Hikers Prepare for Rockies' Sky-Line Trails

Invading the domain of the mountain goats, adventure-loving Canadians and Americans will tramp the Sky-Line Trail in the Yoho Valley district of the Canadian Rockies this summer from August 5 to 8. The Sky-Line Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies have a unique organization. It is open to the world at large. The only qualifications are a love of beauty, a sturdy pair of boots, and the will to leave the main roads for the undiscovered charms of the back country.

Indications are that a gay band of adventurers will invade the beautiful Yoho Valley this summer from Banff Springs Hotel, Chateau Lake Louise and the several attractive Canadian Pacific chalet-bungalow camps in the Canadian Rockies. From one central camp spectacularly situated half way between Yoho Lodge and Emerald Lake north of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the hikers will explore along the highline, visit the fossil beds on the slopes of Mount Burgess, inspect the snowy moraine of the Yoho Glacier and pick flowers in the bird-haunted alpine meadows of Little Yoho Valley. The district has much to offer. The hikers will have opportunities to fish for fighting mountain trout, to hunt big game with camera to get away from the ordinary humdrum for four glorious days of mountain life.

This type of holiday, so unusual and yet so inexpensive because of the organization formed by hiking enthusiasts, is attracting more people every year. The secretary-treasurer, J. Murray Gibbon, Windsor Station, Montreal, reports that the number of inquiries already received indicates that there will be a record turn-out of old and new members this year. The picture layout shows highlights of a typical hike.

ERIN

The congregation and Young People of Erin United Church assembled in the church basement on Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Copeland, who were recently married, and presented them with a miscellaneous shower.

One of Erin township's best-known residents in the person of the late Samuel Gibson, passed away on April 13th, following a stroke suffered the day before. The late Mr. Gibson, who was in his eightieth year, was a blacksmith. Four years ago Mr. and Mrs. Gibson celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, of Georgetown, were visitors last week with Mr. and Mrs. M. Thompson.

The business men of Erin will again observe the Wednesday half-holiday commencing, Wednesday, May 4th, and continuing until Wednesday, October 26th.

Local police plucked up two drunks in the village on Saturday night and took them to Guelph jail. They had been drinking alcohol, and a bottle was found on one of them. They were picked up when starting out with a car which neither of them was capable of driving.—Advocate.
