Glimpses of Parliament

By Hughes Cleaver, M.P.

Monday of this week saw the finish of the so-called report to the Canadian people by our War Ministers of Canada's war effort with a summary by the Prime Minister.

Mr. King's statement was prompted by a request made by Mr. Hanson in the House last Thursday in which he said:

"I do feel that the situation to-day in the theatre of war over there is just as serious as it was at the time of the fall of France."

"The virtual destruction of the cities of Birmingham, Bristol and Southampton, the loss of shipping as evidenced by press reports, and in particular the utterances of the Marquis of Louthian, with respect to Finance, indicate the seriousness of the position."

Mr. King in replying to this statement urged the members of the House to use great care in their public utterances and stated that the admission by the Leader of the Opposition of the "virtual destruction" of the cities of Birmingham, Bristol and Southampton was not only inaccurate but was an admission which would bring the credit of the Government into disrepute.

He said that while serious property damage was inflicted the actual figures did not indicate anything more than serious civilian property loss.

Birmingham has a population of 415,000 people; Bristol has over a million; Southampton 178,000 and Coventry 204,000. Though the destruction in Coventry was much more severe than in any of the other cities above mentioned there were only 400 deaths and no serious damage done to any war industries in that city.

As to loss of shipping during recent weeks, loss of British shipping has been greater than the amount of new shipping which is being built in the Old Country, but Canada and the United States have both received orders for merchant shipping.

Eighteen merchant vessels are to be built here this coming year. As to the money situation dealt with by Marquis Louthian, it is true that the problem of obtaining U.S. exchange is very serious and that Britain is almost at the end of her resources in this respect.

It is much better that Britain should be made known to the U.S. so that their Neutrality Act and the Johnson Act may be repealed. In the light of present world conditions it would be difficult for me to believe that the United States would withhold supplies to Great Britain because of inability to make payment in gold or in U.S. exchange.

Mr. King also referred to the great loss which Germany has sustained in planes and air crews and to the greatly improved conditions in the Mediterranean and concluded his address by urging us to keep in mind the fact that the war is not going to be over in a matter of months, but that it will continue for a number of years. He said that we will have successes and reverses but we should at all times weigh both successes and reverses in their true relative importance to the entire struggle.

Notwithstanding Mr. King's reassuring words he emphasized the fact that nothing but our fullest contribution to the war effort would be enough and he stated that Canada would be called upon to make greater sacrifices in the face of all of these facts. I still believe that Canadians as a whole do not fully appreciate the great sacrifices which are being made daily in the Motherland and I have urged upon the Government the great need for still greater publicity in the press, over the radio, and in the movies so that our people will know of the great need which exists. Living conditions to-day in Canada are practically normal and in my opinion if our people know the facts they would insist upon still greater efforts than we are now making.

We are now spending at the rate of about four millions daily, but by proper economies this amount could be very substantially increased.

This afternoon the Minister of Finance gave an outline of his proposed new act for the control of foreign exchange. The full details will not be disclosed until to-morrow so that I can only give a broad outline of the measure. It is proposed to prohibit the importation of a long list of commodities including:

- Prepared cereal foods
- Cut flowers
- Processed fruits and vegetables
- Automobiles
- Clothing
- Furniture
- Manufactured tobacco and many other articles.

It is also proposed to prohibit the importation of a long list of articles including petroleum products excepting under temporary permits until Canadian sources can be developed.

A third feature of the measure is the fact that many types of British goods are to be placed on the free list and drastic reductions in tariffs are to be made with respect to Empire goods not included in the free list.

All of this is being done to conserve our supplies of U.S. exchange so that we will be enabled to increase our purchases of all types of war equipment and supplies from the U.S. Canada imports annually about 25 million dollars worth of fresh fruits and vegetables from the U.S. and many of us, whose ridings are directly interested, made strong representations to the Government that the amount of U.S. exchange used for this purpose should be drastically reduced.

The announcement of the Minister would indicate that our representations have fallen on deaf ears however so far as I am concerned the fight will go on until this waste of foreign exchange is also curtailed.

As to the new Excise Tax there has been a moderate increase on cars in the low priced field. The tax now starts at 20% and increases until it reaches 80% on the excess of $1200.00 factory price. The tax is also raised to 30% on practically all types of electrical household appliances.

ASHENHURST MEMORIALS AT ST. GEORGE'S

At the beginning of the Service at St. George's Church of England on Sunday morning, the Rector dedicated three outside lights and a small tablet, in memory of the late William Ashenhurst, and his sister, Sarah Jane Ashenhurst, in these words: "In the faith of Jesus Christ, and in memory of William and Sarah Jane Ashenhurst, we dedicate these lights and these tablets to the glory of God, and for the use of this church; in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."

The text of the sermon was "We Bless Thy Holy Name for all Thy servants departed this life in Thy faith and fear." The Rector thanked the donor in the name of the congregation, expressing thanks also to Mr. Wilbert Bradley, who had installed the lights.

The preacher spoke of the suitability of placing memorials to loved ones in the Church, especially such beautiful and beautiful bronze lanterns, which replace the plain and less harmonious former fixtures. He mentioned also the desirability of leaving requests to the Church, when making will: also the wisdom of making wills when in health, as the Prayer Book advises. Finally, he spoke of the inevitability of death, saying that it has no sting to that person who lives a just, godly and prepared life.

After a lingering illness of two years Mrs. Thomas McMillan passed away at the Manse, Caledonia on Wednesday morning, November 20th.

Margaret Anne Grant was a native of New Glasgow, N.S., the daughter of the late James Grant and Mary Macdonald. She was educated at Pleasant Academy, N.S., and taught school in Spruighill, N.S. and Albert, B.C. From the latter place she was called to Toronto to become the Superintendent of the Presbyterian Missionary and Deaconess Training Home. Five years later she moved to Halifax to assume charge of the Y.W.C.A.

She married Thomas McMillan and lived in Toronto for many years where she was active in Church and philanthropic work. Her husband died in 1928.

She moved to Norval, Ontario to be with her son the Rev. Norman McMillan, and was a resident of Caledonia for about two years.

She was a trustee of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, a past president of the Toronto Auxiliary of the M.E.W. Mission of France, and for many years a member of the Board of the Aged People's Home in Toronto.

She was honorary President of the Queen's Alumnae, by virtue of the fact that she was a sister of the late Rev. C. M. Munro, Grant, Principal of Queen's University, Kingston.

She is survived by two sons, Murray McMillan of Toronto and Rev. Norman McMillan, of Caledonia and one brother, J. G. Grant of Nelson, B.C.

The funeral service was held from the Manse, Caledonia, on Friday, November 22nd, at 2 p.m. The service was conducted by the minister of Rosedale Presbyterian Church, Toronto, the Rev. J. B. Paulin assisted by Rev. D. T. L. McKerrell, D.D. and Rev. (Dr.) G. P. Duncan.

Interment took place in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto.
