Glimpses of Parliament

shoulder with Britain and the other British dominions in this quarter. And that duty we shall not fail to fulfil as the honour of Canada demands."

We are fighting for Christianity, in all its branches, because Christianity, Protestant and Catholic alike, has been persecuted in Germany by Hitler. We are fighting for religion, because Judaism and the Jews have been persecuted even more cruelly by Hitler. We are fighting for democracy, for liberty of person, liberty of speech and assembly, liberties which we in Canada enjoy. Hitler's philosophy is a tyrannical autocracy. He places the state above everything and treats the individual as nothing, as a soulless animal to be used and sacrificed. His attitude goes back thousands of years to the law of the jungle, the law of tooth and fang. There are those who say that we owe nothing to Poland and therefore we should take no part in this war. In the same way we might say, if walking down the street we saw a mad dog attacking a child, that we owe nothing to the child's father. Nevertheless, most of us would go to the help of the child.

In closing I want to say that we are fighting in a war for justice, for honour and for liberty. We in Canada, like the people in England and France, have no selfish motives and no desire for profit. We have no enmity toward any people. We are fighting, or we will be fighting, against policies and principles which are anti-Christian and anti-democratic, policies and principles which are barbarous and brutal. Confident in the right of our cause, certain that justice will finally prevail, we should pledge ourselves here today to do our duty by Canada and the Empire.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe's speech which was addressed primarily to his fellow French Canadians was one of the most moving addresses which has ever been given in the House of Commons. I regret that space does not permit me to give it verbatim. The following extracts are very inadequate but give some idea of his stand:

Right, Hon. Ernest Lapointe (Minister of Justice): Our king, Mr. Speaker, is at war, and this parliament is sitting to decide whether we shall make his cause our own.

I hate war with all my heart and conscience, but devotion to peace does not mean ignorance or blindness.

It is a base calumny to say that England is responsible for anything that has led to the present conflict. So far as the insults and abuses of agitators are concerned—I disdain them! They will not deter me from the path of duty, as God gives me light to see it. I will protect them against themselves. I believe the majority in my province trust me. I have never deceived them, and I will not deceive them now. I have been told that my present stand means my political death. Well, at least it would not be a dishonourable end, and I am ready to make sacrifice for the sake of being right. But let me assure you, Mr. Speaker, that if only I can keep my physical strength, fall I shall not; and my friends shall not fall, either.

I desire to conclude my remarks by referring to what was said by our gracious queen at Halifax when she was leaving Canada to return to the homeland. Her words in French went to the heart of every man, woman and child in my province. She said, "Que Dieu benisse le Canada." God bless Canada. Yes, God bless Canada. God save Canada. God bless the soul of Canada's dignity, Canada's conscience.

God give Canadians the light which will indicate to them where their duty lies in this hour of trial so that our children and our children's children may inherit a land where freedom and peace shall prevail, where our social, political and religious institutions may be secure and from which the tyrannical doctrines of nazism and communism are forever banished. Yes, God bless Canada. God bless our queen. God bless our king.

With only three dissenting votes in a House of two hundred and forty-five members the vote carried and Canada was at war.
