HARVEST TIME

Filled and hushed on the silent plain
Wrapped in her mantle of golden grain
Worried of pleasing weeks away.
Summer is lying asleep to-day.
Where winds come sweet from the wild
rose briars
And the smoke of the far-off prairie soil.
Purple her eyes as the mists that drown
At the edge of some laggard sun-
drowned stream.
But over their depths the lashes sweep
For summer is lying today asleep.
The north wind kisses her rosy mouth,
His rival frowns in that far off south,
And comes caressing her sunburnt
cheek.
And summer awakes for one short
week.
Awakes and gathers her wealth of grain.
Then sleeps and dreams for a year
again.

—Pauline Johnson.

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF

Believe in yourself! Believe you were made
To do any task without calling for aid,
Believe, without growing too scornfully
proud,
That you, as the greatest and least are endowed,
Mind to do thinking, two hands and
two eyes
Are all the equipment God gives to the wise.
Believe in yourself! You're divinely designed
And perfectly made for the work of mankind.
This truth you must cling to through
danger and pain:
The heights man has reached, you also
can attain.
Believe to the very last hour, for it's true,
That whatever you will you've been gifted to do.

CONVERSION IMMINENT

Dr. J. M. Buckley, a Methodist divine, was once asked to conduct an experience meeting at a negro church in the south.
A woman arose and bore witness to preciousness of her religion as a light bringer and comfort giver.
"That's good, Sister!" commented Dr. Buckley. "But now about the practical side. Does your religion make you strive to prepare your husband a good dinner? Does it make you look after him in every way?"
Just then Dr. Buckley sensed the negro preacher yanking his coat tails and whispering ardently, "Press dem questions, press dem questions, Doc, dat's my wife."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

Conscription (Newmarket Era)
The Canadian Corps Association is urging conscription of manpower and health. If conscription of men becomes desirable or necessary, it will certainly be unacceptable to a large portion of the population without some measure of conscription of wealth. We never could see why one man should give his life while another man prospers.

Maybe You are Right (Greenmore Star)
Napoleon is supposed to have said that England never wins a battle except the last one. It's too bad Hitler hadn't heard that, but then he too will have plenty of time for equally philosophical outbursts when he lands in a modern St. Helena.

A Different Thing (New York Post)
There is no necessity to hide or gloss the fact that most Americans favor Britain and France. So do we. Repeal of the embargo will help Britain and France, not through our doing but through their own navy and their own blockade. What of it? Surely it will not help to keep us out of war to perpetuate a statute which aids the other side (should Italy stay neutral and be able to buy in the U.S.) and thereby outrages a majority and intensifies the emotional irritations which might drag us into participation.

Exile Returns (Elora Express)
Well thank goodness the Duke of Windsor and the Duchess, for whom he gave up so much, have returned to Britain. That it has taken a European war to get them there is lamentable fact, but in any case those of us who still retain an affection for our some time king and have deeply pitied his unfortunate position as a man without a country, are glad that he is once more in his beloved England and is taking on a definite job. Undoubtedly he will do well in it. In a world of tragedy let us be thankful for the return of the exile.

Would Be Appreciated Now (Orillia Packet-Times)
President Roosevelt has kindly renewed his assurance that no foreign power will be permitted to occupy Canada's soil or infringe on Canada's sovereignty. Canadians will be much obliged to the President for his neighbourly act, in throwing round them the protective mantle of the Monroe Doctrine, though at the moment they have no apprehension that Germany will be able to overthrow the British Navy. What they would appreciate highly would be that their powerful friend should join them in fighting the battle of freedom on the banks of the Rhine.

SEEK TICKET REFUND AFTER 62 YEARS

An unused portion of a railway ticket from Chicago to Boston which was purchased in the Grand Trunk Railway ticket office 62 years ago, and recently found in the effects of a late resident of Andover, Mass., has been presented to the passenger department of the Central Vermont Railway for refund. The unused portion of the ticket was good for travel between Montreal and White River Jct.

"What's this?" said golfer McTavish. "Where's the other boy?" "Him and me tossed up to see who'd caddy for you," said the boy. "Oh," much impressed with the apparent honour, "And so ye won, did ye lad?" "No indeed," said the boy. "I lost."

BRITISH DOCTORS MOBILIZED

British government plans for the mobilization of physicians in war were agreed upon between the Ministry of Health and the Central Emergency Committee of the British Medical Association.

The scheme provides for a national hospital medical service for the treatment of casualties. Physicians joining it will assume for a period of three years a definite liability to serve. The service will be recruited from physicians other than those already in whole-time employment of the Government or local authorities.

Class A physicians are being called upon for whole time hospital service with liability to transference to any part of the country. Class B physicians will be liable to hospital service on a seasonal basis in their own hospital area. According to the London correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association, the scale of salaries in class A are as follows: Consultant advisor $7,000, group officer $6,500, medical superintendent of a hospital of 1,000 beds and over $6,000, of 750 beds $5,000, of 300 beds $4,500, officer in charge of surgical or medical division of hospital of 500 beds and over $4,750, specialist $4,000, medical officer $3,750, house officer $3,175. The salaries are on a residential basis; if board and lodging are not supplied an allowance of $500 will be paid in lieu thereof.

Class B physicians will be paid $13 a session for consultant and specialist work of two hours' duration up to five sessions in any one week with $10 for other sessions. General practitioners will not wear a uniform but a distinguishing badge.

This will involve allocation to hospital staffs of physicians engaged in private practice, but the British Medical Association has elaborated a scheme for the maintenance in every area of an adequate number of physicians and the safeguarding of the practice of those who are called up.

HIS HANDICAP

The magistrate was a very keen golfer. He was trying the case of a man who was summoned for cruelty to his wife.

"My client," said the defending counsel, "is a much maligned man. His wife is constantly nagging him and in the end, driven to desperation, he beat her into silence with a golf club."

The magistrate leaned forward with a sudden show of interest. "In how many strokes?" he eagerly queried.
