STOMACH SUFFERERS

Let Dr. McCormack's successful scientific remedy STOMACHIC, clear up your stomach trouble, like it has for so many others.

One user states: "For years I was troubled with a gnawing pain below the breast bone. It caused gas and bloating. I tried many remedies, but my only relief was soda, and that for a short time only. After meals it didn't bother me for a few hours, then, if I ate something, it stopped, coming again after some time. The pain bothered me worse at night. After taking three bottles of Dr. McCormack's Stomachic, I was free from pain. I kept on improving, and have now been well for four years, enjoying my meals without the aid of medicine. Stomachic is useful in overcoming gas, bloating, sour stomach, and other forms of indigestion. Sold by—

PETER EXHORTS TO CHRISTIAN LIVING

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson, March 19th, 1939

GOLDEN TEXT: "But as he which hath called you is holy, so be you holy in all manner of conversation." 1 Peter 1: 15.

LESSON PASSAGE: 1 Peter 3: 8-18.

When courage fails, and faith burns low.
 And men are timid grown,
 Hold fast thy loyalty, and know
 That Truth still smeth on.

And more than thou canst do for Truth
 Can she on thee confer,
 If thou, O heart, but give thy youth
 And manhood unto her.

Personal Conduct, 8, 9

The Bible never gets very far away from behaviour. The Old Testament prophets related the nature of God to the actions of men. Without shifting gears Paul could turn from a discussion of immortality to taking a collection for the poor. In the sermon on the Mount Jesus is dealing with human conduct. So far in this quarter we have been studying the life of Peter. In this lesson we read a letter that he wrote. In it he deals with Christian living. It had not been easy for Peter to learn to live as Christ would have him live. We therefore give greater heed to what he has to say about our personal relationships. He analyzes the ingredients of love—unity, sympathy, pity, courtesy, benedictions instead of maledictions. He affirmed that those who live in this spirit are a blessing and receive a blessing. It is to this quality of life that we are called. In describing the change that came upon the world with the spread of Christianity, Principal Rainy said "The life of goodness became an assured career." It is a career open to us all.

Social Procedure, 10 - 13

The standards of honour, loyalty and love that we learn in family life help us in the wider relationships of social life. We live in a community as well as in a home. There we fulfil varied functions as worker, voter, taxpayer and friend. It has come to be taken for granted that Christians will be good citizens, never fraudulent or violent. For preserving good will in our social relationships we must carefully guard our speech. Remember it is Peter of the impulsive speech who wrote words which all should memorize: "For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that he speak no guile." Our own peaceful attitudes help to guarantee our security. "Who is he that will harm you, if ye be followers of that which is good?"

Church Loyalty, 14 - 16

Church loyalty has an economic value. Active Christians require little from the state in the way of police supervision or jail accommodation. In the first century pagans who disbelieved the Christian faith found their Christians were good neighbours. The daily life was a recommendation of the faith. In the pioneer days of many sections of rural Canada, doors were left unlocked, business was done without collateral security and boundary lines between properties were often settled without any imported arbitrator—so general were the Christian standards of truthfulness and neighbourliness. What a contrast to bolted doors, barred windows, electrical burglar protection, burglary insurance, police cruising cars equipped with radio and carrying around several armed officers! Lack of character sends up our taxes.

A Clear Alternative, 17

We have a choice: we may choose to live a good life or a bad life. Usually sin brings suffering. The criminal is sent to a penitentiary. The drunkard drinks himself into poverty. The bully eventually gets beaten up. The trickster is distrusted. Right around us every day we see the unmistakable retribution upon evil. Yet goodness is sometimes unpopular and those who follow conscience faithfully may be defeated by grafters. A fearless preacher may be ousted by those who wish to compromise. A merchant who gives honest weights and measures may lose trade to a less scrupulous rival with catchy advertising. Well, wrote Peter, if one has to suffer, is it not much better to suffer for well doing than for evil doing? At least if we are true to conscience, we can preserve self-respect, public respect, and the inner sense that we have been true to the will of God. Many of the early Christians were persecuted but they remained true to Christ. In Europe today would we not prefer being persecuted to being a persecutor?

The Suffering Servant, 18

Dr. James Denney once remarked concerning how odd it would look to see in the New Testament some such statement as this: "I don't pretend to be a saint." It would be equivalent to saying that Christian discipleship was not taken very seriously. The first century Christians felt that they were "called to be saints" and they sought to live up to that call. "The life of goodness was their assured career." They were faithful to conscience because Christ had been faithful to conscience, even unto death. The cross as a symbol has moral power because Christ chose the hard instead of the easy way. Outwardly it looked like defeat. The cross meant shame, suffering, death. It was a sinner's ending. Yet through the cross there comes heroism, unselfishness, reconciliation to God, moral control, spiritual quickening. Abundant life comes through the sacrificial death of Christ. When will we really believe it, believe it enough to cease from self-seeking, overreaching, grasping greed and the secret conviction that possessions are more important than character.

Here are a number of carefully tested recipes suitable for parties given in honor of good Saint Patrick. In fact, these recipes will be found ideal for any meal around this time of year. Use any one of them and I predict that you will clip it for your permanent file.

Lemon Cocktail Sauce for Shell-Fish (Serves 6)
 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
 2 tablespoons tomato catsup
 1 teaspoon salt
 6 tablespoons lemon juice
 3/4 teaspoon tabasco sauce
 Blend well. Serve very cold over oysters or clams in cocktail glasses. Or serve in baskets made from lemon rind, with fish on half shell.

Chocolate Date Rennet-Custard
 1 package chocolate rennet powder
 1 pint milk
 20 dates
 Chop dates in small pieces and divide among 6 dessert glasses. Make rennet-custard according to directions on package. Pour at once over chopped dates. Let set until firm—about 10 minutes. Then chill in refrigerator.

Basta Fazole (a one dish meal)
 3 cups cooked, dried Lima's
 2 cups tomato sauce or strained tomatoes
 1 tablespoon chopped onion
 3/4 pound spaghetti
 6 tablespoons bacon fat
 1 teaspoon salt
 3/4 teaspoon pepper
 Cook the spaghetti in boiling salted water until soft and drain. Cook the onion in the fat, add tomato, Lima's and spaghetti.
Pineapple and Cream Cheese Salad
 1 package gelatin dessert (lime flavor)
 1 cup boiling water
 1 cup cold water
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 packages (8 oz.) cream cheese
 1 cup cream, whipped
 3 tablespoons green pepper, finely chopped
 3/4 cup shredded canned pineapple, drained
 Dissolve quick-setting gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water and salt; chill. Mash cream cheese and beat into gelatin mixture when it begins to thicken. Fold in whipped cream, pineapple and green pepper. Mold in square pan and cut in 12 squares. Garnish with lettuce and maraschino cherries. Serves 8.

St. Patrick's Cookies
 3 1/2 cups all purpose flour
 1 teaspoon baking powder
 1 cup butter
 1 cup sugar
 1 egg
 1 cup cottage cheese, drained
 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 Sift flour, measure and re-sift three times with baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar and continue creaming until blended. Beat in beaten egg and cottage cheese. Add nutmeg, lemon rind, vanilla and salt and stir to distribute. Last, stir in the flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on floured board and roll thin. Kneading in additional flour if necessary to keep from sticking. Cut with shamrock cutter and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 10 to 15 minutes or until delicately browned. For variation, lay one round cookie on baking sheet, place a little jam or preserved fruit in center and cover with a slightly smaller round, sealing by pressing together with fork. Yield: about 2 dozen cookies.

Drip Coffee
 Use one well rounded tablespoon, drip ground decaffeinated coffee for each cup (3/4 pint) of boiling water. Preheat drip coffee pot. Put coffee in upper compartment of pot. Pour fresh, bristly boiling water over it. Cover and let stand in warm place until all water has dripped through once. Remove upper compartment and cover pot. Serve.

If you will follow directions exactly your decaffeinated brew will meet the requirements of any coffee connoisseur and you can end the dilemma of coffee lovers who fear after dinner cups will interfere with their sleep.

Recipes For Party Success
 It's no problem to make a party "go" if you introduce the crowd to an exciting parlor game. That's "Me" is a hilarious new game that makes social ice melt like magic. Everyone from eight to eighty enjoys Monopoly, and Crossword Lexicon, the new card game that combines word building and crossword puzzle technique. The "Lone Ranger" or "Ferdinand the Bull" are board games that the juveniles love.
