There is only one bridge and the county has to assume maintenance of that bridge.
Mr. Smith, Halton engineer, said the proposal had received a favourable hearing at the provincial roads department, and expressed his confidence that it would be approved.
He said that the county has a long line in Halton.
The time was on the county system there was a moderately good condition of that making it a comparatively short piece of time.
In discussing the proposal, whole-hearted support was pronounced by Reeve David Moran of Chinguarous and Reeve Hoy Smith of Trillium.
Much could be done to foster the friendship and good-will between two counties like Peel and Halton. It was noted that later in the proceedings, he would introduce a motion to have the section added to the county system, as asked by the deputation—Conservator.
