TEACHERS, TRY THIS!
A Kitchener school teacher has discovered an effective way to deal with gum-chewing pupils without resorting to the use of the strap. Every time he finds one of his students with his jaws working convulsively over a "chew" he insists that the child give him a stick, too. Usually the children found that it was much cheaper to do their gum-chewing at school for some time they were caught. It cost them an extra stick.
As a result, gum-chewing is rather unpopular now during classes.

THE MAN WHO FORGOT
He wears a long and solemn face And drives the children from his kiss.
He doesn't like to hear them shout Or race and run and romp about.
And if they chance to climb a tree,
He is as ugly as can be.
If in his yard they drive a ball, Which makes his pretty flowers should fall.
He hides the leather sledge away, Hoping to thus prevent their play.
The youngsters worry him a lot,
This sorry man who has forgot To kiss upon a time his son.
The self-same mischief used to do The boyhood he has left behind His wife is vanished from his mind.
And he is old and gray and cross For having suffered such a loss.
He thinks he never had the joy That is the birthright of a boy.

THE MAN WHO FORGOT
He has forgotten how he ran, Tired to a poor dog's tail, a can,
Which the widow pines, and loved To wipe his neighbor's apples, and and and He thinks that always day and night, His conduct was exactly right.
In boys to-day he cannot see,
The youngster that he used to be.
He is as ugly as can be,
If he is that by-gone day,
His wife is vanished from his mind.

THE MING WAS TO MONDAY
LONG MAY BE REIGN

His Majesty, King George, celebrated his 70th birthday, second son of King Edward VII. He was born at Sandringham House, London, on June 3, 1865. His elder brother, the Duke of Clarence, died in 1892, leaving him heir to the throne to which he succeeded his father on May 6, 1910. In 1911, he visited India, a step which infamous British King had taken. The purpose of the visit was to be crowned emperor of the British Empire. The King's 70th birthday was celebrated in London on June 3, 1935. The celebration was held at the Royal Palace, and was attended by all the members of the royal family. The King was in excellent health, and was expected to reign for many years to come.

Peel and Halton 'Old-Timers' Association The annual picnic of the Association will be held on Wednesday, June 12th, 1935, at Our Lawn Park, adjoining the Experimental Farm, Brantford, Ontario. All those who came from Peel and Halton counties, Ontario, or those whose parents came from Peel or Halton, are cordially invited to attend this picnic and to bring their families and friends with them. All those from a distance come in the forenoon and dinner will be served, picnic style, from twelve to one o'clock. Sports will commence at 1:30 p.m.

MILTON
Mrs. H. C. Tulford left on Monday on a motor trip to Walkerville to visit her daughter, Miss Mable E.
Tulford, who is filling the position of technician at the Metropolitan Hospital there. Mrs. Tulford was in training in the laboratory of the department of the hospital, under the presidency of Dr. Deaconman, until February last.

Tom J. Brown, well-known local business man for the past twenty years, has on the advice of his physician, decided to take a long rest on account of ill health, which forced him to dispose of his drug business, which he did on Monday last, the buyer being Woodbrook, of Long Branch, who was given immediate possession of the premises. Mr.
Brown's many friends in Milton that he will soon recover.

While pruning trees in the orchard of his home, on Tuesday afternoon, Clare Ford, aged 35, fell from the top branch of an apple tree, and was broken back. His condition is serious.
The executive of the Ontario Volunteers of the Red Cross, met at Orillia on Saturday to decide upon the place of the annual convention.
It was decided to hold the convention in Milton that the convention this year.

INHERITANCE
I think some one of my ancestral lines is cool and casual. I love the Of reckless retreat . . . I love the Of clouds on the dim and cluttered of walls . . . And a rosy fit in my hand and fills a lonely need.
Perhaps his buyers in heaven fall on me.
And ghastly fingers touch each all-ever bed.
There is an answer in my heart to bells
That call the faithful in the early hours.
Upon the morning after the haste swells:
There is the scent of incense and of flowers
But better still, that silent hour when I pray.
Are lifted in this holy place of prayer.

EXAMINATION TIME Within the next few weeks the pupils of the local and district schools will be called upon to try their final examinations after a year of preparation. The pupils are thoroughly equipped at reviewing their various subjects and others preparing for the final test. Whether or not they will be successful depends upon whether they have been studiously engaged in their studies during the past year or whether they have taken their studies just as a matter of course and only at the late date are beginning to realize that they have shuffled away their time when they should have been paying strict attention to their studies. Too frequently, in case of failure on examinations, the pupils and their parents are prone to lay the blame on some one of their teachers, when in reality the whole blame can be attributed to the lack of interest of the pupils and their failure to embrace the opportunities afforded to them throughout the year. Teachers, as a whole, are exceedingly interested in the pupils placed in their charge, and it gives them pleasure to see the pupils successfully complete their studies. They

TROUT MUST BE LARGER THAN SARDINES With the start in the last few days of 450 speckled trout, only three of which measured up to the quarter inch legal catch limit, wardens of the department of game and fisheries, under the supervision of Mr. C. H.
Taylor, have gone a long way, Queen's Park claims, towards breaking up alleged gangs of poachers in the Callander-North Bay district.
The speckled trout were made from several angles of the poachers, who were seen once a man having upwards of 500 of the undersized trout in his possession when he was arrested. Immediate prosecution will be launched against the offenders by the deputy warden, Mr. Taylor. Taylor declared, "It's one of the worst cases of game poaching I have ever run across, and enough to break a true sportsman's heart." The evidenced trout have been shipped to Queen's Park. Taylor's men departed with these fish because of their size.
All of them, Mr. Taylor stated, are no bigger than sardines.
