THE INFANCY OF JESUS

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1939.

GOLDEN TEXT: "And they shall call his name Emmanuel; which being interpreted is, God with us." Matthew 1:23.

LESSON PASSAGE: Matthew 2:13-23.

I love to think that thou with tender feet,
Man's path have trod,
Along life's common lane and dusty street,
Hath walked with God;
On Mary's bosom, drawn a baby's breath,
And served thy parents true at Nazareth.

Then and Now, 13

In childhood when we read the story of the infancy of Jesus, we shuddered at the cruelty of Herod. We rejoiced that we did not live in such primitive and barbaric days. Yet our own newspapers tell us of hundreds of thousands of children being evacuated from their homes as a protection against poison gas. A public funeral was held for a little girl, however, carried in a passenger vessel was sunk by a torpedo from a submarine. Reports tell of innocent little children being injured by air raids. When human passions arise, modern man can display the cruelty we once associated with cave-men. One hopeful feature is that millions of enlightened people are shocked at the lack of respect for human life and are determined to continue to work for civilization which is largely based upon respect for the worth of individuals. The task of the Church in teaching love and brotherhood is as yet an unfinished task.

Egypt, 14, 15

Egypt plays an important part of both Old and New Testaments. Moses led his people out of Egypt, delivering them from the bondage of slavery. The Israelites, however, carried with them many customs learned in Egypt and their religion was influenced by their experiences in Egypt. Coming to the New Testament, we read of Joseph and Mary taking the Baby Jesus to Egypt to protect him from Herod's cruel edict. The prediction was fulfilled: "Out of Egypt I called my son." In modern days much consideration has been given to the relation of Egypt to the British Empire. This land is continually influenced by the maelstrom of European politics and war. Modern extensions have pleased together the long story of Egypt's history. It is a land that relates the present to the past and can be a corrective to the enthusiasms and ambitions of the American continents. Compared with that of Egypt, China or India, Canadian history is so brief.

Governments and Homes, 16-18.

Herod cared more for the security of government than for the lives of children. He valued the state above the family and the home. Nationalism is one of our most perplexing problems. The state is a unit of society as is the family. In practical politics much depends upon our viewpoint. Do we think that families should be ruthlessly subordinated to the dictates of the state or do we believe that family life is the basis of national strength? Modern nationalism is a reversion to the ancient practice of making the family subservient to the state. In war time the authority of the state is greatly increased. Special legislation gives governments the power to conscript life and property, to regulate food consumption, travel and publications. Patriotic citizens are patient about these regulations, but each successive war enhances the power of governments and restricts the freedom of individuals. A mother who has given tireless service to bringing up her two sons, realized upon the outbreak of war that she did not own her boys, the state needed them. A man who for years had refused to join the Christian Church because he wished to live his own life, within a few hours left his own home, responding to a call for military service by long distance telephone. Good government becomes more and more essential as the power of the state increases.

Nazareth in Galilee, 19-23.

The infancy of Jesus was influenced by politics. The Hebrew nation was subject to the Roman Empire. Herod, a decree caused Joseph and Mary to take the Baby Jesus away from his native land. Upon their return from Egypt, they settled in Nazareth, in Galilee of the Gentiles, as it was a safer place than Judaea. The choice of Nazareth, a Galilean city, was significant. Jesus grew up among Gentiles as did Paul. Both of them were to lead the thinking of the world in resisting Pharisaic exclusiveness and racial hatred. The New Testament urges us to break down the barriers that divide nations, races, classes and religions. We are all children of the one Father in Heaven. The same blood flows in the veins of all mankind. The unfinished work of the church is to build bridges over the gulfs that divide mankind.

Emmanuel

The Golden Text speaks of Jesus as Emmanuel, which means "God with us." Can we believe it? Do we look upon the story of the nativity as folklore or do we believe that humanity made a new beginning with the coming of Jesus into the world? Can we regard it as an incarnation, God made manifest in the flesh? Dare we believe that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world? Do Bethlehem and Calvary record events around which the future history of the race will revolve? Is it possible for us to have actual fellowship with God through Christ? Our religious experiences will be shallow or deep according to whether we regard the Gospel as mere biography or as revelation. The world into which Jesus came did not welcome him greatly. He is still unwelcome to many. Yet the hope of the peace and progress of the world depends upon the spread of his spirit.

Questions for Discussion

1. Why does cruelty persist in human society?
2. How great has been the refugee problem in the past quarter century?
3. How do international politics influence homes?
4. Is there serious racial intolerance in Canada?
5. What can the Christian Church do for Peace?

LEARNING TO TRUST GOD

On page 86 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy writes, "Trials are proofs of God's care." An arresting statement that! Doubtless many have pondered it. Why, one might ask, should we consider as blessings, or "proofs of God's care" experiences which bring sorrow and suffering? Ill-health, lack and discord have been looked upon as trials, and many have doubted if these afflictions could possibly be considered blessings, even in disguise. We need look no further than the paragraph in which the above statement appears, to find the explanation as to how we can make of each trial an opportunity to prove God's loving care. We read, "Trials teach mortals not to lean on a material staff—a broken reed, which pierces the heart." Trials, then, whatever their nature, lead to sorrow and suffering only when we place our reliance for their solution or healing on matter, instead of Spirit, God. When Jack seems present do we humbly outline how and where the need is to be met, or do we realize the complete willingness and sufficiency of God to supply all our needs? Do we leave it all to Him, our loving Father-Mother, knowing that His ways and plans are far better than ours? Do

GRAY COACH LINES

What's in a Name?

By Frances Lee Barton

The recipe below is called "Chocolate Cottage Pudding," but to me "Chocolate Mansion Pudding" would be equally appropriate. The pudding is economical enough to be served in the most humble cottage but delicious enough to grace the table of our most elaborate mansion.

CHOCOLATE COTTAGE PUDDING

1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour; 1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening; 1 cup sugar; 2 egg yolks, well beaten; 1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted; 1/2 teaspoon vanilla; 1/2 cup milk; 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream well. Add egg yolks and beat thoroughly; then chocolate and vanilla. Add flour, alternately with milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Fold in egg whites. Turn into greased pan, 8x8x2 in. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan. Serve warm or cold with plain or whipped cream. Serves 12.

NAME COMMITTEE TO HELP FOOD SUPPLIES

For the purpose of mobilizing the Canadian agricultural industry to facilitate the maximum export of agricultural supplies to Great Britain and her Allies, and to ensure domestic requirements, an Agricultural Supplies Committee has been set up by the Governor General in council on the recommendation of Hon. Jas. G. Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture. The members of the Committee recommended are six officers of the Department of Agriculture, namely: Chairman, A. M. Shaw, Director of Marketing; Dr. A. T. Charron, Assistant Deputy Minister; R. S. Hamer, Executive Assistant; Dr. E. S. Archibald, Director, Dominion Experimental Farms; G. B. Bothwell, Director of Production and Dr. J. M. Swaine, Director of Research.

The objective of the Committee is to keep agriculture functioning in a manner which will supply the food and fibre needs of the people of Canada and their Allies in the war during the period of the war, and to leave the farmer, as far as possible, in a position to follow his natural peace time pursuits at the end of the war.

The methods by which the objective is to be accomplished are:

1. Through co-operation with the Provinces and appointments of advisory boards representative of the industry who will assist the government in making the decisions reached and their objectives known to the farmers concerned.
2. Through regulation of distribution and purchase of feed, seed, fertilizers, insecticides, fungicides and other materials for use in the production of farm products.
3. Through negotiations or otherwise with the assistance and approval of the War Time Prices and Trade Board, and with the approval of the Governor in Council arrange for the disposal of farm products consumed at home, and in the allied countries or elsewhere in such a manner as to keep branches of the industry necessary to a successful prosecution of the war, functioning efficiently and continuously.
