BEN F. HOWDEN

Falling to recover from a stroke suffered two weeks ago, Ben F. Howden, Guelph business man and one-time alderman, died Monday in St. Joseph's hospital. He had never known a day's illness during his life before the attack. Born in Milton 75 years ago, he lived there until 1910, when he went to Guelph to open a hardware business. He was an ardent sportsman and was prominent in several sports organizations. He was a member of the Ontario Provincial Winter Fair Board, and a past master of Guelph L.O.L. 2521. He was a staunch Conservative. Besides his wife, formerly Margaret Trimble, one daughter, Mrs. Roy Stout, Guelph; and one brother, Thomas Howden, in Milton, survive.

CLARENCE JOHN HAMILTON

Spending almost his entire life in the grocery business in Erin, Mr. Hamilton purchased Stanley Park last spring and made some vast improvements to this widely-known summer resort. His death followed just three months after that of his twin brother. He was a member of Erin L.O.O.F. and a Presbyterian. Unmarried, he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. L. Davis, Cleveland; Mrs. J. Musgrave, Jersey City, and Miss Mary, Erin, and two brothers, Harold, of Toronto (formerly of Georgetown), and Clifford, of Hillsburg. The funeral was held from his home South Main Street on Saturday afternoon. Over one thousand persons were in attendance. The services at the home and graveside were taken by Rev. John Lindsay of Whitby, a former pastor of the Presbyterian church. Pallbearers were: Herbert Lyons, James Gillespie, Wm. Bush, Russell Grundy and James Keys. Burial was made at Erin cemetery. Friends were present from Galt, Toronto; Jersey City, Cleveland; Guelph, Ferguson, Orangeville, Wallaceburg, Creemore, Alton, Georgetown, Hamilton and Fort Erie. Floral tributes were received from brothers, sisters and aunts, the Allan family, Galt children of Erin, Mr. and Mrs. W. Crouch, Erin; Lillis and Julie Hopedale Hatchery; Mr. and Mrs. R. Dead Men Do Tell Tales

THEIR lips are motionless, their voices stilled, but dead men—and women and children—do tell tales. Especially when death has come suddenly and brutally in an automobile accident.

Lifeless, mangled bodies, crushed under the wheels of a motor car, strewn about in a tangled mess of crumpled metal and shattered glass, tell grim, horrible tales.

They tell tales of needless death—death that was the result of carelessness, neglect, thoughtlessness or inconsideration, for those human weaknesses are responsible every time traffic on streets or country highways claims another life.

Few people seem to listen to the tales the dead tell, however. Perhaps it is because of the horror which must necessarily accompany their tales, but more often than not it is the ego in most people places them above their fellow men.

"It couldn't happen to me," they think, whether they say so or not. . . . But couldn't it? Show that ego into the background for a while and do some serious thinking. Then you may realize that you can be killed as easily as anyone else and that you also can kill. Of course, it isn't a pleasant thought, but it is true.

Death has no special preferences, when it comes to taking life in automobile accidents. Just give it a chance to strike—lapse into carelessness for a moment, overlook or defy some traffic regulation, or selfishly ignore some driver's or pedestrian's rights—and it will. And it will strike before you realize what is happening, suddenly and cruelly.

If you want to have a normal span of life, if you don't want to become a killer, drive and walk with care, courtesy and common sense.

Take heed of the tales dead men do tell.

DR. ARTHUR FIRSTBROOK

Following an accident that took place on Tuesday of last week, Dr. Arthur Firstbrook, 44, of Acton, died at the home of his parents there on Sunday. Deceased had the misfortune to fall from the back of a truck to the pavement on Mill street, Acton, and sustain severe head injuries. He had jumped on the back of a truck to ride a few blocks as the driver had stopped to make a turn. First intimation of the accident was when a companion got the driver to stop. Examination showed that he had received head injuries and he was rushed to the hospital in Guelph for treatment. He was unconscious when lifted from the pavement, but regained consciousness before reaching the hospital. Later in the week he was discharged with his condition reported as satisfactory. His condition, however, changed, and he passed away on Sunday. Dr. Firstbrook was born in Acton and received his education there and in Toronto. He served for three years with the 55th battery, and, following his discharge, graduated in dentistry in Toronto and practised for eight years. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon with interment being made in Fairview cemetery, Acton.

ASHGROVE LOG TOO BIG FOR SAW

One of the largest logs sawn in Wellington County in many years was sawn into lumber at D. L. Mundell's yard, 8th line, Erin, recently. The log was from a red oak tree, which was cut in the Ashgrove district in Halton county. Its circumference at the butt was sixteen feet, four inches and when cut in twelve-foot lengths it made slightly-over six hundred board feet of lumber. It was found necessary to split the stick in three pieces with dynamite before it could be placed on the carriage of the portable saw in use in the yard—Free Press.

News and Information For the Busy Farmer

Field Crop Report
Bruce County reports its wheat sample generally poor to fair with an occasional field yielding well with good quality. In Dufferin the crop is badly affected with rust and in Grey a similar condition has made the yield disappointing. Barley and oats prospects in the district are exceptionally good. Rust also did much damage in Wellington County, likewise in North Simcoe. In the latter county the crop of oats promised to be the best in five years, but a general outbreak of smut and army worm insects have reduced prospects to average. Wheat is running up to 40 bushels per acre in Brant, depending on the winter killing and rust. Haldimand also has a wheat crop running 40 bushels to the acre or better. The market for new grain in London is very low. A 3% decline in production of peas is indicated, with conditions so far very favourable for good sowing and clean fruit production. Tree and fruit development of peaches is excellent, with minimum of fungus or insect injury apparent. While some early varieties have shown split-pits, the condition is not expected to be more serious than usual. The preliminary forecast of yield places the crop at $15,200 bushels, as compared with $25,700 bushels last year. While the set of plums is very irregular, the existing crop is now developing well, with only normal drop having taken place. Pests are well under control. Production is expected to be about the same as a year ago. Condition of grapes is excellent for good development of berries, and vine growth, with hopper and other pests well controlled.

Bladder Campion
Bladder Campion is considered one of the most serious weed pests in Ontario by the Crop, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. It is difficult to kill owing to its deep fleshy rootstalks and the numbers of stems growing from 1 crown. The crown is often down six to twelve inches in the soil and this explains the difficulty in cutting it off with the plow and the need of deep plowing followed by a stiff toothed cultivator with wide shares which overlap. Roots and root stalks brought to the surface will not survive but any portion left in the soil with a bud attached, will produce a new plant. Thorough cultivation will eradicate Bladder Campion in cultivated areas. Chemical weed killers is the only practical solution if the weed is prevalent and cultivation impracticable. The first plant found on your property is a danger signal, says the Department. Eradicate it and save trouble later. The Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto, will gladly forward you free of charge a pamphlet on how to get rid of this dangerous pest. Write for it immediately.

Bladder Campion is sometimes misnamed "White Cockle" or "Catchfly". However, it can be easily identified by its freely branching stems, smooth leaves in pairs which meet around the stem, its white flowers found in loose clusters often drooping and its inflated bell-shaped calyx or pod. It is from this plant sometimes gets the name of Bladder Weed or Cow Bell. It is adapted to high land and soon becomes established if neglected.

Get after it now, is the best advice of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

ACTON

The engagement is announced of Winifred Isabel, only daughter of Mrs. John Knox and the late John Knox, of Milbank, to Charles Rupert Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, Rockwood. Marriage to take place the latter part of August.

It required nearly all the motor vehicle transportation available on Saturday afternoon when the employees of the Beardmore & Co. plant in Acton held their annual picnic at Edgewood Park, at Eden Mills. About five hundred participated in this event and spent a splendid afternoon in comic races and sports.

On Thursday evening the friends of Odessa Weaver and Dennis Hill, gathered at their future home in Limehouse and after an address by Mr. Gowdy, presented them with many lovely and useful gifts. A dainty lunch was then served by the ladies of Limehouse. Dancing followed, to music supplied by Messrs. Jack Scott and James Davies.

An unusual accident occurred last Thursday morning near Oustie, on the farm of George Poole, nine miles northwest of Rockwood, when two horses were struck dead by lightning. The animals were grazing in a pasture field, and were some distance apart. Suddenly a bolt of lightning flashed out of the sky, striking the animals and killing them instantly. A peculiar incident about the unfortunate accident is that when the animals dropped dead they were examined and not a mark was found on either of the bodies. Ten minutes before the lightning struck the spot, Mr. Poole had been in the field in the same place where the horses were standing—Free Press.
