CANADA YEAR BOOK READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

The publication of the 1939 edition of the Canada Year Book, published by subscription of the Hon. W. D. Fisher, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout and includes in all its chapters the latest information available up to the date of going to press.

The 1939 Canada Year Book extends to over 1,300 pages, dealing with all phases of the national life and more especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. A special summary of the progress of Canada is included in the introductory matter. This gives a picture in figures of the remarkable progress which the country has made since the first census of the Dominion was taken in 1871, sixty-eight years ago.

All parts of the volume have been carefully revised and brought up to date; the latest information appearing to the date when each section was sent to press is included. Under Section I of Chapter VIII—Agriculture—a special subsection explains the leasing operations of the Canadian Farm Loan Board since its inception in 1930. Further progress has been made this year in completing the framework of Chapter XVIII—Transportation and Communications—especially in regard to Part VII that deals with Radio Communications. Chapter XX—Prices—has been revised, especially in relation to Subsection 2 dealing with retail prices and cost of living, under which heading a new subsection summarizes the latest results of a special study on family living expenditures, now being undertaken by the Bureau as a phase of the Nutrition Survey. The material of Chapter XXVII—Judicial and Penitentiary Statistics Branch of this Bureau.

In the present edition, a complete list of special articles and of significant historical or descriptive text that has not been subject to wide change and is therefore not repeated, is given following the Table of Contents. This list links the 1939 Year Book with its predecessors and indicates the extent to which the "Year Book" must now be regarded as a series of publications rather than as a single volume.

There are over thirty maps and charts contained in the volume, and a photographic illustration of the special article on Noxious Forest insects. Three lithographed maps are included.

In commemoration of the Royal Visit to Canada, May 17 to June 15th, 1929, four plates of Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, together with official pictures of incidents connected with the unveiling of the National Memorial and of the Royal Assent to legislation of the 1929 Session of Parliament, appear, as frontispiece. At pp. 1155-1160 a short account of the Royal Tour across Canada together with a condensed itinerary is given.

Persons requiring the Year Book may obtain it from the King's Printer, Ottawa, as long as the supply lasts, at the price of $1.50, which covers merely the cost of paper, printing and binding. By a special concession, a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona-fide students and school teachers, who may obtain copies at the nominal price of 50 cents each.

THRIFT WITH FISH

If you want to be thrifty, and whether we like it or not, most of us just have to be, buy whole fish, with head and tail left on. There are several valuable reasons for doing this. First, you tell whether the fish is fresh or not. Full bright eyes and gills, firm fins and tails a sure way of determining this important point. Secondly, the head, tail, bones and skin should be used to make fish stock and thus get extra value from your purchase. Third, in trimming fish thoroughly, cover the trimmings with cold water. Add salt, outside stalks of celery or celery leaves, onion, carrot, bay leaf and parsley if you happen to have all those on hand, and simmer gently for about an hour. Four through a strainer. From this stock, using Canadian salmon, halibut or cod, the following delicious soups can be made.

To Make Vegetable Soup
 3 quarts of fish stock
 2 large carrots
 1 large lump
 2 large onions
 Outside stalks of celery finely minced
 Prepare carrots, turnip, onions, and celery the usual way with a French knife on a board. Cover with boiling water seasoned with salt and simmer until tender. Heat the soup stock, then add the vegetables together with the water in which they were cooked. It may then be thickened with flour and water and smooth or with cooked rice or barley.

Rice Tomato Soup with Fish Stock
 1 quart of fish stock
 1 cup of tomato
 1 cup of cooked rice
 1 tsp. of tomato catsup, or
 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 Salt and pepper
 Heat the fish stock. Add the strained tomatoes. Add the cup of boiled rice. Allow it to boil up together and season, may be thickened if desired.

When Lightning Strikes

By BEN BROOKS

IF JERRY HOWARD had not been so altogether good to look upon, so interesting because of his very critical, amused attitude toward life and so adored by the two aunts who had presided over his home since he had been left an orphan at 15, perhaps no attention would have been paid to his lack of interest in girls. Given looks and wealth and youth the public is always annoyed at the refusal of a young man to marry.

"We'd like to see your wife in this home before many years, Jerry," little Aunt Lida often said to him as they sat before the library fire after dinner. Aunt Susan busily knitting across from them. "We're waiting and it's silly to pretend we'll be here forever. You need—" "I've got all I need," Jerry protested gaily, kissing her affectionately as he arose to pace up and down the rug. "Don't worry—and don't drag any more girls here, you two frauds! There's been something impossible about every one of the four! Now I come to think of it, the things I most dislike in girls there embodied in those four! The first one simply stroved things all over the place and since I've had years of your orderliness that came hard on me. Another one told me everything I said, did or thought was utterly wonderful, and if there's anything I dislike it's hypocrisy or stupidity. Seems to me another one was boisterous and noisy, and you've taught me to like quietness and peace. But that last one, Laura—"

"Any woman," he continued, as he got out a cigarette and lit it, any woman or girl who deliberately puts on a pink hat tells the world that she is unresponsive to its beauty, and weak and frittering mental! It absolutely kills attractiveness. Laura was quite nice until she would go and put on that hat of hers, and I always ran when I saw it. I couldn't be happy with a girl who offended me in these ways. I'm far from perfection myself, but I'm selfish enough to want it in my wife."

Aunt Lida looked at Aunt Susan and Aunt Susan looked back. Each tried to speak and failed, and finally they spoke together, half fearfully. "We're—we're terribly sorry, Jerry," they went out, "but we have another visitor coming tomorrow! Her grandmother is an old friend of ours and Marion is on her way out West, and we thought we'd like to see her—we—"

Jerry Howard burst out laughing. "Cheer up!" he cried. "I'll be exactly as nice to your guest as I can. I'll do everything the perfect host should do except fall in love with her!"

Nervously the two aunts awaited Marion's arrival. And 30 minutes after she came they were swamped with woe, almost in tears.

"Whatever shall we do for 10 days?" Aunt Lida queried of her sister when Marion had gone to her room. "Did you ever see anyone who bounced around more or laughed so much or had such a funny nose? And her hat went into one chair, her bag into another. And what was it she said as she grabbed up that silver-framed picture of Jerry?"

"She said," quavered Aunt Susan tremulously, "she said right out: 'Isn't he adorable! Is this Jerry? Oh, I think he's splendid!'"

"And," concluded Aunt Lida in a hushed voice, "her—her hat hat—it was that shade of p-p-pink!"

At dinner that night when Jerry was home to meet their guest, tears came to the eyes of Aunt Susan. For Marion with the impish face was a bundle of laughter and talk. She told Jerry frankly three times he was marvelous.

The next morning when Marion appeared in sports clothes, she was wearing the pink hat, and she danced off to meet Jerry approaching in his runabout. His smile in view of the hat, his aunts decided, was nothing short of heroic. All that day they suffered vicariously with Jerry driving his lively visitor to the country club and the golf links, pink hat, laughter and chatter for eight hours at a stretch.

"It's pitiful!" they told each other that night after the two had returned. "From his manner one would never dream what he is going through!"

For the rest of Marion's visit they dutifully picked up after her, and dandered the radio and shut their eyes to her choice of colors. For the seemed fond of that shade of pink and it was frequent in her wardrobe. They found to their surprise, however, that they were sorry to have her go when the last day of her visit arrived. There was something about the child which had gotten into their hearts, her gayety, her real sweetness, her saucy face, her "Hello" to Jerry told them, "we want to tell you that she's coming back again—so stay! I expect you can't believe it for I'm hardly able to myself—to think that a perfectly wonderful girl like herself should ever care for me!" Drawing her closer, he kissed her. The pink hat brushed his face, but he seemed unaware of the fact. It dawned on the aunts that he did not even know it was pink. That was what happened to a man when the lightning struck!

"She was just made for you, Jerry!" the two little old ladies chorused. And meant it.
