BOB GOLDHAM'S ROAD TO SPORTSDOM'S HIGHEST PEAK SEEMS STAR-LIT ALL THE WAY

never has and probably never will produce an athlete as versatile as Lionel Conacher. The Big Train was a thundering locomotive on the grid-iron, the burrosse field and the hockey rink; a better-than-average baseballer; a boxer who could trade leather with the best of them; a grappler who could hold his own against the pachyderms of the wrestling whirligig. He was a natural who excelled in any athletic competition that taxed to the limit skill, endurance and heart.
Toronto produced Lionel Conacher and Toronto may add the polishing-up touches to the sports career of a youngster who seems destined to follow in the Big Train's tracks. This youngster is Bob Goldham, husky Georgetown product, a 19-year-old sports satellite who is displaying remarkable ability and versatility in teen-age competition.
Proves his Versatility
A lean, raw-boned strippling of 16 when he came in from his native hamlet of Georgetown, Goldham was heralded as a promising hockey prospect. There isn't any doubt about his hockey ability—he's real big league timber—and by the same token, belligerent Bob has proved he's an all-around athlete in unusual talents. Since he first appeared in Toronto, Goldham has earned top rating in high school football, basketball, track and field, and O.L.A. junior lacrosse.
At this stage of his exuberant athletic career, it may seem foolish to suggest that Goldham is a second Lionel Conacher. He has reached only the developing stage, and all too many scholastic sports, have wound up by burning themselves out. But Goldham may be different.
Take hockey, for instance. Goldham came to Toronto as a goal-getting forward, a right-winger who had all the earmarks of professional timber at sixteen. It is no secret that the Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey Club was instrumental in bringing Goldham to the Queen City. Canada's best junior hockey is played in Toronto and vicinity and the Toronto club wanted Goldham where they could keep a watchful eye on his progress.
Natural Defenceman
He enrolled at Northern Vocational School and in his first hockey season convinced Leaf scouts that he was a diamond in the rough. His hockey schooling continued last year with Marlboro Juniors and Goldham was one of the main reasons why the Dukes gave Oshawa Generals such a stern argument for the O.H.A. title. It was last winter that young Bob was switched to the defense, a move that turned out to be a strategic shift for both the Dukes and Goldham. Back of the blue-line, Goldham seemed more at home. His six-foot, well-filled frame shook incoming forwards from stem to stern; offensively, he was fast, strong, elusive, and a carrier as hard to stop as a runaway horse.
On one of the trips back to Toronto from Oshawa, one attendee of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey family told this writer: "Our kids may have lost tonight's game but it was a defeat worth seeing, for Goldham showed more in losing than he ever did before. That boy has what it takes."
All-Star Rugby Rating
As far as other sports are concerned, Goldham, in two years, has carved for himself quite a reputation for versatility.
High school football, which is no sissy pastime at any stage, saw Goldham developed into an all-star kicking, running and defensive halfback in two seasons. His efforts with Northern Vocational gained him a berth on The Globe and Mail's Eastern All-Stars last fall.
Another item on Goldham's sports agenda was basketball and as guard, he was a major factor in the march of the Norwocs to the Toronto and District senior title. Between hockey, football and basketball, Goldham still found time to shatter records in track and field competition, excelling in the field events, and played lacrosse for Brampton Juniors. He was good enough at boxia to be selected on the Ontario All-Star team which defeated two Western teams to win the Canadian championship.
Professional hockey seems the destiny of Bob Goldham and if he does make the jump, his efforts to emulate the prodigious feats of Lionel Conacher will likely end there. But until that day, robust Robert will go on being a one-man sports show.

favoured with a piano solo. Owing to Mr. Yarns' inability to be present, Mrs. Ellsby read articles concerning horticulture which he loaned her. These stressed the use of Vitamin B-1 as very valuable for plant growth. A small amount would do a whole garden for one season.
The evening closed with the National Anthem following which Mrs. Gowdy served lunch and a social hour was spent.

G.H.S. COLUMN

Did you see the students tripping to school on Monday morning? Can't you just hear one say: "There is something about rain, it is life."
School goes on; uneventful to our regret. The stairs have given bumps and bruises to two more victims during the week. Oh yes, some art supplies have mysteriously disappeared from desks. Once more the cry arises for lockers.
Poem: Parting is such sweet sorrow
The Parting:
I've spent so many hours with you,
I've spent so many things to do,
While bending over you it seems
You're part and parcel of my dreams.
I've stood by you down through the years,
Sometimes with smiles, sometimes with tears,
And countless are the little prayers
I've breathed upon you unawares.
But you have changed. And, oh, how much,
You shiver at my slightest touch,
And walk away from me, indeed,
When pressing is my want or need.
Old ironing board, your day is done;
I'll have to buy another one.

The game between the Argos (Capt. J. Ruddell) and the Tigers (Capt. J. Allingham) was a 4-4 tie until the last play, when Allingham recovered Ruddell's fumble on a bad lateral from Peck and scored a touchdown. This touchdown was converted on a forward from Bowman to Allingham.

Tuesday afternoon Company Sgt.-Major Murray and Company Quartermaster Sgt. Shannon helped the boys through drill. This visit was deeply appreciated by all concerned.

Wednesday, Oct. 9th — Field Day
School ends at eleven o'clock tomorrow, or at least the reading, writing and arithmetic part; then we depart to the field for the sports. The girls will be engaged in the "standing broad" and in "Bunkie baseball throw." The boys take off to the park for the "four-forty yard sprint." Final Score — Tigers 6; Argos 4
