Address of the Common People to King and Queen

By B. K. Sandwell in Saturday Night

Your Majesties:

We, the ordinary common, or garden people of Canada, desire to greet you. We desire to welcome you to our country - which is also your country because we are your people. We desire above all to assure you we know and are grateful that it is we, and not the great and mighty of this land who you have come to visit.

True, we shall not be presented to you; and names which are Jones and Herbert and Johnsen and Schneider and Strauss and Salvatore - will not be registered in the official diary of your tour nor on the tablets of your retrospective memory. Nevertheless, we are the people who are visiting with whom you dined at Rideau Hall or the five hundred at Hart House. These we know have been picked for you by the officials according to the rules of the game.

We are not jealous of them, for we know that you would much rather have dined with us - or, since there are rather too many of us, with a runner of the mine sample of us; say a farmer or two (yes, we are a bit sorry you are going to be short on farmers, they are still the backbone of this country, even if the backbone is a bit bent; with shouldering the national debt), a printer's foreman, an automobile mechanic, a corner grocer, a telephone switchboard operator, a professor of swine husbandry, and the man who mends the breaks in the Niagara transmission cables.

We wish you could go for a night run with the chap who drives the fastest motor truck between London and Toronto. We wish you could have a lunch with the girl who does the secretarial work for old - of the Manufacturing Company; you will meet him, but he won't tell you that he couldn't run the show without her assistance. We wish you could go to the bottom of the - Mine with Old Charlie, who has saved certain death because he knows the tricks of the old hole in the ground as a mother knows the tricks of her baby son. We wish you could take tea with the young wife of a young doctor up in the young Peace River country. We wish you could attend a meeting of one of the little Canadian Clubs, say in the Okanagan Valley. We think it would be nice if you could spend a day up in a fire-ranger's tower near the B.C. Alberta boundary, and just look out over ten thousand square miles of mountain forest with not a major or a provincial minister or a telegraph operator - and scarcely a human being nearer than twenty miles away. And we should have liked you to drop in for ten minutes at the meeting of the United Church Ladies' Aid Society of Sask.

We know that it was not possible that these things should be done, though we know also that you would have liked to have them done, if it had been possible; but we think they would have helped to do what you are coming to Canada for, namely, to know and understand your Canadian people. What can they know of Canada, who only official Canada know? And so, Your Majesties, for the next three weeks we resign you not with our deepest sympathy into the hands of official Canada which will see to it that you meet only the Best People - some of whom are very good and some not so good, but all of whom can be relied upon not to distract you out of the finger-bowls nor to slap you on the back and call you "Old Pal."

For ourselves, we shall be content to stand along your line of march and wave our little flags and cheer our little cheers - which collectively will make quite a good flag waving and quite a polite cheering, even, if we quite a noise from your line of march to wave our flags mentally and to cheer in imagination as we think of you passing by, it may be two or three hundred miles away, and yet nearer to us than any king and queen of Great Britain and of Canada have ever been before.

And one other thing, Your Majesties, we are emboldened to address you in these respectful but unconventional terms, because we believe that both by your short royal experience and by the long-developed instinct of the great families to which you each belong you are not unskilled in reading beneath the official veneer of the solid timber of popular feeling that lies below it. We believe that the cheers and the flag waving of us, the millions of the Canadian people who all line your paths will mean more to you than the conversation of the official dinner-parties and the resolutions loyal and we trust grammatical of the legislators and the aldermen, the bankers and the beef-barons and the boards of trade.

We are the people who will do the fighting for you when your Crown next needs to be defended by force of arms. We are the mothers who bring up the next generation of your Canadian people in love to your persons and loyalty to your throne. We are the men and women whose brain and brawn keep the life of this your Dominion going, so far as official Canada will let us.

We are the people you have come to visit. We welcome you to your own.

OBITUARY

DANIEL LAWSON

Residents of this, Mimosa, community were shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden passing of one of Eramosa Township's best known and most highly respected citizens in the person of the late Daniel Lawson, who died at his home, Lot 22, Erin and Eramosa town line, on Friday morning, May 19th. Although Mr. Lawson had been in poor health for some months, he had been going about doing light duties around the farm until the day before his death. Heart trouble, which has claimed the lives of so many farmers in this locality in recent months, was the cause of his untimely passing. Mr. Lawson was a thrifty and capable farmer, one of the best of neighbors, and was well liked by all who knew him.

Born in Limestone fifty-four years ago, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lawson. When he was four years old, his father died, and his mother and five children moved to Acton.

During his early manhood, Mr. Lawson was employed as a teamster with Beardmore & Company, Acton. Twenty-nine years ago he married Nellie Torrance, and shortly afterward the young couple moved to the farm, they have occupied since.

They remain to mourn his loss, his widow; one daughter, Mrs. Garnet Petty, Rockwood; also a brother, William, South Qu'Appelle, Sask.; three sisters, Mrs. Thos. Wren, Toronto; Mrs. Donald McGregor, Guelph, and Mrs. Alex. McGregor, Acton.

The funeral service was held in the home on Sunday afternoon, and was largely attended by sympathizing neighbors and friends. Rev. A. L. Atton, pastor of Mimosa United Church, officiated. Services in the home and at the graveside, interment being made in the Res. Cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. Roy Lawry, Steven Davis, Clarence Beck, Fred Cox, R. J. Robertson and Harry Grant.

The beautiful floral tributes were borne by four nephews, Allan Gordon, Kenneth McGregor, Bertram Torrance and John McGregor. To the bereaved widow, daughter and other immediate relatives, the sincere sympathy of the community is extended. -Free Press.
