MRS. E. K. YOUNG LEAVING FOR TRENTON

Members of St. George's W.A. met at the home of Mrs. W. V. Grant on Friday afternoon to honor Mrs. E. K. Young, who has been secretary of their organization for over eleven years, and who is leaving for her new home in Trenton very shortly. Mrs. W. G. O. Thompson has charge of entertainment, consisting of each member writing an autograph in an album presented to Mrs. Young, and also the presentation of an upholstered chair. Mrs. Sid McKenzie read the following address:

Members of St. George's W.A. Listen to these words I'm going to say They are about a very gracious pair Who sailed from England leaving loved ones there.

It was in the year of our Lord, nineteen twenty-two They left their Homeland 'neath skies of blue. Enroute, no doubt, they would often sing "Rule Britannia" and "God save the King."

But when they came to our Canada fair A new song they heard upon the air—"Oh Canada beneath thy shining skies May stalwart sons and gentle maidens rise."

And then as predicted in the song A few years later "Alan" came along. Their first friends in Canada were in Toronto made.

But they soon came to Georgetown and with us stayed.

For seventeen years they've been friends staunch and true. And lent helping hands both to me and you.

"Service" has been their watchword, especially in church tasks. In W.A., choir, Sunday school, or anything you ask.

Faithful to Christ, both in sun and in shade. I think just for them this wee verse was made—

"God gives us life that we may give, He gives us Love that we may share, Sometimes, He gives us loads to lift That we may lend to bear. And life is sweeter when we give, And love is gladder when we share, And sometimes loads lift easier too, When we have learned to bear." Your welfare we all hold dear to our heart.

And though to Trenton you are about to depart; We hope Good Luck will follow you To your new home and see you through. Our lasting respect, and our love, and our care, Are combined in presenting to you this chair.

And at times, you are lonely and blue. Perhaps, this little verse will bring cheer to you.

"I am glad that I live that I struggle and strive, For the place I know I must fill, I am thankful for sorrows, I meet with a grin What fortune may send, good or ill, I may rot have wealth, I may not be great. But I know I shall always be true; For I have in my life that courage you gave, Since I have rubbed shoulders with you." Mrs. S. Groat presented the chair.

Light refreshments were served and many and varied, were the good wishes extended to Mrs. Young, who has been a very faithful and valued member of St. George's W.A. Deep regret and apprehension is felt about filling the office she will be forced to vacate. As the well-worn phrase puts it "What is Georgetown's loss will be Trenton's gain."

Entrance Results

The Halton County Joint High School Entrance Boards announce the results of the High School Entrance examinations recently held at Georgetown centre. The list includes candidates who were admitted on certificate of the principal as well as those who earned when they passed the High School Entrance examination papers set by the Department of Education. Candidates who have received honour standing are so listed. Those who have been rejected by the Entrance Board will receive a statement of marks earned, and their answer papers re-read on reading an appeal with the Board at least two weeks before the re-opening of school in September (that is, before August 20th), and on paying a fee of $2.00, which will be returned if the appeal is successful. Such appeals should be addressed to the Secretary of the Entrance Boards, namely The Public School Inspector, Milton, Ontario.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

NEWS

WEEKLIES AMALGAMATE

W. A. Fry, publisher of the Dunnville Chronicle, has bought out the interests of the Dunnville Gazette from the Hastings Estate, and henceforth Dunnville will have but one weekly paper.

Established in 1852, the Gazette was the older of the two papers. Since the death of David Hastings in 1938, Mrs. Hastings has carried on the business, assisted by her sons Fred and Edward. Walter McGillivray, of Georgetown, was until recently associated with the Gazette, leaving Dunnville for a new position with the Burlington Gazette two weeks ago.

This further amalgamation in the weekly field is but another sign of the passing of the old days when every town had two papers—one liberal with the Gazette, and one conservative. Gradually two-paper towns are changing, and one finds few of them in Ontario today. Seaford, Durham, Brampton and Listowel are the only four that this writer can think of off-hand. Nowadays, the majority of weekly newspapers are independent in political viewpoint, believing that the press should show both sides of the picture.

OATS PREDICT BRITISH VICTORY

Last week, several blades of oats from the farm of William Culbert, concession 8, were brought to this office. On each of these a distinct impression of the capital letter B of the alphabet, was discerned. Some remember that during the world war a good 22 years ago, a similar phenomenon was noted. It was taken as a omen, pointing to the successful outcome of the war, on the side of the allies.

Whether or not we may be superstitious, let all hope that even in these dark hours, it may prove to be a sign of victory in the cause of freedom and justice.

—Kincardine News—

SCARCELY HAD WE SET UP THIS LITTLE STORY

Scarcely had we set up this little story when two local farmers reported similar stories. One lady kindly brought in two or three blades with the letter B marked on them. A few hours later, Mrs. Leslie Campbell phoned to tell us of a similar phenomenon on the oats at their farm.

ASPARAGUS "QUINTS"

The Port Elgin Times has on display a strange vegetable freak—five stalks of asparagus grown together so that the plant seems as one.

MURDIE McDONALD EDITS ELORA EXPRESS

Anne Anderson Perry, editor of the Elora Express, is away for a three-month Western holiday, and has turned over her job to Murdie McDonald, well-known news commentator, who will be in Elora until her return. Mr. McDonald has had wide experience as a writer of syndicated news, but this is his first experience with a weekly paper. His "Ontario Weekly News" appears in many Ontario weeklies.

NOT A HITLER BUG

A local lady, who feared that Hitler's threatened attack on England with a plague of insect pests had come to Canada, brought a queer-looking bug to the Herald office on Saturday afternoon. The creature was about two inches long, with a grey-mottled hard-shelled back, and a head with what appeared to be two large black eyes. Six shiny black legs were also in evidence.

Miss Penson, science teacher at the local high school, obligingly gave us a name for the bug, which is a borer, better known as the "eyed elator." It is not uncommon in Ontario. The grub of the beetle is an insect pest which attacks trees and lumber, boring its way into the heart of the wood. The beetle can fly, and also jumps making a peculiar rattling sound. We can assure our anxious lady, therefore, that this is not one of Hitler's roused bugs.

A NEW FAMILY IN TOWN

Surprise is scarcely the word for the editor's feeling when he was walking to work Tuesday afternoon about 1:30 p.m. Passing Dr. Watson's home on Factory Street he came face to face with a skunk—not only one skunk—but SIX of them.

Mother Skunk was proudly leading the parade with five babies in a straight line behind, giving the appearance of a long white ribbon moving along the sidewalk.

When last seen, the family had disappeared in the ditch running beside the Doctor's house. Whether they were still in the ditch, or had disappeared down a drain, was left for some more reckless person to investigate. This was one case where a non-intervention policy was the wisest choice.

SOME STRAWBERRIES

Mr. Dan Livingstone presented us with a box of strawberries last week which was really something. Those who sampled the berries were loud in their praise of the taste qualities of the giant berries, which were quite the biggest this reporter has ever seen. What's more, Mr. Livingstone says these are only a sample of the rest of his strawberry crop, and he expects to have many more boxes just as big and just as tasty.

Toronto Philharmonic Orchestra Feature of CBC Summer Symphony Series

One of the most widely-known musical organizations in Canada is the symphony orchestra which performs each summer under the baton of Reginald Stewart in the great indoor arena of the University of Toronto. Established first in 1934, as the Toronto Promenade Symphony Concerts, the enterprise gained international fame and civic patronage, which gave steadily mounting audiences classical music throughout the summer months.

Occasionally, in the early years, the "Prom" concerts as they are popularly known, were heard on the air, but it was not until the CBC's policy of presenting representative symphony orchestras of the Dominion's principal cities was formulated and put into effect, that the concerts became a regular feature of the Canadian airwaves. For the past two seasons, the broadcasts have been an important highlight of the summer programme schedule, and again this season under its new name, The Toronto Philharmonic Orchestra is performing works of the great composers before enthusiastic audiences, and for many thousands more among the listeners of the CBC and of the National Broadcasting Co. in the United States.

The broadcast portion of the concerts is presented on Thursdays between 10.00 and 11.00 p.m. EDT. The dates are shared throughout the season with Les Concerts Symphoniques de Montreal.

Glimpses behind the scenes and during a performance are shown above. Top left shows Reginald Stewart in the role of soloist as he has appeared with his orchestra and with many leading musical agencies in Canada, the United States and abroad. In the centre is John Adaskin, CBC's producer, who has contributed notably to the success of the concerts with the radio audiences, and on the right Mr. Stewart is seen in a characteristic conducting pose. Lower left shows an audience of nearly 8,000 people overflowing the seating capacity of the arena and occupying every foot of available floor space. The view at the right shows the orchestra, comprising nearly 100 of Toronto's top-ranking musicians, and inset is Harold Sumberg, concert master of the Toronto Philharmonic Orchestra.

The next broadcast of the Prom Concert by the Toronto Philharmonic Orchestra will be presented on Thursday, July 18th, at 10.00 to 11.00 p.m. EDT.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH SETTING FOR HOARE—JAMES WEDDING

Strains of organ music, played by Mr. Jack Critchton, greeted the guests as they found their seats in St. George's Anglican Church, Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Ruth Edith James of Georgetown, and Thomas Stanley Hoare, of Brampton. Tall standards of pink and white pennies made a fragrant setting in the church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. G. O. Thompson. Ruth, who is the daughter of Mrs. E. James and the late George James, was escorted to the altar on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Edward James, of Hamilton, who gave her in marriage. Her long white sheer dress over taffeta fell in graceful folds into a train. The fitted bodice with short sleeves had matching bolero of French lace. A full length bridal illusion veil falling in soft folds to the hem of the train was fastened with an attractive coronet of orange blossoms and seed pearls. She wore lace mittens and carried a shower bouquet of American beauty roses and bouvardia. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom.

Her maid of honour was her sister, Margaret, who wore a frock of bush pink brocaded celtose organza over taffeta, of which the shirred bodice was trimmed with tiny bows of blue velvet. Two pockets made of pink and blue flower petal trimmed the skirt. Her floral headpiece was of blue flower and velvet ribbon. She wore lace mittens, shoes to match and carried a bouquet of cornflowers and wistaria.

Miss Jessie Cross was bridesmaid and wore a frock of aqua blue mousseline de soie with pink floral headpiece, mittens and shoes to match. Her bouquet was of butterfly roses and maiden hair fern.

Mr. Norman Hoare was his cousin's groomsman. George James, the bride's
