Do You Want a Position?

You Do!
May We Help You?

YOUNG PEOPLE:

The language of Emerson transcribed into business language, means; if you can do something better than other people, you can get a position.

As our chief aim is to place our graduates, we limit our classes to a number that we are reasonably sure of placing. Each year as the superiority of our graduates becomes better known, we take in more territory. This year, we have increased our staff and we can accommodate ten young ladies and two young men from Georgetown and vicinity.

We offer:

- HIGH STANDARDS,
- EXPERT, INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION
- LOW RATES
- GUARANTEED EMPLOYMENT SERVICE.

We reserve the right to refuse to enroll anyone not considered by us, to be a satisfactory business type.

It is our aim to spend very little money on the obtaining of students, but, to use all means to train and place our students. You will help us to render this service if you will mail the attached coupon to

Letters to the Editor

Often the question is raised, and demands an answer, as to how much a newspaper editor should permit his own personal views to enter into the question of publishing these so-called "letters to the editor," under the heading of correspondence.

All letters in this paper are printed only under our observation and we do not necessarily endorse the views of the writers. And we mean that. Furthermore, there are times when we heartily disagree with these letter-writers, but this being a newspaper in a free country, we go on and print the letters just the same. For this is the British way.

Of course we print letters that offend us just as much as they may offend other readers of this paper, but one thing is certain—we know who writes them, because they all must be signed. And that is important. Letters, like all other matter that reaches this office without a name signed to them, find a welcome place in our waste paper basket.

But as a newspaper editor he cannot in most cases close his columns to written discussion even though, as we said before, such discussion may offend and be entirely out of step with our own personal views and opinions.

"If a man has good corn, or wood or boards, or pigs to sell, or can make better chairs, or knives, crucibles or church organs, than anybody else, you will find a broad hard-beaten road to his house, though it be in the woods."

Baseball Team Won and Lost Last Week

DEFEATED BY OAKVILLE 14 - 7 - WON FROM ACTON 13 - 5

The league leading Oakville baseball team came to town last Thursday evening and defeated the local boys 14 - 7 in rather a ragged game. While Brydon pitched fairly good ball for Georgetown, he was not given much support and errors attributed to the local downfall. Nine errors were chalked up for Georgetown, while Oakville had 4.

Towards the end of the game the Georgetown team started to touch Havill, the Oakville pitcher, but Cibbe went to the mound and finished the game in grand style to stop the local hope of a rally.

Oakville — 2532002-14 4
Georgetown — 0101320-7 9

Up in Acton on Saturday afternoon Murray Edward pitched his team to victory over the Tanners by a 13 - 5 score. This is the third defeat Acton have suffered at the hands of Georgetown this year, so it looks as though they have the Tanners fixed.

Cripps started on the mound for Acton, but gave way to Morton, while Exand went the distance. Georgetown earned 23 hits, while Acton were held to 11. Brydon and Halpin both slammed out a triple, while Tost had a double. Waterhouse got the only extra base hit for Acton—a triple.

Georgetown — 01041142-13 23
Acton — 21001001-5 11

The next game here will be staged to-morrow (Thursday) night when Milton will be the visiting team.

CORRESPONDENCE

Georgetown, July 25th, 1939.
To the Editor of the Georgetown Herald.

Dear Mr. Editor:
Let me express our gratitude to you for opening the columns of your valued paper to us that we may inform the eleven hundred citizens of Georgetown and the surrounding community whom we represent of developments in the establishing of a brewer's warehouse in our town.

Shortly after the delegation waited on the Liquor Commissioner, a letter was received from him stating that according to his promise he had reviewed the situation, had made enquiries, had received a petition signed by citizens of Georgetown asking for the establishment of the warehouse, and that he had granted the authority for a warehouse.

Your committee met and decided to address a letter to the Liquor Commissioner protesting strongly against the partial fulfillment of his promise and requesting another interview with him. On July 18th another letter was received stating in part as follows:

"After your deputation called on me, I reviewed the whole situation as promised, had numerous enquiries made, and received a petition which seemed to me to be very representative" and to reject one signed by eleven hundred citizens—says so. Our local provincial member, who expressed to the delegation in the Commissioner's office his deep sympathy with temperance principles, and as proof of these principles boasted proudly of having established five beverage rooms in Oakville—and what doubting Thomas could reject such gilt-edged proof as that—he says so. And some misguided people of Georgetown who through some strange process of reasoning or unreasoning have tried to persuade themselves that the more money you pour into the bottomless coffers of the brewers the more you will have to buy bread and butter for the boys and girls—they say so. And who pays? For "the trade" must live and to live must have drinkers, and for every new selling centre demands more drinkers. What does it matter to "trade" that our young men and women be shackled with the drink habit, that handicaps them in the great adventure of life? What matters that the bodies of men, women and little children are mangled and broken on our highways? "The trade must live." Who pays? You parents will pay heavily, not only in the gold of the realm, but in the tarnished gold of happiness, success and purity of your boys and girls. Yes, you pay.

So it is evident that the brewers' warehouse is coming to Georgetown. The brewers say so, according to a statement made by the Liquor Commissioner to the deputation that waited on him. A government that is pushing the sale of liquor among our people for the sake of revenue says so. A one man Liquor Control Board whose conception of democratic principles is so slight as to lead him to accept a petition "which seemed to be very representative" and to reject one signed by eleven hundred citizens—says so. Our local provincial member, who expressed to the delegation in the Commissioner's office his deep sympathy with temperance principles, and as proof of these principles boasted proudly of having established five beverage rooms in Oakville—and what doubting Thomas could reject such gilt-edged proof as that—he says so. And some misguided people of Georgetown who through some strange process of reasoning or unreasoning have tried to persuade themselves that the more money you pour into the bottomless coffers of the brewers the more you will have to buy bread and butter for the boys and girls—they say so.

And who pays? For "the trade" must live and to live must have drinkers, and for every new selling centre demands more drinkers. What does it matter to "trade" that our young men and women be shackled with the drink habit, that handicaps them in the great adventure of life? What matters that the bodies of men, women and little children are mangled and broken on our highways? "The trade must live." Who pays? You parents will pay heavily, not only in the gold of the realm, but in the tarnished gold of happiness, success and purity of your boys and girls. Yes, you pay.

Signed on behalf of the Local Branch of the Ontario Temperance Federation.

Simple Stuff

(By Edward Woodson)
THE FARMER

I never met a man who was a farmer for the money he got out of the farm. I meet scores of men in industrial, commercial, financial, and professional occupations who'd quit their present jobs in five minutes if another offered with more dollars in it. They boast of it—and the world calls them smart!

I never met a farmer who chose farming because the work was easy, with short hours and long week-ends and nice clean convenient surroundings.

But I've heard men talk at luncheons and dinners, who had become distinguished bankers and directors and presidents and things like that. They told their audiences that the happiest days of their life had been spent on the farm that raised them.

One bank president said he'd been sorry all his life that he'd forsaken the farm for the alleged glories of the city. "That may have been a luncheon and quite untrue. But I believed him—and still believe him."

Why does the farmer stick to his job when most other men quit their's for more money? Simply because he is a son of the soil who is loyal to the call of heritage. The tang of Mother Earth at the back of his throat gets him.

Put him in a factory—in an office—on a city street. The tang persists. It has nothing to do with intellect—or reason—or logic—or mathematics. It is in the blood, born of "The hazy call of incense breathing morn." He must obey it—or stifle it in a factory or a store or an office and be a liar to himself the rest of his life.

It is no pretty story that God Almighty put the first real man in a garden. It is the fact. The garden might have been a factory—or a bank—or a store. But it wasn't. It was a garden as every farm is a garden.
And the farmer remembers. When he forgoes and quits the end of all things is in sight. For the king himself catch of the fruit of the field.

ERIN

Several citizens in Erin have very attractive homes, lawns and gardens. While the season has been conducive to good results, these citizens are to be commended for their industry and investment that makes so many people happy besides themselves.

At a meeting of the directors of the Erin Agricultural Society, on Monday evening it was decided to hold a birthday party and concert in the Agricultural Arena, Erin, on Wednesday evening, August 16th. The fair to be held in the fall will be the ninetieth anniversary of the holding of the fair, and President John Robb will have a birthday cake large enough for all to receive a treat at the party to mark the ninetieth anniversary.

"I don't think I've slowed down very much although I'll be one hundred years old on the last day of this month, and I've taken part in 83 Orange parades," boasted James Gilbert Walker, of Mono, believed to be Ontario's oldest Orangeman, who attended the Arthur celebration on July 12th. Mr. Walker was born near Barrie and joined the order when 16 years of age, at Hockley. On the 12th, he wore the badge of that lodge, No. 466.—Advocate.
