I COULD NOT SLEEP AT NIGHT

If I had set a trap of steel, I could not sleep at night— The pain-crased eyes of dying things Would shine so brightly bright.

There in the dark around my bed I lay, I could not sleep at night— The pain-crased eyes of dying things Would shine so brightly bright.

I'd hear the anguished, frightened cries Of little furry balls Implored, struggling through long days While no one heeds their calls.

I'd see small paws, half-twisted off And twice their normal size, Being licked with parched and pain-foamed tongue Before my sleepless eyes.

I'd see those wild and free-born things Which should live on in peace, With glaring eyes look up at me In pleading for release.

If I had set a trap of steel, I could not sleep at night— The pain-crased eyes of dying things Would shine so brightly bright.

—Mina M. Titus

HOW TO STOP THE KILLING

In the first eight months of the present year 291 people were killed in motor accidents in Ontario. For every fatal accident it is estimated there were 35 cases of more or less serious injury to persons not killed. The money cost of automobile accidents in the province for eight months has been estimated at 14 million dollars. It is safe to say that the loss of life and limb is about five times that of all this loss of life and limb property was directly due to criminal carelessness on the part of the driver of the car. Appeals without number have been made to reckless drivers to cease this destruction of life and limb by other measures. And one measure to this end should be to place the trial of motor killers in the hands of judges instead of juries and fixing the minimum penalty for auto killings, in case of conviction, at a year's imprisonment.

DISQUALIFICATION OF MUNICIPAL CANDIDATES

Changes made this year to Section 33, Municipal Act, will have an important effect on the disqualification of candidates at the approaching municipal elections, says the Municipal Council of Georgetown. The new provisions disqualify for unpaid taxes for the current year. He is disqualified if he has any business or income taxes overdue and unpaid at the time of the nomination or if there are taxes of a preceding year due against him and which he has not paid. A tenant is disqualified if at the time of nomination he is in possession of more than three months rent upon the property in respect of which he qualifies. Under the new provisions a candidate must be a resident of the town or city in which he is running for office. As under the amendments to Section 33 a person is not disqualified on unpaid taxes against any and except that on which he qualifies, and then only for arrears of a preceding year or years. The amendments to the Municipal Act, which have been repeated by implication and that a certificate as to the payment of taxes is no longer necessary, —Simoes Reformer.

WINTER! WILL IT BE MILD?

Chief Sam Enako of the Ojibwa Indians on the Rama reserve is noted with making the prediction that we are to have a mild winter. He said to have his considered opinion on his observations of fur-bearing animals and feathered birds—and one has as much right to speak of "feathered birds" as of "fur-bearing animals" for while the birds are feathered all animals are fur-bearing. He said that the fur-bearing animals have not grown heavy coats and the muskrat and the beaver have not built winter homes. Chief Sam of the Rama reserve says there will be but one foot of snow in the north because the deer, scratching their antlers on trees, do so this year one foot from the ground and the height of which they do this indicates the depth to which snow will fall this winter. The same authority claims that "there will be practically no snowfall in the vicinity of Toronto, and along the shores of Lake Ontario." Perhaps the reason for this prediction no matter how the winter turns out. Still, a little winter now and then is welcomed in this country. Snow does not carry off the topsoil as torrential rains do. A blanket of snow over the topsoil keeps the growing grain like a child tucked into bed by its mother. The lumber camps get along all right with plenty of snow. The deep snow, packed, watered and frozen, makes a highway like cement.

All this is interesting to those who are interested in all this.

As regards the weather everybody listens to prophecy, but as to fulfillment they just take the weather as it is served out to them. One should be grateful to the Ojibwa for his kindly prediction no matter how the winter turns out. Still, a little winter now and then is welcomed in this country. Snow does not carry off the topsoil as torrential rains do. A blanket of snow over the topsoil keeps the growing grain like a child tucked into bed by its mother. The lumber camps get along all right with plenty of snow. The deep snow, packed, watered and frozen, makes a highway like cement.

Weather predictions based on the conduct of wild animals and wild birds should humiliate the humbly race here we are, masters of life on this planet.

We have dominion over all the beasts that roam the mountains and the plains and we have carried scientific inquiry to incalculable lengths. No college professor can tell you, believe it or not, how many miles it is from the corner of King and Yonge Streets to the remote Pileoles, that Christmas-tree cluster of stars of which sky-gazers are so fond. Do many things we do and yet when it comes to divining the weather and the kind of winter we are going to have we must fall back upon Chief Sam Enako and his men, fall back upon the muskrat and tell us that it, any muskrat, knows more about the weather than the president of the University of Toronto and all the faculty.

It does not seem likely to us that a chipmunk can know more than a college professor with his bi-focals on. It does not seem to us that a chipmunk can know what kind of a winter is ahead of him. Regarded by nice day he may be in the presence of an Indian chief, eat a nut instead of hearing it. The fact that a fox has not grown a heavy coat and the vole's indication of a mild November, and when a fox or a chipmunk makes bad guess as to a mild winter and dies from its error no record is kept of this.

One must conclude, grateful as we are to Chief Sam Enako, that man is not as inferior to the muskrat in his divining powers as it seems to be. So many gifts were bestowed on man that, we feel sure, if bad winters were to be forecasted man would have been given an extra layer of fat in November whenever a bad winter drew nigh.

Use Sleigh Bells for Jolly Christmas Game

It is a new and exciting game to play at Christmas time. The game consists of a set of sleigh bells they are not as easy to find as the old days. There is a string with five or six bells attached to the ends. The string is fastened to the front of the sleigh. The player stands at the front of the sleigh and the other players stand at the back. The player at the front of the sleigh starts the game by ringing the bells. The other players try to catch the bells as they are thrown. The player who catches the most bells wins the game.

Mail Buy Markers by January 1st
Motor vehicles must be fitted with 1935 markers by the beginning of the year. Department officials have advised at Toronto, that if you wish to drive your car in the winter time, you should get your markers at once. A sweeping reversal of policy dating back to the Conservative administration when the department of highways first permitted time extensions. Registration branch officials reported there was a steady but not heavy demand for the markers. Further, they are to be seen on the roads, especially on new cars where they are good to the end of next year.

Mail Christmas Parcels Easy
With Christmas only two weeks away the Post Office authorities are urging careful packing of gifts to be mailed to distant parts. A double corrugated box is advised for gifts that are easily damaged, and in all cases every parcel mailed should be wrapped in several layers of strong paper and tied with stout cord. China, pictures, lamps, etc. should be marked with plain black letters on the outside of the parcel. If the parcel is worth sending it is worth careful packing.

COUNTY COUNCIL

The splendid financial standing of the county of Halton was brought to the attention of the council, when at the December sessions of the county council, held at Milton, the county sold $28,500 five-year 3 per cent. debentures at a price of 102.21. Bids had been called for these debentures and when the tenders were opened it was found that the county of Halton had the highest bid. The debentures are for the county's share of the building of the middle road highway, which is being built on the highway and placing of shoulders on the Broad street, Toronto strip. The latter item amounted to $200,000. The county's share of the highway is $20,000. The county government relieved the municipalities of paying 20 per cent. towards provincial highways. The debenture by-laws were given two readings and left over for the third reading until the approval of the Municipal Board is obtained.
