42nd ANNUAL W.C.T.U. CONVENTION AT OAKVILLE

The Church in Quebec in inaugurating a campaign of temperance education in all parishes, and she noted also the increase of outspoken criticism in the legislature against the present law and its deplorable results. We, as Protestants, should live up to our name and be active in bringing the necessary pressure to bear in support of all forces working for the welfare of the community.
A most enjoyable variation in the program was the vocal selection rendered by the Oakville ladies' trio.
The Quiet Hour, which brought to a close the afternoon's program, was led by Mrs. J. P. Sutcliffe (Georgetown) who brought a message of encouragement and inspiration, reminding us that though the waves of doubt, discouragement and resentment may threaten to submerge the ships of faith, hope and love, when we seek the presence of the Captain of our Salvation. His voice will calm the troubled waters of the soul and speak peace and courage for the journey of life.
The White Ribbon Tea served by the Oakville Union provided a delightful opportunity for a social hour, truly a feast of good things in every respect. The evening session opened with a devotional period led by Rev. D. H. Gallagher, pastor of St. John's, with music provided by the church choir.
A very interesting model temperance lesson (illustrated) by Mrs. R. E. Colwell, and a well-rendered skit by the Burlington United Church Mission Band, preceded the address of the evening given by Dr. George Little of Toronto.
In a forceful and informative way Dr. Little dealt with the legislative aspect of the Liquor Control Act, which, as it is at present carried out, works at cross purposes with the many commendable efforts of the government for community good. The Department of Education teaches the children of our schools the evil effects of the use of alcohol, and the Liquor Commission permits and encourages the establishment of saloons to inculcate drinking habits, for such in effect the

The Minister of Highways in his campaign for safe driving says "If you drive don't drink" and the Liquor Control Department dots the highway with beer rooms to tempt men to ignore such injunction.
The Health Department spends millions for the treatment of tuberculosis, insanity, venereal and other diseases for the prevalence of which the use of intoxicants is more or less responsible, as was pointed out recently in the legislature by Dr. Harold E. Welsh.
The problems of the Attorney General's Department, that of law enforcement are greatly complicated by the presence in our midst of liquor so easily obtainable. Some say things must get worse before they will be better. "How much worse?" is the question Dr. Little left with us.
A pleasing feature of the evening's program was the presentation of prizes to the winners in the Public School Essay and Poster Contest and in the examinations in Temperance knowledge conducted in the Sunday School.
On behalf of the committee the following resolutions were presented by Mrs. A. R. Vannatter, Georgetown, and endorsed by the convention:
1. That we request the government not to permit the opening of any more places where liquor may be obtained.
2. That we give more time and attention to the education of mothers along the lines of temperance, that they may be able to instruct their children.
3. That we petition our Dominion government to refrain from any action that would assist Japan in her undeclared war against China.
With thanks to all who had so kindly contributed to the success of the convention, the meeting adjourned the place of next year's gathering to be arranged for by the executive.

Simple Stuff

(By Edward Wodson)
A LECTURE

Something he'd seen in the paper started Corydon lecturing at the club the other night.
"I'm getting on in years, boys," he began, "and I'm finding that life is mostly journeying in a circle. A man ends generally where he began. He doesn't change much — neither does a goat in spite of living for sixty years with Southdown sheep."
When I was a youngster we had to go to a Band of Hope meeting every week. Some of the talkers there were orators I can tell you. One had a voice that made the dithers run down my back like the tones of a saxophone. And he knew it — and played it for all he was worth.
"I'd sit shivering as he told story after story about the sorrows of a drunkard's children. I was too proud to show what I felt at the time — but I'd cry myself to sleep when I got to bed.
And I'd grit my teeth and ask God to put all the devils to death — like teacher told us Julius Caesar did to captives who wouldn't have Roman liberty."
When I grew up I found that it wasn't booze but the booze that made life bad for little children. I also found that if booze had killed hundreds, automobiles have killed thousands — and are killing more every day.
But notice they didn't put Henry Ford to death at the World's Fair last week when the crowds saw him looking at the twenty-seventh million Ford car on show there!
And now they're starting all over again about the "wicked booze." I guess more little boys will be crying themselves to sleep thinking about the drunkard's family.
Or will they? I wonder?
It may be that little boys today have more intelligence than they had when I was young. I took this booze talk as deadly serious stuff — most of my pals laughed, and they've grown up into fine citizens every one of them.
But I give you my word, boys, I'm not going to cry myself to sleep like I did when I was a youngster.
"I'm going to set professional orators and uplifters straight. It's up to them now. Here's hoping!"

Next Sunday Rev. Dr. E. M. Morrow will deliver his farewell sermons, concluding four years of successful work in the United Church here. He removes the following week, with Mrs. Morrow and Miss Jean and Sylvia, to the new field in Preston. He will be succeeded by Rev. G. Clifford Gifford, B. A., of Preston.
Among University graduates of whose success many readers will be glad to learn is that of Dr. John McDougall, who graduated in Medicine this year, and has received his degree. He is a son of Mrs. Jennie and the late Malcolm McDougall, of Acton. We understand Dr. McDougall will be attached to the staff of a Hamilton hospital. Acton friends and many others offer hearty congratulations. — Free Press.
