THIS AND THAT IN

SPORT

By G. "Mac" McGilvray

GEORGETOWN Intermediates have been getting plenty of publicity these days for their variety in player strength. New faces seem to be continually appearing on the line-up. and a winning team is almost certain in our town again this season. SUFFERING FROM loss of players

Georgetown has more or less been left to rely on outside strength. both Brampton and Acton out of hockey this season, the boys from the neighbouring towns have been very good in offering their services to the Georgetown Hockey Club. Marzo, Anthony, Soloski, McIntosh and Burrows, together with Walter Richardson, Jack Kemshead, "Bunge" Ward and Reg. Hoare, local boys, it seemed almost impossible to get any where, due to injuries and sickness. In a last crack at the group title, we stretched our player net out to New Teronto, and rightly so, for a hand-out by players known locally and ou. standing in the national sport. They Canada, which includes several fans should be proud to back such a tioned.

WALTER RICHARDSON was missing Kathleen Nixon, of Norval. from the same in Milton on Monday night, due to a fractured rib, while Bill Weiler and Bill Drinkto play in the group play-offs.

THE FEEGUS team, untable to draw a win last week over our Intermediate boys, threatened to protest the use of Joe Murphy on defence, but on the advice of Secretary Hewitt, saved their $25.00 deposit and decided to play it out on the ice. Pergus is a strong team, but, we hope, we are stronger when it comes to a showdown. We are due to meet them in the playoffs which the Intermediates are now certain to make.

AT THE LAST O.H.A. meeting held in Toronto, Eddie Biosell, a Junior of last season who was suspended. was reinstated. Bineell was playing well over the age limit, it was proven, and his case before the O.H.A. executive was one of the committee-room highlights last year. Bolton Trim Juniors In Listless Game

10 GOALS TO 1 IN LAST FRIDAY'S

Georgetown Juniors looked pretty weak last Friday night when they bumped up against the league-leading Boltonites. While the 10 - 1 score was somewhat exaggerated, the local sex; tette dropped into a slump after the first period that was pitiful before a fair attendance of fans.

Holding the visitors to a single goal in the first period, the locals gave way in the second frame and Bolton started their onslaught with four goals. In the third period they notched another ed back into the net. The rest of the before the Georgetown team got their period was acoreless, with Bakogeores single tally while Bolton played shorthanded. However, before the period ended the Bolton-Weston-Mt. Dennis-Toronto aggregation had netted four more goals to make the final score 10

MILTON BETTER THAN 5-2 SCORE

Intermediates in the Milton rink on Monday night, Georgetown repeated their 6 - 2 win of last week, and pushed into first place in their group. The game was a real thriller, right from the opening whistle, and both teams showed penty of speed and some fancy stickhandling. Playing his second game in Georgetown uniform, Joe Murphy, diminutive right defenceman, was on the ice for almost the whole sixty minutes, and most of the plays centered around him. Georgetown's first goal came early in the first period, when Murphy raised a high one from centre lee which struck the screen back of the net and bouncdrawing an undecerved

There was lots of action in the secand frame, with three goals and five penalties beeping interest at a high pitch. Hutchinson and Anthony got into an argument about half way through the period, and both were banished from the ice. Anthony for & five-minute stretch in the "cooler." Seconds later, Lindsay put Georgetown two up, and this was followed seconds later by a goal by Mattison. The Milton rally was short-lived, when Mattison drew a penalty, and Georgetown teamed up to stretch their lead with Davidson getting credit on a pass from

Lindsay and Murphy. Kemshead scored early in the third on a pass from Murphy. The Milton team, still desperately trying, kept the puck around the Georgetown net for 5.22 several minutes, and Burrows made some sensational saves. Playing & wide-open game, Milton left themselves open for a sudden dash down the ice by Murphy, and another counter for the invading Georgetowners. In the waning minutes of the game, a freak shot bounced off Marzo's stick into his own goal to bring the final count to 5 - 2.
