

Glimpses of Parliament

Hughes Cleaver, M.P.

The expected debate on the Confidence Motion on agriculture did not go on this week but instead the discussion on wheat was given first place. While this subject is not as vital to Ontario as it is to the West, the latter I will pass along some of the information which has been given to the House.

Our carry over of old wheat on July 31st last was 300.7 million bushels and our new crop yielded 551.4 million bushels. This would make our wheat supply for the current year 852.1 million bushels which is just about double our average supply for the previous five years.

Canada never has had a market within any year for a quantity of the magnitude of this year's supply and under present conditions our market outlet is so restricted that the larger part of it must be carried forward into the next year. By comparison Canada's carry over of wheat in 1938 was only 24.5 million bushels and in the previous year 37 million. For the five years from 1923-27 Canada's wheat carry over was 33.6 million bushels. The high record of carry over in the past was 219 million bushels in 1933.

Canada produces only about one tenth of the world wheat supply. The normal wheat carry over for the entire world is only 642 million bushels. From these figures it will be seen that while we only produce a small fraction of the world wheat supply Canada will this year have a carry over greatly in excess of the normal world carry over.

If Canada planted no wheat at all this spring and none in 1942 her present surplus would enable her to maintain both her domestic and her foreign trade for two years at the full average of the last five years and would provide seed for the third year.

This enormous excess of wheat in Canada has two important consequences:

1. It depresses the world price of wheat with consequent loss to Canadian farmers on future crops of wheat.
2. The cost of carrying this wheat in both interest charges and storage rates is at least 60 million dollars annually.

In the light of all of these facts our programme this year provides for a decreased wheat acreage of 35 per cent. The loss of this decreased acreage is to be borne part by the state and part by the Western farmers. The Western farmer has had so many bad years. It is therefore natural that he should complain. The other farmers in Canada fear the results of the diversification of agriculture in the West, but what other option is there in sight.

The British Budget has now been brought down and it raises income taxes to 50% and in addition it reduces the amount of the exemptions. The exemptions on a married man's income are reduced to $470 and to $338 for a single man. A very interesting feature however has been introduced with respect to the income tax on small incomes. These are set up as a credit to each man and will be available to him when the war is over. A similar feature has been introduced with respect to the excess profits tax. This still remains at 100% but industry is to receive a refund of 20% for reconstruction work when the war is over. This compulsory form of saving serves two purposes.

It decreases domestic consumption of goods at the present time thus permitting a greater war effort and it provides a large reservoir of demand for consumer goods to speed up the re-establishment of industry when the war is over. Canada's war effort is being stepped up just as fast as new factories can be built and men trained to man the new factories. Our War Savings scheme has been notably successful but as the war grows in intensity it is possible that Canada may have to enforce a savings plan similar to the British plan.

Thirty-nine members of the House of Commons visited the Steel Company of Canada and the National Steel Car Company at Hamilton last week-end. The contribution which Hamilton is making to the supply of war materials is nothing short of miraculous. Already the Steel Company of Canada has stepped up its capacity to three times its maximum capacity in their largest year of the Great War. Its new plant mill which came into production just a few days ago has a capacity of 50 tons per hour. Expressed in terms of ships it can produce in one month enough steel plates to build 7 1/2 cargo ships having a tonnage of 10,000 tons.

The National Steel Car Company has specialized in shell production. Its new plant is turning out over 30,000 shells per week. It has produced over 3 million shells as to date and is now producing as many shells as all of the other Canadian plants added together.

And Aircraft guns are being forged at the Dominion Steel and Foundry and are being machined and finished by the Westinghouse Company and the Otis Fenelon Elevator Company. The manufacture of guns in Canada is an entirely new industry and it got into production six months ahead of schedule.

At a dinner given to the members of the Royal Cornwall Hotel on Saturday night and which was attended by all the leading industrialists of Hamilton nothing but praise was given to the Government for the way in which industry has been organized for the war effort, and no one criticized the Excess Profits Tax which has taken all of the profiteering out of the war effort.

BOB BOWMAN INTERVIEWS CANADIANS IN HOSPITAL FOR EMPIRE AUDIENCE

"Christmas Under Fire," the Empire-wide broadcast of Christmas Day consisted of a number of actuality broadcasts from all parts of Great Britain. Bob Bowman of the CBC Overseas Unit presented a portion of the program from Taplow Military Hospital.

Although they were not noted for scoring goals, they now have many pleasant memories of games with teams from Milton and Toronto Eskadaks. And digging still further into history we were informed that Mrs. Margaret McDonald acting as treasurer and also tending to the duties of net-minder. Other players included: Mrs. K. G. McMillan (Gladys Post), Mrs. P. F. Blackburn (Alva Arnold), Mrs. Harold Cleave (Edna McDonald), Mrs. C. E. Ruddy (Amy McDonald), Mrs. W. Huffman (Viner Wright), Mrs. Weatherington (Grace Forster), Mrs. Vance Kenner and Yvonne Adams.

THIS AND THAT IN SPORT

By G. "Mac" McGillivray

AFTER BEING practically unheard of for 17 or more years, the "Scoreless Wonders" have turned up again, only this time in a different role. It seems that back in the early '20's Georgetown boasted a ladies' hockey team who won for themselves the name of "Scoreless Wonders" — scored any goals. But financially the club had more success than hockey clubs locally this season, for they had a bank balance of $6.00 — which through the years had accumulated to $7.37. Just last week, on the initiative of Mrs. A. O. McMurphy, treasurer of the club, those members of the team in the district were contacted and it was unanimously decided to send this balance to the British War Victims' Fund. Reading in the Toronto Telegram of this fine gesture derided our curiosity as to who the players might have been, etc, so we are indebted to Mrs. McMurphy for this information. It was back in 1923-24 that the late Angus Duncan took a group of the fair sex under his charge and began the task of coaching them as a hockey team.

LAST WEEK we told how Paisley Intermediate B team were favored to win the Ontario title over Seaford, but it seems that it will not be as easy as all that and the tables may be somewhat reversed. Playing a best of five series, the first affair went to Seaford. Then two overtime games dundocked the series. Last night Seaford won again to take a still greater edge on the series.

IT WAS ever thus. The Pergus News-Record says: "Our hockey team played so good this year that the fans only had one loss to blame on the referee."

IN THE JUNIOR C finals Markham look too good for the Bolton Flyers, having taken the first two games of the best of five series. Last night's score was 10 - 5 for Markham.

HOCKEY FANS WHO took in the juvenile series this winter between Copper Cliff and Georgetown Lions will remember Jay McMurphy as a clean and comfortable player. News come from the North that Jay turned up with 10 goals (and assisted on another) in a midweek final between Copper Cliff Maple Leafs and Rangers. Needless to say the Rangers won 15 - 9. Many of the boys who were down here are also playing in the juvenile finals against Falconbridge. The Copper Cliff team won the first game 7 - 6, with the second game being played tomorrow.
