Copper Cliff Midgets Arrive in Town Today

OPEN BASEBALL SERIES AT PARK TOMORROW NIGHT

The long-awaited midget baseball series between Copper Cliff and Georgetown will open at the park here tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m. The team from the north will arrive in town to-night, and will spend tomorrow getting into shape for the games. Reports state the Copper Cliff team is very strong, but the Georgetown midgets will also field a well-balanced team.

The second game will be played at the park on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 and should a third game be necessary to decide a winner, it will be played on Monday night.

There is no doubt in the minds of those in charge, but what every ball fan in Georgetown will be out to these games. The only way to get a senior team in town is to support the boys. So let everyone come out.

Action Eliminate Locals For Intermediate Title

Action Intermediates outclassed the local baseball nine in two straight games, to take the Intermediate 'B' title for Halton County.

Up in Action on Saturday afternoon a fair crowd saw the Tanners trim the Georgetown boys 9 to 6 in an nine inning affair. Ezzard and Ritchie were the batteries for Georgetown, while Gordon and Anderson did the chores for Action.

On Monday night at the park here, the Action team meted out another severe trouncing to the tune of 13-4. This was the second game of the play-offs for the title, and Action took it handily. Brydon and Ritchie were Georgetown batteries, Ryder and Anderson for Action.

We wish the Action team the best of luck in their future games in the O. B. A. playdowns.

HALTON HOLSTEIN BREEDERS TO STAGE SPECIAL SHOW

A special Holstein Show open only to the County of Halton is to be staged this year in conjunction with the Milton fair on Sept. 30th. An excellent prize list has been prepared and committees are already at work to get out a worthwhile exhibit. It is anticipated that between 75 and 100 head will be on display. The County Club has also entered a herd in the Inter-County class at the C.N.E. Animals have been selected from the herds of T. L. Leslie & Son, John Hunter, and Robinson Bros., all of Georgetown; J. L. Neelds & Son, Emerson Ford, both of Hornby; W. B. Somerset and Irwin Shepherd of Freeman, and W. S. Dickenson and Leslie Peer of Milton.

FIRST HENRY REUNION HELD AT ORANGEVILLE

The first reunion of the Henry family was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lundy, Orangeville, on Saturday, with more than eighty-three members present. Mr. W. H. Henry was master of ceremonies during the dinner served on the lawn. The oldest member of the family, W. J. Henry of Milton, 83 years of age, was presented with a gift. Arnold and Allan Holmes, the 2-year-old twins of Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes, Mono Township, were the youngest present.

Miss Margaret J. Henry told the story, as she heard it from her father, of the coming to Canada from Ireland of the family who settled at Cheltenham. Ronald Lundy, 7-year-old son of the host, gave a reading; Gordon Graydon, M.P. for Peel county, spoke of the contribution that the Henry family had made in the early settling of Ontario.

Officers for 1940 are: Honorary president, W. H. Henry, Cheltenham; president, W. J. Henry, Primrose; secretary, Mrs. W. McFadden, Milton; treasurer, Mr. J. Mitchell, Toronto.

In the NEWS of the Week

Slot machine gambling is likely to become soon a topic of strong conversations in and around the attorney-general's office at Queen's Park. There may be repercussions in the Legislature a little later on.

From a reputable commercial traveler, it was learned this week that literally hundreds of these machines are being operated quite openly throughout Ontario with little opposition from police authorities. He reports that youngsters in their early teens put in their nickels, dimes and quarters as well as adults—and while adults are looking on.

For those who are not initiated, it should be explained that the slot machine is a device by which you put your money and pull a lever. You may get nothing back; you may get back three coins, or eight, or, if you are very lucky, a "jackpot" which often reaches a total of two dollars. It is a straight gamble along similar principles as those of the roulette wheel.

The organization behind these machines has planted units in practically every summer resort throughout the province. In an area close to one of the smaller Muskoka lakes there are five operating on the counters of small refreshment stands. You can see them being played from the main road skirting the lake. Out on the highway, two or three miles away, there is another slot machine operated in plain view of provincial policemen who patrol the road.

Such a defiance of the law is bound to come to a head before many more days have passed.

As this column predicted some weeks ago, the question of whether or not Canada should lower the bars against immigration is becoming a very live one. Latest public man to reintroduce the subject is C. L. Burton of the Robert Simpson Company. He believes that one of the solutions to Canada's difficulties is a larger population. And his views were soon published through Attorney-General Constant backed him up.

Then at the Canadian Institute on Economics and Politics being held at Orillia, G. Raymond Booth, secretary of the Canadian National Committee on Refugees, urged the appointment of a non-partisan and representative migration board with the responsibility of inviting up to 200,000 refugees to Canada within the next twelve months.

Remarks of the week:

"Within a few years Canada would be under a system of Government more closely resembling fascism than democracy."—B. K. Sandwell of Toronto Saturday Night.

"You are suffering from the cruel, brutal, narrow competitive system that obtains throughout the country."—A. W. Roebuck, M.P.P., addressing retail cleaners.

And as the radio announcer might say, these opinions expressed are those of the individual only.

With complaints prevalent that certain towns and villages in Ontario maintain traps for unwary motorists, general relief will be felt by the announcement of Attorney General Constant that a new experimental highway patrol scheme has been adopted. The province will be zoned in three districts—western, central and eastern. A specially qualified provincial officer with the rank of sergeant is appointed to the immediate supervisory control and direction of each. By this change it is hoped to ensure that a maximum of time is spent in the actual patrol of the highways.

The great Canadian National Exhibition opens its gates this week and the current of enthusiasm running throughout all the preparations of the two weeks program is marked. There is little doubt that when the finale is over, there will be another surplus chalked up and another year of achievement written into the long history of the fair.

With conditions brightening a little for the farmers of the country, fair directors are anticipating a larger attendance than ever from the rural areas and an increase in the entries for the various agricultural events.

This situation is in direct contrast to the experience of the two big world fairs now being conducted in the United States, where both in San Francisco and New York, the officials are looking on sadly as deficits pile up day after day.

It is interesting to note, too, that at New York they are happy to have a daily average attendance of 82,000. Wouldn't the Canadian National Exhibition directors feel blue if their attendance slipped down to that figure?

ANNUAL HALTON MATCH TO BE HELD NEAR DRUMQUIN

At a meeting of the Halton Plowmen, arrangements were made to hold the annual match near Drumquinn on the farm of John Pickett, John Lester, and Bert Fuller, on Friday, November 3rd. We understand from President Peter Peddie that the site is an ideal one and the executive is out to excel the record match of a year ago, when 76 competed making it the second largest county match in the province. Arrangements are also under way to select a team of three plow boys to represent Halton in the Inter-County class at the International, which this year is to be held near Brockville, Oct. 10th to 13th inclusive.

Strong Friendship Link Between Copper Cliff and Georgetown

Showing the friendly feeling that has been created between the towns of Copper Cliff and Georgetown due to the sport activities of the younger boys of both towns, Mayor Gibbons is in receipt of the following letter from Mayor Collins of Copper Cliff:

Copper Cliff, Aug. 17th, 1939
His Worship Mayor J. Gibbons,
Georgetown, Ontario.

Dear Mayor Gibbons:

Mayor Alcott informs me that he is leaving on the 22nd with our baseball team to play a series of three games with your team at Georgetown. I remember very well the splendid team you boys had in Georgetown last year, thanks to yourself, your Council and your citizens, and the team this year is looking forward to a very enjoyable series.

I thought it only fair to warn you that our boys had in the cup which they won last year, and Gordon thinks that they are pretty smart.

With kind personal regards and with grateful appreciation of any attention you may be able to give to our team while there.

Yours sincerely,
E. A. Collins, Mayor.

Mayor Gibbons of Georgetown very kindly replied to the above letter, and assured Mayor Collins that everything possible would be done to give the boys a good time while here. A copy of Mayor Gibbons' letter follows:

At a quiet ceremony in St. George's Church, Georgetown, in the presence of immediate friends of the family, the marriage took place on Saturday, August 19th, of Jane Morrison, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Morrison of Rochester, N.Y. and Earle Frederick Treleven of Toronto. Rev. W. G. O. Thompson officiated.

The bride looked lovely, gowned in a full length dress of pink embroidered organza with large picture hat, shoes and gloves in blue and carrying a shimmering bouquet of sweetheart roses and bow-tied carnations. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Ruth Morrison of Ashgrove who wore yellow embroidered organza with mauve accessories and carried nosegay of Talsman roses and mauve gladioli. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Wm. Treleven of Newcastle.

After refreshments at Cedar Crest, Mr. and Mrs. Treleven left for their home in Toronto, the bride travelling in a tailored suit of navy boucle, with white accessories. The best wishes of many friends follow them to their new home.

Light Skirmishing

Up to now the political leaders have satisfied themselves with light skirmishing. Premier King has been content to date to rely upon "the record," although the experience in 1936 with similar tactics should be a disturbing thought. Dr. Manion, curiously enough for an opposition leader, has also made quite a bit of the record of the Conservative party; he is busy defending attacks on Conservative policy. Third-party observers say that of course the relative harmony between Messrs. King and Manion is that there is no serious clash between them. They hold similar views on many matters. The Liberals, however, attribute the lukewarm colorless nature of the campaign to date to the fact that the Conservative party has failed to produce an original or striking platform.

(Tariff Takes Back Seat)

One generalization seems safe: the tariff will not be the issue it was in 1930 and 1935, especially in the former. The Liberals, it is true, have lowered the tariff somewhat since they came to office and they have negotiated trade treaties; the tendency has been downward. But then Dr. Manion is clearly not anything like so enamoured of high protection as Mr. Bennett was, so that if the Conservative party grows more moderate than before on this issue, and the Liberals rest on their laurels, so far as tariff reduction concerned the issue will be relegated to the background.

What about third parties? Can the C.C.F. break new ground? For the first time they have a live national office and full-time organizers in every province. They have a bright and zealous national secretary, David Lewis, who promises all parties concerned "an effective campaign" this time. It will be interesting to see whether the C.C.F. which polled nearly 400,000 votes in 1935, and probably would have polled another 100,000 more if Mr. Stevens had not been in the field, can assume a position of real influence.

(The Herridge Enigma)

If all third party strength was united, one safely could predict a real drive against the traditional parties. About a million votes were cast for the minor parties in 1935, and this was not so far behind the popular vote for the Conservative party. This raises the query as to the real significance of Mr. Herridge. He has failed in his first move, a "United Front" of those dissatisfied with the traditional parties. He has failed in the "New Democracy" campaign, which of the older parties' gauge will he cook? One strongly suspects from the effect of the Stevens insurrection in 1935 that a rallying of ranks behind the former Minister to Washington will make a serious dent in one or more of the parties. But which one? That will be the next question, perhaps, of the next election.

The writer feels fairly safe in this prediction, at least, that monetary reform, or inflation in some open or disguised form, will become one of the major issues, possibly the issue of the coming campaign. And, as tempering warm up and the contest gets properly under way, that ancient bogey of unemployment, especially unemployment of youth, will inevitably emerge and take a leading place among the issues of the day. The Bren Gun contract may be prominent, but I doubt it. Foreign policy is of great concern, but the disposition is to let sleeping dogs lie.

In the Spotlight at Ottawa

By Wilfred Eggleston

Ottawa, August 22.—Though a general election may be "sprung" any day now, there is a curious lack of clear-cut political issues before the public. In 1926 the "constitutional question" centering around the authority of the Governor General was the high-light; in 1930 it was "cur employment" or "perish in the attempt"; in 1935 the cry was "King or Chaos". So far 1939 has lamentably failed to produce either an outstanding issue or a bright slogan. However, there is plenty of time for these to emerge.

In 1930 the show was stolen by the dynamic personality of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, who first raised the cry that unemployment was a national issue. In 1935 the sensation was provided by the resignation of Hon. H. E. Stevens and the launching of the "Reconstruction Party". One wonders what the coming election will provide along these lines.

Light Skirmishing

Up to now the political leaders have satisfied themselves with light skirmishing. Premier King has been content to date to rely upon "the record," although the experience in 1936 with similar tactics should be a disturbing thought. ## Extreme Heat and Drought Lower Crop Yields in West

AVERAGE CROPS ARE BEING THRESHED IN ONTARIO

In the Prairie Provinces, despite the fact that prospective yields and grades of grain have been seriously lowered by extreme heat and drought, crops over large portions of both Saskatchewan and Alberta continue promising and wheat yields generally in Manitoba will be fairly satisfactory. In the latter province harvesting is well advanced and in Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta cutting is fairly general. Good rains in Manitoba and showers over most of Saskatchewan have delayed operations, but the moisture has been beneficial to late sown grains and pastures. Little precipitation has occurred in Alberta, and crops in Central and Northern districts would benefit from heavy rains. In Quebec Province grain, fruit and root crops have benefited from good growing weather and all are giving satisfactory promise. Grain cutting is now well under way in Ontario, and harvesting is well advanced in most sections and average yields of the main crops are in prospect. In the Maritime Provinces crops in general show good promise, weather and moisture conditions having continued favourable to growth. In British Columbia crop conditions generally continue satisfactory, and prospects are for good yields of grain and tree fruits, though in various areas without irrigation water, rain is urgently needed. Harvesting of grains will be in full swing in a few days.

Moisture conditions are satisfactory in Ontario. Early threshing outturns of barley and oats indicate an average yield of good quality. Corn is making excellent progress under ideal conditions and prospects for root crops continue favourable. Pastureage is in good condition. Tomatoes have made good recovery from the earlier lack of moisture, but only an average yield is anticipated; delivery to canneries is expected to commence shortly. Early peaches and plums are a normal crop and other tree fruits are processing satisfactorily. Tobacco has shown marked improvement and although about a week later than usual, harvesting is now general and a crop of average weight and good quality is indicated.

Wm. Smith is seriously ill at his home on Robert Street. His friends hope he will soon recover.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Leonard White and Mrs. M. E. Donnan, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Irwin King, Brantford, on Sunday afternoon. They also motored to the airport at Milton, where they saw one of the big air liners, carrying a number of passengers, leave at 6 p.m. for Vancouver. The huge plane was in charge of four officers and a pretty dress-dressed in a smart-looking uniform. A large crowd of motorists from all parts of Canada and the U. S. A. were present to see the alpha. Milton has some swell new homes being built near the airport by the Georgetown Lumber Co. and several of them are being painted by Frank Pearson of Milton.—Champion.

ONTARIO REFORMATORY OFFICIAL SUSPENDED

Thomas Proctor, senior sergeant on the staff of the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph is said to have been relieved of his duties at the "farm" but reason for the action, reported to have been taken by Dr. Heaslip, superintendent of the institution, could not be ascertained.

Proctor, a former sergeant at the Burwash Industrial Farm, was appointed senior sergeant at the reformatory three years ago following the Madden commission investigation of riots at the institution in January, 1938. He succeeded Alfred T. Maguire, for many years chief custodian officer, who was superannuated as a result of recommendations made by Judge Madden.
