the dose not appear to have been a specially rusped personality. Paul often had to spur him on, yet under Paul's fultion we see Timothy growing motiosably. The man who could call forth Paul's two letters to him was thaneby serving a wide constituency. Of course Timothy was especially fortunate in having such a teacher as Paul. The man who later influenced such leaders as Augustine, Luther and Wesley must have been a great inspiration to the youthful Timothy. Paul quite freely confessed that he owed much to the cooperation of Timothy indebtedness to Paul was much greater. Paul's word to Timothy, "Let no man despise thy youth," has been an inspiration to Timothy, "Let no man despise thy youth," has been an inspiration to many young Christian workers.

Paul did not had take to play upon the chords of affection in the heart of Timothy. Paul told Timothy that he prayed for him night and day. He recalled Timothy's youthful faith and reminded him of the devotion of his mother; kinnice, and his grandmother, Lois a very prominent bishop concludes a book of lectures by describing the scene of his homeleaving as a teen-age boy. His mother put her arms around him and said. "Son, we believe in you; "and the father reinforced the mother's sentiment by putting his hand on the boy's shoulder and saying, "Yes, son, we trut you fully." That deciration of confidence strengthened this man through youth, and continues to encourage him now that he is an old man Homes antiment may be a great power for good.

Neither his moth-er, nor grandmother, nor even the apostis Paul could free him from inapostle Paul could free him from including responsibility for his own life. Apparently Timothy was somewhat lethargic. Paul urged him to stir up the gift of God that was in him. He also recalled Timothy's ordination. Hany ministers are kept true by remembering the experience of the inner call to the ministry and and of the outward symbol of ordination. Great hours of the soul atrengthen us for humdrum days. Paul could never live uninbuenced by his hour upon the Damascus Road. He knew that Timothy's ordination had been a sacred occasion, and urged him to keep his life upon that level. #### every important centre in Canada it also serves widely diversified and distant areas, and in very many instances is the sole agency providing railway facilities. The C. N. R. is a large direct employer of labour, and indirectly, by virtue of the nature of its freight and other services, also enters importantly and indispensably into the commercial and industrial activities of the Dominion . . . creating new wealth . . . distributing rew and manufactured goods . . . enabling more employment and wages to be provided. Notwithstanding the sparsely populated condition of stuck of the territory from which the C. N. R. obtains its freights of grains, minerals, forest products, etc., its charges for haulege are very low . . . Canadian railway freight rates are probably the lowest in the world. On an average the C. N. R. receives less than one cent for hauling a ton of freight one mile. Of every dollar of revenue received the C. N. R. pays more than one half to its employees as wages, and it purchases every year many millions of dolfars worth of Canadian made or produced materials. The C. N. R. also pays in the course of a year over six million dollars in various taxes. These facts, although thus briefly stated, are of tremendous importance to Canada and Canadians. They are here presented in the hope that greater patronage will follow a wider appreciation of the part this great railway system is performing in the commerce and development of the Dominion . . . and of its vast potentialities for future service. Standing as we are at the beginming of an upward swing in business generally, renewed and enlarged opportunities to use transportation facilities present themselves. The C. N. R. is ready and anxious to serve ... efficiently and economically. Its departments embrace passenger and freight transportation, express, calegraphs, steamships and hotals.
