ANSWEE QUESTIONNAMES

Evidence of keen interest in current public affairs and policies on the part of the members of councils of Octtario's towns, villages and townships is contained in the results of two questionnaires recently conducted by the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities.

Municipal councils in thirty-four counties, including several villages and six town councils, answered the questionnairs. Perhaps the most radical of the ten proposals, and incidentally one of those which received the strongest support in the replies, procoupons, mortgages, bank accounts, part of the present expenditure on education." Pictures of the trenches in the recent Oreat War are gruesome, but their realism makes effective teaching in the cause of peace. David anoke aober truth in extolling the virtues of Baul and Jonathan, but these two heroes were dead—killed in battle. Words can inver describe the heroism and sacrifice of the ten million soldiers who fell in the Oreat War, but the cold fact remains that their lives ended for the special consequence."

PARES

The friendship of David and Jonathan has appealed to the imagination of all readers of Hebrew history. It is difficult to say which one of the two friends deserves the greater credit. David had everything to gain, and Jonathan had everything to lose. Both rose above self interest and were faithful in their friendship at whatever cost. David was heartbroken when he learned that Jonathan had fallen in battle, and said in words that live on in memory: "I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan: very pleasant hast thou been unto me: thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women." Could these two young warriors have known the depth of friendship they did, had they not repeatedly put their lives to the hazard together? People who live easy and safe lives do not know the degree of friendship with a loyally that seeks to be disinterested and selfish after the fashion of the friendship of David and Jonathan. BANE LIQUOR CONTROL

We must take off our hats to Bwedthe adminstration of their liquor system. Most students of the problem agree that this country has the most practical method of control in operation in any country in the world. One provision in force compels the purchaser of liquor to exhibit receipt for the payment of his taxes before he can make a purchase, and he can then purchase only a limited mount.-Idetowel Banner.

The business man visited all the law offices in town in the belief that the lawyers would be sure to have a copy of the publication. He was unsuccessful in locating a single copy. Other official offices were visited, but it was not until he dropped into the Daily Bun-Times office that he secured a copy. Very few copies are circulated and fewer still are read.

The experience of this business man shows the worthlessness of this publication as a medium for official notices. The public would be served much better if the daily and weekly newspapers were used for placing government advertising, rather than keeping up an expensive publication keeping up an expensive publication which apparently no one reads.
