THE GAME OF TRAFFIC

(For Children)
Out in the street and every day
There's a game of Traffic you learn to play,
And you have to be clever and keen
and fair
Or you'll never learn to be winner
there.

The trucks and the cars and the street-cars make
The "enemy" side that you have to take,
And the prize is Life and the prize is great.
But you've got to be smart with your head and feet!

Don't leave the curb with a car in sight
Unless by the signals you've got the right.
And "daring" a car in a city street
Just labels you "silly" and "fool" and "cheat."

If your ball goes bouncing before a car,
Don't follow it out where the dangers are.
You can get it again when the way is clear
But your chance is poor with a fast car near.

If you keep the rules and are fair and kind,
There's nothing in Traffic you need to mind,
And even the enemy side will say,
"He's a little guy, but he sure can play!"
—Anne Sutherland Brooks.

WATCH FIRE HAZARD ON CHRISTMAS TREE

A timely warning has been issued by the Industrial Accident Prevention Association of potential dangers in preparing Christmas decorations at home. Two many people, the Association warn, in the rush and bustle of setting up their multi-colored Christmas lights and wreaths forget to take reasonable precautions against the unseen danger there may be behind all the glistening and glitter.

Christmas tree lights that have been tucked away in the cellar since last year should be carefully examined to make sure the wiring is in good condition. Exposed wires may be overlooked and cause a short circuit which may lead to setting fire to the tree. Extension cords and wires strung about the room for temporary lighting should be carefully attached to the baseboards to avoid tripping and possible injury from falls. Be sure of your footing, the warning says, when putting the final decorations at the tip of the Christmas tree.

The holiday season puts a double responsibility on motorists, since the driver must not only concentrate on his own driving but keep a watchful eye for pedestrians, and other users of the road, whose holiday mood leads them to slacken their attention to the dangers of the road and take unnecessary chances.
