McCUMBER-MULHOLLAND WEDDING

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized in St. George's Church, Georgetown, at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, June 10th, when Kath...

EDNA JANE McCLURE WEDS HILTON DAVIS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McClure, Brampton, was the setting for a pretty wedding when their daughter, Miss Edna Jane McClure, was married to Mr. James Hilson Davis, son of Mrs. Davis and the late Clinton Davis, Brampton. Rev. Arthur Leggett of Norval officiated, and Rev. Norman McMillan of Caledonia, played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of queen's blue sheer over taffeta, and carried Briarcliff roses. Miss Kate McCollman of Thornbury, her bridesmaid, was in mauve and carried blue cornflowers. Mr. Clayton Davis was groomsmen for his brother. After a reception, Mr. and Mrs. Davis left by motor for Rochester, the bride travelling in a printed chiffon frock with biscuit coat and dusky rose hat.

YOUNG-NODWELL WEDDING

On Saturday, June 3rd, at two o'clock, Jean Christine Nodwell, younger daughter of Mr. Edward Nodwell and the late Mrs. Nodwell, of Hillsburg, became the bride of William Douglas Young, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Young, 9th Line, Erin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, entered the living room to the strains of Lobengrin, played by the groom's sister, Miss Jean Young. The bride wore white net, trimmed with blue and carried a bouquet of white roses and blue bachelor buttons. Her attendants were her little niece, Miss Francis Gray, gowned in a blue net frock and carrying a basket of pink sweet peas and lily-of-the-valley, and Miss Ruth Bacon as bridesmaid, gowned in pink and net with a bouquet of pink snapdragons.

The groom was attended by his cousin Mr. Jack Sinclair. Rev. W. G. Charlton, of Hillsburg, officiated. After the ceremony the wedding party sat down to a wedding breakfast. The happy couple then left on a motor trip to Rochester, N.Y., the bride travelling in coral knitted suit with navy accessories. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm, lot 25, 9th line, Erin.

TRIMBLE-CHARLTON VOWS

Grace Anglican Church, Milton, was the scene of a quiet wedding when Miss Gladys Charlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Charlton of Milton, became the bride of Mr. Gordon T. Trimble, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Trimble of Horoby. Canon L. J. R. Nafel officiated and Mr. A. Charlton was groomsmen.

The bride wore a street-length dress of blue crepe and grey accessories. She carried Talkman roses and lily-of-the-valley. Miss Mildred Hill, Peru, in violet sheer, was bridesmaid. After a wedding trip to the United States they will reside in Milton.

JEAN ROBERTSON WED TO ELMER F. CHISHOLM

At her parents' home in Milton on Saturday afternoon, June 10th, Miss Jean Campbell Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Robertson, became the bride of Mr. Elmer Frank Chisholm, son of Mr. Leonard W. Chisholm and the late Mrs. Chisholm of Milton. Rev. Frank Lawson officiated and Miss Jessie Colville, Hamilton, the bride's cousin, played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in rosebud pink triple sheer over taffeta with matching hat. Her bouquet was lily-of-the-valley and forget-me-not. Her bridesmaid was Miss Cora I. Lush, in Queen's blue. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. J. Lloyd Robertson. A reception followed, the bride's mother and the bridegroom's aunt receiving; after which the happy couple left for a trip to New York.

ed six innings for the Georgetown club, but failed to have the "zip" on the ball. It had in previous games, while Smith in the seventh had no control and little experience, and threw the game away. McDermid did the hurrying for Oakville, and while at times it looked as though he might have to retire, he managed to squeeze through and win the game.

While both teams had equal number of hits, each counting 12, Georgetown proved weaker in the field and took the count for 8 errors to Oakville's 1. It was on these errors that Oakville were able to chalk up a good lead in the early part of the game.

Smith is the heavy hitter on the Georgetown team, sending the horsehide for three triples, while Carter and Markey for the visitors also had a triple. Oakville also had a double play.

On Saturday afternoon up in Acton all the Georgetown team was allowed in a nine inning affair. The first two runs, 5 errors, and a catcher with a very badly cut finger. The Tanners were too much for the local team, so strong in fact that it looked as though they might blank the blue and white. However, they rallied in the ninth to get on the score sheet. The score at the end of the game being 10-2 in favor of the Acton team.

Gordon, pitcher for the Tanners, was Georgetown's stumbling block, when he allowed only 2 hits. The local team went out practically in order until the eighth innings when they managed to get the bases full, only to have Smith, the mighty Casey on the team, strike out and retire the side. In the ninth they scored twice on a hit, a walk and 2 errors.

Acton was strong in the first innings and scored three times on a walk, 2 hits and an error. They did not score again until the sixth, when they counted 4 runs on two doubles, two singles and an error. Again in the seventh they added three more runs on three hits and an error. Brydon started for Georgetown on the mound, but retired in favor of McNally in the seventh. Gordon went all the way for Acton.

Bill Ritchie, catcher for the local squad had the misfortune to have a finger badly cut by the ball and required several stitches.

NATIVE OF CALEDON ANDREW BATES DIES

HAD FARMED IN TRAFALGAR TOWNSHIP

Founder of the firm of Bates & Dadds, funeral directors, Andrew Bates, an ex-Alderman of Toronto, died suddenly Thursday last from a heart attack at his home, 78 Glenwood Avenue, in his ninety-first year. Although retired from active work for many years, his name was still associated with the business.

Born in a log cabin on Caledon Mountain, he was the son of the late Thomas and Catherine Bates. In 1872 he married Eliza Smith, whose father, a volunteer, had the distinction of having awakened General Brock the morning of the day on which he was killed at Queenston Heights. For some years Mr. Bates farmed in Trafalgar township. Going to Toronto in 1886, in co-operation with John Dadds he founded a funeral directors' company. He and his partner were among the first shareholders in the Park Lawn Cemetery.

For seventy years he was active in church work, formerly the Methodist and later the United Church. For more than half a century he had been a member of and Bible class teacher of the United Church. Mr. Bates served as Alderman for Ward 5 in 1895-96. He was a supporter of the Y.M.C.A. and known as a friend to the needy. During his declining years he spent the greater part of his time in his "Sunshine Villa," Glenwood Avenue, and delighted in his hobby of gardening.

Mrs. Bates died five years ago. There are no immediate survivors.

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Spectator
Ottawa, June 13—Silence reigns at the house of parliament. Legislators of both houses have left for their homes and constituencies or for holidays to recuperate from their seasonal labors and possibly to get ready for an autumn election. The closing days of the session were pretty strenuous. Members were at their task from morning till late at night, passing bills and estimates. Human nature being what it is, there will always be important legislation over all the very last minute, and this was the cause of much of the controversy that raged during the last day of the session particularly in the Senate over the mortgage bank bill. On the other hand a bill of this importance takes time to mature and to form in the minds of those who originate them. In this case the Minister of Finance and his associates—and undoubtedly the bill was not in shape to present to the house in the early days of the session. In any event the mortgage bill is now on the statute books.

The Royal Visit
In the case of the members from Western Ontario, Southern Quebec and the Maritimes, the session of course ended in time for these parliamentarians to take part in the reception to Their Majesties, when the Itinerary of the King and Queen would reach Eastern Canada. It will undoubtedly be very gratifying to federal ministers and members from Eastern Canada to be able to join with provincial leaders in showing the King and Queen on the final stages of their journey before embarking for Great Britain how pleased and proud Canadians are at the wonderful reception accorded the monarchs not only in Canada but in the United States. The session just passed through will undoubtedly possess a special significance because of the royal visit.

Some Measures Passed During Session
In addition to the mortgage bill which has as its main object the reconstruction of the whole urban and rural mortgage system of the country on a healthier basis, outstanding measures of the session were those embodying the new agricultural program. This legislation embraced all branches of the agricultural industry: it provided means to encourage co-operative marketing, and aimed at establishing a broad industrial base for those engaged in primary production, ensuring them a minimum level of subsistence. The price for wheat was guaranteed at seventy cents f.o.b. Fort William, the guarantee on an equivalent basis being extended to all Canadian wheat producers. Combined with this wheat acreage bonus bill to prevent distress among those whose crops were destroyed. There were measures in the program to encourage and improve cheese manufacture and to aid other branches of the dairy trade. An act provided for the establishment of a board which will supervise and the marketing of salt fish, a business that has been injured by competition from countries where the export trade in salt fish received very considerable government assistance. An appropriation was also provided to bonus the salt fish trade.

Defence Appropriations
A vital feature of the session was the passing of appropriations of 63 million dollars for national defence. This is the largest sum that has so far been provided for defence in peace time. The minister, Mr. Mackenzie, whose department has been under continued bombardment of criticism on account of the Bren Gun contract, with a wide divergence of opinion as to the merits of that contract, gave a clear explanation to the House of Commons of Canada's defence needs. A considerable proportion of the money appropriated will be used in the air arm, a branch of military defence in which Canadians have already shown their outstanding ability, and which will play such an important role in a future defence measure. In a number of cases where the funds were for unavoidable reasons tenders could not be asked. Close to the end of the session also an act was passed which made more stringent the laws against espionage in Canada. The Act to amend the Official Secrets Act was modelled to a large extent on laws in the United Kingdom which have been in operation for some years. With the ratification of the trade agreement with the United States which reduced import tariffs on a wide range of commodities, the budget in the face of business uncertainty in the world, made a few additional changes in import rates. The excise tax of three per cent on imports was removed, however, from all imports except those coming in under the general tariff. The budget also, it will be recalled, endeavored to encourage industry through the remission of income tax over a period of years to an amount equivalent to ten per cent of the cost of improvement and additions made to plant and machinery.

The Canadian Air Line
During the session this country took steps to keep abreast of the world's progress in aviation. An Act was passed to give effect to international rules and regulations in relation to air carriage in Canada. Eastern Canada will shortly be brought into the orbit of the Trans-Canada Airways. In short time the route across the Atlantic will be in operation complementing another link in the all red air lines circumnavigating the globe.

of Parliament and commission members, will participate in this celebration. These are the words of the Master of men, the statement of a principle of judgment, the sanity and justice of which is unquestioned. Applying this principle of judgment to the social custom of using alcohol as a beverage, what must be the verdict? What is the effect upon the individual and the community? Let us re-consider some of the facts. Alcohol is a drug, which by its narcotizing effect impairs the functioning of the brain and nervous system. This is the FUNDAMENTAL FACT which explains all resultant evils. Impairment of "discretion, judgment and self-control," and of efficiency in every line of effort, bring in turn, dire consequences to individual and community in the form of accident, crime, disease, poverty and death. Is the questionable pleasure obtained through the TEMPORARY escape from more or less disagreeable reality (which escape results from the paralyzing of brain and nerve) worth the price which must be paid, paid not only by the drinker himself, but by the community? Even the abstainer is not exempt from some of the evil consequences of the indulgence of his fellow citizens. We are told that the principle underlying the making of law in British democracies is the subordination of individual interest or liberty to the welfare of the people as a whole. The legal question which must then be faced is how best to protect the community against a social menace which is undoubtedly a social menace of tremendous seriousness. (This is the closing article in a series prepared by representative citizens with the purpose of stimulating consideration of problems arising from the use of alcoholic beverages.) It is planned to continue this educational work in the fall, when the viewpoints of different citizens will be presented. The committee would welcome any CONSTRUCTIVE criticism or comment upon the subject. Address: Mrs. C. E. Dayfoot, Georgetown, Ontario, Temperance Education Committee.—Adv.

WORK TO COMMENCE IN JULY
Work will be commenced on the Shand dam at Fergus as the first step of the scheme proposed by the Grand River Conservation Commission, "as soon as possible," it was announced at a meeting of that organization. The contract for the huge project was let to the Rayner Construction Company of Toronto, for $614,341.10. The tender of the Rayner Company was that recommended by Dr. H. G. Acres, commission engineer, as the most favorable. "I never was so surprised at prices as at those submitted for this project," stated Dr. Acres, explaining that they compared favorably with prices obtained for similar work in the United States. It was pointed out that even if the commission has to pay all the C.P.R. has asked for re-routing a section of its line between Orangeville and Elora, near Belwood, and prices asked by Luther farmers and Belwood residents, the total cost will still be $300,000, under the original estimate. Fitting ceremony, as suggested by Commissioner Hugh Tomlin of Fergus, will mark the turning of the first sod for the dam as soon after July 1 as possible. Federal and Provincial Cabinet Ministers, as well as members
