OBITUARY

MRS. JOSEPH COX
Being in poor health for some time, death claimed the life of Geraldine Bell, beloved wife of Joseph Cox, on Sunday, May 29th, at her home here. She was in her 77th year, and her untimely death will be greatly mourned by her family and friends. Besides her husband she leaves three small children, Josephine, Kathleen and Gerald. Deceased is also survived by her father and two brothers in Peterboro. The funeral on Tuesday afternoon was held from St. George's Church and conducted by the Rev. W. G. Thompson. Interment being made in Greenwood Cemetery, Georgetown. Sympathy was expressed to the bereaved family by the beautiful floral offerings.

MRS. HENDERSON
A prominent member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Jessie Hope McLeod Henderson, died at her residence in the Ambassador Apartments, 1322 Ouellet avenue, Windsor, following a short illness. Born in Georgetown, a daughter of the late William McLeod and Sarah Barber, she moved to Winnipeg eleven years ago, where she lived until three and a half years ago when she came to Windsor. She was the widow of the late Herbert B. Henderson. Mrs. Henderson took an active part in the Woman's Missionary Society and the Woman's Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. She was also a member of the Independent Order of the Daughters of the Empire. Surviving are one son, Norman B., of Toronto; one daughter, Mrs. J. B. MacArthur of Windsor; two brothers, James B. and Norman L. McLeod of Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. George Begg of Toronto, and Mrs. H. M. Wetherald of Windsor; also five grandchildren. Funeral services were held in the Morris Funeral Home, 1624 Wyandotte street east, today at 3:30 p.m., with Rev. H. M. Paulin, D.D., officiating. Further services will be held tomorrow at the Knox Presbyterian Church in Georgetown, at 3 p.m. Burial will be in Georgetown.—Windsor Daily Star.

The funeral took place from the Presbyterian Church, Georgetown, on Tuesday afternoon. The church where she had been an active worker for many years and organist for twenty-five years. The service, which was largely attended by old friends and relatives, was conducted by the pastor, Rev. D. Davidson. The pallbearers were J. A. Willoughby, Geo. M. Begg, Charles C. Henderson, Toronto; W. A. Wilson, O. T. MacKay and H. C. Barber. The remains were interred in the family plot in Greenwood cemetery, Georgetown. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

MRS. A. G. CLARRIDGE
Following a period of ill health that has extended over the past seven years and necessitated two months hospital treatment, recently, Mrs. A. G. Clarridge passed away on Thursday morning, May 19th. She had been able to spend the past three weeks at home, on the beautiful farm just east of Acton, on the highway, born in Acton in 1877. Mrs. Clarridge was Mary Ann Martin, a daughter of the late William Martin. Her early life was spent at Ingleside. Following her marriage to A. G. Clarridge, the couple for some time resided on a farm near Georgetown. Thirty-four years ago they removed to the farm just east of Acton, where she passed away.

Mrs. Clarridge was a bright, active woman, who found time not only for her home, but to assume an interest and a helpful activity in the community about her. She was interested in the church, Knox Church, Acton—and its welfare. She was also one of the founders of the Bannockburn Women's Institute, and held executive positions in the County Institute. Her cherry helpfulness will be missed, not only in the home, but in many other circles in which she was interested. But it is in the home where she was a true helpmate and a loving mother, that her loss will be most keenly felt. Mr. Clarridge and the family indeed have deep sympathy in the loss they have sustained. Besides the bereft husband, she leaves six daughters, Mrs. R. A. Storey, Brantford; Mrs. G. S. Matthews, and Mrs. J. P. Arcott, of Toronto; Mrs. G. MacMillan and Mrs. Geo. Tyler, of Acton; and Mrs. L. Garvin of Guelph. Eight grandchildren also remain, and one sister, Mrs. (Rev.) W. Atkinson, of Kenora; and a brother, William Martin, of Ingleside.

The funeral was held on Saturday, with a service at the home, conducted by Rev. H. L. Bennie of Knox Church. It was largely attended by many from the district, in which she was so highly respected. Friends also attended from Rochester, N.Y., St. Thomas, Toronto, Brantford, Guelph, Ingleside and Belfountain. Interment was made in Boston Mills Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Messrs. R. A. Storey, Jas. Mann, T. Kennedy, O. Moffat, Robt. Kerr, A. T. Mann, J. P. O'Neil, J. J. Mann, and J. J. Mann. Flower bearers were Messrs. E. Martin, H. Young, S. Morrison, L. Stone, M. McCullough, Masters Bobbie Storey, Donald Matthews, Norman Martin.

Floral tributes included those from: The family; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Martin; Knox Church Ladies Aid; Knox Church Choir; Chalmers Church Y. W.C.A., Toronto; Bannockburn Women's Institute; Bannockburn Literary Society; the Chero Club; the Y.P.O.; Mrs. John Mann and family; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Mann; the Tyler family; the Garvin family; Mr. and Mrs. Howden; Margaret and Roy; Gwen Dobbie and Grace Gibson.—Free Press.

GOLF CLUB NOTES

Despite the cool weather, members of the Cedar Crest Golf Club had a day of pleasant activities on May 24th.

The game between teams selected by the Captain and Vice Captain resulted in a net score of 389 to 387—the Vice Captain's side winning by 2 holes. The low net score in this event was made by Roy Foulis with a 43 for the nine holes.

The following competed in the four ball mixed foursome:
K. M. Langdon and Jean Mackenzie vs. Frank Armstrong and Mrs. J. A. Willoughby.

Ed Douglas and Mrs. Robb vs. Telford MacKay and Marjorie Gault.
J. A. Willoughby and Mrs. MacKay vs. Wes. Robb and Miss H. Lawson.
Roal Barber and Mrs. F. Armstrong vs. Bertram Willoughby and Mrs. P. Collin.

Ken Charles and Mrs. Heidmann vs. Mr. Heidmann and Mrs. Nowell.
This event was won by Mr. Armstrong and Mrs. Willoughby with a total net score for nine holes of 93.

The men's long driving contest was won by Mr. Robb with an average range length per drive of 224 yards. Roy Foulis was second with an average of 219 yards. Bertram Willoughby had the longest individual drive of 256 yards.

In the putting competition Mr. J. A. Willoughby displayed capacity for sinking the long ones and won the prize for this event.

After refreshments supplied by the ladies of the club under direction of the Social Committee, six tables of bridge ended a satisfactory day. Mrs. Frank Armstrong and Mrs. Wes Robb were tied in the bridge score and in the cut Mrs. Armstrong won a lovely glass flower vase.

The turnout for the mixed foursome on Tuesday, May 31st, was rather small. The winners for the match were Miss Jean Mackenzie and Mr. J. R. Smith with a net score of 37.

Members are reminded that next Tuesday, June 7th, bridge will be played following the golf match.

DIP THE SHEEP FLOCK

The loss due to the neglect to control ticks and lice infesting sheep is sometimes great enough to render a sheep flock unprofitable. Lambs suffer severely from the incessant irritation caused by the biting of these parasites. Lice and ticks migrate from the mother sheep to the lamb and very heavy infestations will put the lamb in such a condition that can never be profitable. During a period of low prices no farmer can afford to support parasites as a handicap to his sheep. The flock owner needs, and the lamb is better without the handicap if it is to grow into a profitable animal.

Flocks that are regularly dipped during the late spring or early autumn will not suffer from the external parasite handicap. The necessity of dipping is shown by the remarkable increase of pests. For instance, two female ticks under favorable conditions produce a population of 1200 in one year. Likewise one female louse can be the grandmother of a million lice within a twelve month period. These reproductive powers are tremendous and cause an equally tremendous amount of annoyance, injury loss. Why tolerate such pests when the practice of dipping will remove them? The British farmers are required by law to dip their sheep flocks for the control of external pests. There are many public dipping tanks in Ontario rural districts, built especially for the accommodation of sheep. Ask your local Department of Agriculture office about the sheep dipping activities in your own county. Late May and early June is the time when the work is generally done.

Weasel is Ruthless in Killing Birds, Rabbits

The weasel is well equipped for his career of carnage with serpentine neck, lean body and loose skin. In subduing fellow creatures his swiftness gives him a distinct advantage in that he can attack from almost any position. He possesses the knack of elongating his body to an incredible degree and is able to squeeze through small openings in pursuit of quarry. His elastic skin likewise proves a great asset when attacked because it leaves his body free to strike back. A large healthy rat, with its chisel-edged teeth, is the only animal anywhere near his size that can whip him. The weasel's mode of attack is to fling his body over his victim and embrace him with his front feet. In this fierce clutch the prey has no chance and life is extinct in a few seconds.

The incessant foraging of this diminutive fiend causes great losses in bird life, asserts an official of the Detroit chapter of the Izaak Walton League. He has been known to jump two feet into the air to pull down a quail or partridge, and his dexterity as a climber is truly amazing. We have seen him climb a smooth pole holding a martin house and quickly dart in and out of each compartment to destroy the eggs or young. It seems almost paradoxical that Nature should have endowed the weasel with so many weapons of destruction for use against her charges, and it is small wonder that he is called the tiger among smaller mammals. A mother weasel with young is particularly murderous, and will carry innumerable birds and lesser animals to her lair for her offspring to feed upon.

Vibration of Bridge Is Principally Up and Down

The International Encyclopedia states that the action of a suspension bridge is that of a rope spanning between supports; for any loading it finds the appropriate curve of equilibrium and is stable in that position. But as the adjustment to varying position of load results from change or curve, the roadway hung from the cable also distorts, that is, the bridge is very flexible. Longitudinal stiffening trusses are therefore used, their stiffness preventing any but slight distortion under localized loading. The vibration would therefore be chiefly up and down, because of the pull of the load on the cables.

It is a fact that a comparatively small force, applied at regular intervals under favorable circumstances, will occasionally set up considerable oscillation in a suspension bridge, and experts have testified that a few soldiers marching over a long bridge in regular step might produce more vibration than a whole regiment out of step. A suspension bridge in France broke down in 1850 as the result of the vibration caused by 487 soldiers marching in step; plus the great weight of the soldiers.

"English Horn" Not a Horn
In spite of its name, the English horn, well-known orchestra instrument, is not a horn at all. It is a "wood-wind" instrument, observes a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. Other woodwinds are the clarinet, oboe and bassoon. The true horns of the orchestra are the "brasses," such as the cornet, trumpet, trombone, tuba and others. One instrument in this section is the French horn. This is called briefly, "the horn"; and this expression usually refers to the French horn rather than any of the other brasses.

Gibbon Ape Nearest Human
Smallest of the apes, and supposedly the least developed, the gibbon is, nevertheless, one of the most human. It walks erect, with its long arms almost dragging the ground. That isn't its only manlike action. Like a human gymnast, it swings from branch to branch, using only its arms. Other monkeys generally push off with their feet.

Snakes and Indians
The Hopi snake dance draws thousands to the fantastic cliff villages in northwestern Arizona. The time of the snake dance is never announced by the Indians until ten days before the actual date, but it is held almost invariably in mid-summer. This ancient ceremonial is one of the most interesting of all Indian survivals.
