GEORGE C. ATKINS
Candidate in Halton for the National Government Party.

TO THE PEOPLE OF HALTON:

On Saturday, February 10, I was nominated by an Open Convention, as the people's candidate of the National Government movement in Halton county.
Seven hundred representative citizens gathered at Milton to express their demand for a vigorous, victory policy in Canada. They came despite bad weather and dangerous roads.
They entrusted me with the responsibility of representing those of all parties who have decided that Canada shall not be let down by party politicians playing politics while the lives of our men are in peril and the welfare of every Canadian is at stake.
Up until Mr. King created the Macdonald-King crisis, by a trick to cheat parliament of its rights and the people of theirs, I had been independent in politics. But I had never been neutral on an issue affecting the welfare of the people of Halton and of Canada.

When Mr. King gentled democracy by shutting the doors of parliament in the faces of the members, the issue became clear-cut and supremely important to me. My duty was plain. It was to associate myself with the low-Canadians who saw as I did that our rights and liberties were at stake at home as well as abroad.
My work as a publisher has kept me in close touch with national affairs and with good Canadians of all parties. Those whom I met in the days following Mr. King's denial of our rights and liberties were shocked and deeply concerned for the future of representative government in Canada. Almost without exception they condemned Mr. King's trick and attributed it to the changes of gross mismanagement of the government, which made him afraid to face parliament.
A non-partisan group of good Canadians asked me to permit them to place my name before an Open Convention of the people of Halton. They were convinced that there was much truth in the charges of gross mismanagement of Canada's war effort, of the shocking failure to provide properly for the soldiers and their dependents, of political patronage and graft.
Before concluding that the failure and guilt of the government were so glaring that Mr. King dare not account to parliament, I made a personal survey among my friends in high and low places. Their statements to me, at my own knowledge of the Liberal government, justified my belief that a government whose interests could Canada play its proper part in winning the war on the home front and the battle front.
It became my duty to carry my convictions into the election contest.
Some people, as sincere as my supporters and myself, will disagree with me. I respect their honesty and opinions. I hope that they will yet realize the danger of returning Mr. King to power. Mr. King's latest act of political desperation is the best evidence that he would, if returned to power, continue to ignore parliament and would use his majority to suppress whatever he desired to conceal.
The negative record of the shortcomings and failures of the Liberal party government is written in your daily experiences. You have seen millions of days of work lost, never to be done, because the Liberal party government failed to plan to use the energy of those who were eager to produce what would be most needed from farm and factory. You have seen the treatment accorded our gallant troops and the neglect of their wives, mothers, and children. You can judge the record of the government by what you have seen and by what you know to be true.
The time for delay, excuses and fumbling is ended.
The time for positive action is here. The time has come for the election of a government above party politics which will carry out the will of the people who are resolutely united for victory.
My platform is "Victory."
My wholehearted effort will be devoted to cooperation to ensure that we shall not fail to:
Produce all we can.
Give all we can.
Serve all we can.
Vote for Victory
Yours for Victory,
GEORGE C. ATKINS.
