YOUTH

I used to think old age a desert land,
A place of broken dreams and faint desires,
Of vanished friendships and of lonely days—
The banked grey ashes of life's early fires.
But now, as lightly down my footsteps go
Into that valley which they say is drear,
I find the banks are blue with violets,
And all the springtime birds are singing here!
I used to think my heart would be so sad,
'Twould spill its tears to see another smile.
But I am still a child of laughter Town.
Gay as the friend who walks with me
My smile!
I learn soul is as ageless as the dawn,
That all Love's messengers around me sing.
So walk serenely in a pleasant path,
Faint is the gentle replica of spring.

A TOAST

Oh, here's to the heart that can sing
at its work,
Be it office, or highway, or dishes;
That brightens each day with its
sweet-shining way,
And ladens the air with good wishes!
And here's to the lips that are ready
to smile,
Or to laugh at some good natured
flip;
That give, and can take, just for
gaiety's sake,
Each rollicking fun-laden quip.

Oh, best be the hearts that shed
brightness abroad,
Be it kindness, or joy, or just fun!
We need all these things; and when
love gives them wings,
The day's work is always well done.

"DEMOCRACY"

(Simcoe Reformer)

The word "democracy" may be one of the most overworked words in the English language today, but probably few people could give an adequate definition of it or explain what it means. Dr. Harry E. Fosdick, eminent New York divine, is authority for the following description of "democracy":
"Primarily, democracy is the conviction that there are extraordinary possibilities in ordinary people, and that if we throw wide the doors of opportunity so that all boys and girls can bring out the best that is in them, we will get amazing results from unlikely sources. Shakespeare was the son of a bankrupt butcher and a woman who could not write her name. Beethoven was the son of a consumptive mother, herself the daughter of a cook, and a drunken father. Faraday, one of the greatest scientific experimenters of all time, was born over a stable, his father an invalid blacksmith and his mother a common drudge. Such facts as these underlie democracy. That is why, with all its discouraging blunders, we must everlastingly believe in it."

BECKLESS DRIVING

A POOR GAMBLE

(Fort-Erie Times-Review)

It's difficult to guess at the motives which are impelling the driver who refuses to dim his headlights bulb in answer to a signal from an approaching car. In effect the operator of the approaching machine is saying: "Please, mister, your headlights are too bright for me to see the road. I've turned mine down, and now if you dim yours, we'll both be able to see. How about it?"
A driver has to be churchy indeed to refuse the appeal. And yet some citizens who are perfectly courteous in every other thing seem to forget their manners when they climb behind the wheel of a car.
The man who will patiently stand in line waiting his turn at a theatre entrance or a hockey game will become impatient if he is held up for a few seconds on the highway, and he will take chances that not only endanger his own life, but the safety of other drivers in the vicinity.
Automobiles have computed that an average adult of 35 has 17,000,000 minutes yet to live. So the gambling motorist who risks his life to save a minute in betting one against 17,000,000, and that is even a worse percentage than on slot machines.

SALADA TEA SENDS PLOWMEN TO BRITISH ISLES

Fine Offer Gladly Accepted

At the recent annual meeting of The Ontario Plowmen's Association held in Toronto, Salada Tea Company promised to make a substantial contribution towards the promotion of horse-plowing in this province — and in fact all Canada.

In Ontario County and Branch competitions each leading horse-plowman will be given a $10 cash prize and the privilege of competing in a special event in the International Plowing Match to be held this year in Brockville.

The Grand Champion and runner-up at Brockville will be awarded a gold and silver medal respectively and will both be sent to the Old Land in company with a manager to compete with the best in the British Isles.

In addition to the first and second prizes at the International Plowing Match—Salada is giving twelve other cash awards ranging from $25.00 to $5.00.

This friendly gesture to the farmers of Canada should be great news to every plowman in the land.

Resentment

The vicar and the squire were walking together after the morning service. Suddenly the vicar, very peeved, burst out:
"Did you hear Robinson snoring in church this morning?"
"Yes, I did," was the squire's reply.
"The scoundrel woke me up!"

Deserves Admiration
"Why do you admire that preacher so much?"
"Any man who can keep a flock of women quiet for an hour deserves admiration."

"But, my good man," said Mrs. Smith, dubiously, to the tramp at the door, "your story has such a hollow ring."
"Yes, ma'am. That's the natural result of speaking with an empty stomach."

Some people were visiting a couple, and happened to mention their dog, a big mongrel.
"He's just like one of the family," said the pup's proud mistress.
"Which one?" asked her hostess.
