A MEMBER of the Snapshot Guild returned recently from a rather long journey after visiting relatives in many cities. "I had a lovely time visiting and enjoyed the traveling," she wrote, "but one thing took a lot of joy out of my trip. I did not take along my camera. No, I didn't forget it. I simply didn't take it and thought no more about it until I reached my sister's home. Then I discovered something. I have been reading the Snapshot Guild, have taken quite a number of good pictures by following instructions, but didn't realize that I had unconsciously developed an eye for pictures," she continued.

"When I arrived at my sister's home—my first stop—I saw unlimited possibilities for interesting, story-telling pictures. I hadn't seen my little niece Jean since she was a month old and here she was toddling around and getting into all kinds of mischief. I could easily have taken six or eight anapshots of this cute youngster doing all kinds of interesting things."

These changes would have sounded much more promising if the Minister of Justice, introducing them in the House, had not admitted that in his opinion they were of doubtful validity, had not read opinions of eminent counsel to the same effect. If even the minister who pilots the bills thinks they may not stand up in the courts the persons prosecuted under these acts are certain to be sure that they will not, with the result that appeals, litigation, possible upsets in the higher courts, will almost certainly accompany any effort to encourse from the office, and the pressure of Justice of J much more promising if the Minister tainly accompany any effort to en- came from the office, and the press-Then we have amendments to the as busy as ever, the compositors were

Then we have amendments to the Weights and Measures Act, aimed at ending short-weight, deceptive packaging, etc. We have livestock amendments improving present practice in regard to reports from stockyards and inspection of stock and packers' products. We have a new Fair Wages and Hours bill which will insist on these conditions in any government contract, or work done with the assistance of government subsidies, grants, bonuses, etc. We have a minor change in the Industrial Disputes Act. We have some alterations of the Combines Act (which strikes me as a damed good act now, but only half-used). There are one or two more bills to come.

Mr. Bennett, looking and sounding something like a Weary Titan, assured Mr. Mackenzie King last week that he was as anxious as anybody to bring the session to a close, and hold an election. The only consideration which would delay the latter was the need of revising the election lists so as not to disenfranchise a lot of junior Canadians, just reaching voting age. Lists will be revised by the 18th of August, it is expected.

Hotel Bankatchewan, Regina, distinguished itself recently by staging a Chinese Mandarin dinmer dance, said to be the first of its kind on this continent. As stage decoration there was used a hundred-foot runner and side drapes, hand-made by Chinese many decades ago, and insured while in use at a valuation of $4.000. The orchestra was to Chinese dress and provided music with a decidedly Eastern background.
