CORRESPONDENCE

Georgetown, Oct. 17th, 1939.
To the Editor,
Georgetown Herald.

Dear Sir:

In last week's issue of your paper we placed before your readers figures dealing with Canada's expenditure for alcoholic beverages during the years of government sale in eight provinces, and suggested the necessity of giving consideration to the problem of emergency in this time of national emergency.

One of the questions which naturally presents itself is "How do the ECONOMISTS view the situation, the men who have at their disposal facts and figures not available to the average citizen?" May we quote from the writings of a few:

The late Rt. Hon. Viscount Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Labor Government of Great Britain, said in 1936: "All experience has shown that the liquor trade is one which in the public interest should be discouraged. It is wise policy to reduce the duties on necessary articles such as tea, coffee, cocoa, sugar, fruit and foodstuffs so as to make them cheaper and thus encourage consumption. But not in the case of drink. High duties on this article should be maintained so as to discourage purchase and to turn expenditure into more useful channels. BUT THE BEST OF ALL WAYS TO STOP THE EXPENDITURE ON DRINK IS FOR THE INDIVIDUAL HIMSELF TO STOP WASTING HIS SUBSTANCE UPON IT." (Emphasis in quotations is ours).

The late Mr. William Graham (a former Financial Secretary to the Treasury and President of the Board of Trade) is quoted thus: "Let it be urged as A SIMPLE ECONOMIC TRUTH that no amount of subsequent revenue which is derived from the liquor traffic will EVER COMPENSATE for the original misdirection of the outlay. Remembering my brief experience at the Treasury I can speak for every earnest student on this question when I say that we WOULD WILLINGLY ABANDON EVERY COPPER OF THE REVENUE in the State on the transaction would be immediate and substantial. Be it remembered that this outlay involves considerable expense on police, in the provision of poor-houses and asylums and innumerable other directions in the social services. There is therefore the SLIGHTEST VALIDITY in the argument that the revenue derived is for one moment important."

In his "War Memoirs" Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George devotes several pages (322-344 Vol. 1) to recounting his efforts to overcome the shortage of drink when as head of the Ministry of Munitions he was struggling with the problem of speeding up production.

In 1936, in a foreword to Viscount Snowden's brochure, "End this Social Waste," he said: "I can speak with authority on this issue, since during the Great War I found that drink was rotting our national effort at equipment in deadly fashion. It became indeed a CHOICE BETWEEN ALCOHOL AND VICTORY. Only by taking stern and revolutionary measures to restrict the menace of liquor were we able to maintain the industrial activity which carried us through those terrible years to a final triumph."

Many other authorities might be cited. Mr. Editor, all echoing the same drum. It is possible for the State to make gain out of the liquor traffic. The profits will never balance the losses.

Thus speak the financial experts. What can we as citizens do about it in the present national situation?

Two things I can suggest themselves. First, we can follow the example set by our late beloved King George V in the dark days of the last Great War, by saying "As for me and my house we will impose upon ourselves a voluntary prohibition of intoxicants." Second, we can, both as organizations and as individuals, write our representative (Mr. Hughes Cleaver, M.P., Burlington) assuring him of our willingness to support the government wholeheartedly in whatever restrictive measures may be deemed necessary to stop the wastage due to consumption of alcoholics. Such offer of co-operation on the part of Halton County residents we are sure would be welcomed by those whose heavy responsibility it is to conduct the affairs of the nation in these trying days.

"IS NOT BEVERAGE ALCOHOL WHETHER IN PEACE OR WAR, AN ENEMY WITHIN THE GATES?"
On behalf of the Georgetown W.C.T.U. (Mrs. C. B.) Catherine Dayfoot.

THIS AND THAT IN SPORT

Georgetown Hockey Club will attempt to organize for the 1939-40 season on Friday night next, Oct. 20th at 8 p.m. in the Arena. Let everyone interested in hockey turn out and start the season off right. New officers are to be elected, and now that the Club's finances are in good shape, it should not be hard to find men to fill the various positions. What the prospects are for teams in Georgetown this year, we do not know, but some predictions may be made after the meeting.

Action hockey club held their annual meeting last week and election of officers were as follows:—
President—W. J. Beatty.
1st Vice-President—W. H. Clayton.
2nd Vice-President—E. J. Masters.
Treasurer—W. E. Graham.
Secretary—J. Creighton.
Executive—V. B. Rumley, P. Terry and W. D. Talbot.
Honorary President—Dr. E. J. Nelson, Oct. A. O. T. Beardmore, B. G. Bennett.

Precious stones were divided into male and female according to their depth of color by the ancient Romans.

The Canadian Legion

The Georgetown Branch of the Canadian Legion has been working quietly, but nevertheless very energetically, both before the declaration of the war and since. Much good work has been accomplished and every member is ready and anxious to do his part in bringing this war to a successful conclusion. To these veterans of the Great War the present one is but a continuation of that one in which they fought and which they now find they did not finish, even though, at the time, it seemed like victory.

Years have passed and most of them find they, through sickness and disability, caused mostly through their service to their country, and their age, are now unable to take their place with their sons in the ranks of the fighting forces.

Some, however, who find themselves still fit have shown they are ready for their country's call by joining the Canadian active service force, and we salute them. Others are only waiting an opportunity to do likewise.

As for those who must, perforce, be left, the Canadian Legion has conducted a national survey of veterans and each is listed, with all particulars, so that, should his services be required in any capacity by the Government, he will be ready to do his bit. Already a number from Georgetown have been employed as guards, and it may be mentioned here, when called upon in the first instance, were at their posts within an hour.

The Georgetown Legion has thrown open all the facilities of its Club Rooms to those of the Militia who may have enlisted for active service or who may be doing guard duties. Also it is both willing and anxious to co-operate with any town organizations participating in war work, and they will be happy to learn that others are doing likewise, forgetting party politics or partisanship, in the end that with united effort very definite results may be obtained.

So far as is known, none of the industries in the town have come forward with a statement of policy in regard to their men enlisting. It would be a splendid gesture on their part if they let it be known that any of their staff who joined His Majesty's Forces would, at the very least, be assured of this job when he returned. "The Legion has already done this. It is also hoped that those places, left vacant by enlistment, may be temporarily filled by those who, in the Great War, offered their all, and who are now unemployed. The Legion throughout Canada has thousands of men registered according to their trades, and the Georgetown Branch has its own lists. There must be someone there who can fill the gap.

Members of the Legion have, by sacrifice, earned their right to membership. They are again willing to re-dedicate their lives to God, King and Country, and live up to their motto of "SERVICE."

G. COUSSENS, President,
Branch 120 Canadian Legion.
