ATTENTION: MEN OF MILITARY AGE

Officials of the National War Services Department report gratifying and ready response from young Canadians being called for military training under the National Resources Mobilization Act.

They state, however, that while each man receives a mailed individual and personal notice of his call to training, as his period arrives, a number of enquiries are still being sent direct to Ottawa. Major-General LaFleche, Associate Deputy Minister of The Department of National War Services, under whose direction the mobilizing of trainees is being carried out, points out that the Regulations have been planned to smooth out possible difficulties for the trainee by dividing Canada into thirteen Administrative Divisions, with officials and headquarters offices in each division, authorized to handle procedure and operations locally.

To the Divisional Registrar of National War Services in the area in which they are registered should be forwarded all communications concerning business arising from the provisions of National War Services Regulations. All men from 19 to 45 are warned that notification must also be given promptly of change of address or marital status. Failure to do so incurs the risk of fine or imprisonment.

Young men in this area, liable for military training, requiring further information regarding their obligations or applications for postponement should communicate with the Divisional Registrar for this District, whose name and address are given below for their convenience, along with the names of other members of the Board:

Division—E.
Chairman of the Board—Honourable Mr. Justice John G. Gillanders, Osgoode Hall, Toronto.
Members of the Board—Mr. F. C. Ridley, 90 Markland St., Hamilton;
Mr. Thomas Roadhouse, 293 Bay St.,
Toronto.
Divisional Registrar—Mr. R. A. Irwin, 65 - 67 Victoria St., Toronto.

YOUR SALVAGE WILL HELP!

The Georgetown Lions Club has taken on the job of an organized salvage drive in this district, and the first collection on Monday night got things away to a good start.

The drive is not to be a sporadic effort to gather up salvage for a few days, and then drop the matter for another six months or a year. It is to be a continuous effort to salvage scrap materials—paper, metal, rubber, and other things which in the ordinary course of events would find their way into the rubbish heap. The money realized from the sale of this will be used for donations to various war funds, while the materials salvaged will go on to help Canada in her war effort.

Other organizations in town have pledged their whole-hearted support to the campaign. The I.O.G.F., who acquitted themselves nobly last year in a similar enterprise, are solidly behind the Lions Club in their effort, as are the Canadian Legion and the various social, fraternal and church groups in town.

To make the campaign a success, it is essential that every citizen co-operate to the utmost of his ability. This cooperation can be realized in two ways—first by saving your salvage materials for the campaign; second, by following the directions which will be issued by Mr. David Brill's Salvage Committee from time to time.

In connection with newspapers, it is most important that these be tied neatly and securely in bundles. Keeping magazines tied in separate bundles, will mean a greater revenue, as these are worth more money.

For the present, the campaign will be centred on paper, metals (except tin cans), rags and rubber. TIN CANS, GLASS GARBAGE AND FLOOR SWEEPINGS ARE NOT WANTED. By including these in your salvage contribution you will be hampering the campaign and creating unnecessary work for those who will be giving their time to sorting the materials collected.

If we all get behind this campaign, we will be making a worth-while contribution to helping the war effort. Are we all going to help?

CANADIAN NATIONAL

American Great War Veterans posts are famous for their novel bands, but their palm probably goes to the Simpson post of Erie, Pa., with their drum and single band of fifty-seven girls. They are making their first appearance in Canada at the Canadian National Exhibition this year.

Oh well, even if motorists are forged off the roads entirely on Sundays, there are still churches they can go to.

Hugh Day Scully

Chairman of The Board of Controllers of Industry

Hugh Day Scully takes his slogan today from the words of Winston Churchill—"First, win the war, and don't take your eyes off that job looking too far ahead toward where we are going afterward." He is well aware, however, that the machinery he is creating and causing to function today may have a vastly important and effective place in the Canada tomorrow.

Mr. Scully, Commissioner of Customs in the Dominion Government, has been given the special wartime post of Controller of Steel and Chairman of the Board of Controllers of Industry. Canada thus stepped up to the line, met the challenge of Nazi dictated warfare by creating a central control of war industry and indirectly of all industry that bids fair to prove as strong and effective as anything Hitler can evolve in his excessively repellent methods, with the essential difference that control of the centre and direction of its policy remain in the hands of the duly elected representatives of the Canadian people.

Hugh Scully is a Toronto man, born and educated in that city in its private and public schools and a graduate of its University. His father was a manufacturer's agent for British firms.

The Political Science course attracted Scully at Varsity, it was considered a good foundation for law, which he intended to tackle later. In his second year he took the Silver Medal, in his third, the Gold Medal, and in the final year the Fellowship, each of those honours indicating he stood tops in his class.

On recommendation of one of his professors he took his first post with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, whom he served as Secretary for nine years. In those days the C.M.A. was a great force in Canada, its annual meetings and executives forming virtually a parliament of industrialists, who themselves were big personalities, men who had pioneered their own businesses and owned them.

In 1918 Scully went to Russell Motor Company as Secretary and Assistant General Manager, which gave him direct experience in conditions and problems of industry at war, as his firm was the principal manufacturer in Canada of time and gram fuses. He became also a director of Canada Cycle and Motor, Scully and Co., Ltd., came into existence in 1922, organized by two ex-secretaries of the C.M.A., a firm of underwriters for small indus-

THE PASTOR'S WEDDING RECEPTION

Young pastor Brann was a single man, and in his congregation, The "marriageable" women folks, Get "cape" with great elation; So one morn he announced that he Would take two weeks vacation, Then asked the board to fix the Manse, For he would change his station.

He said he'd bring back Mrs. Brann, And in the manse they'd settle. And, my, oh my, how that news did The "marriageable" nettles. However, all the church joined in To have one great reception When Mr. and Mrs. Brann returned, Yes, great—with no exception.

They decorated all the church, The Ladies Aid gave presents, The deacons read addresses fit For Kings or Queens or peasants; They gave to him a big hall clock, To her a set of dishes, A silver service, huge bouquet, And oodles of good wishes.

The pastor rose and said: "Dear friends, Beneath your love I smother, I'll introduce now, Mrs. Brann, My dear and much loved mother." Then Mrs. Brann said "I'm so glad With you to be acquainted And live and keep house for my son," Then all the people fainted.

Brampton Girl Weds Francis Lederer At Las Vegas, Nevada

MARION IRVINE THIRD WIFE OF HANDSOME STAGE AND SCREEN STAR

Marion Irvine, 21-year-old daughter of Mrs. Eva J. Irvine, motor license issuer for Brampton, became the bride of Francis Lederer, Czechoslovakian born movie and stage star, at a ceremony at Immanuel Community Church, Las Vegas, Nevada, on Thursday, July 10th.

The romance started in Toronto last year, when Marion went backstage at the Royal Alexander Theatre to tell Francis "how wonderful he was" as the star of the play "The Pursuit of Happiness." Following this, her name was linked, often with the handsome matinee idol when he made frequent trips to Toronto to visit her, and this spring she went on tour with him in the States as his secretary.

The marriage was Miss Irvine's first, and Lederer's third. He was first married to Ada Nejedly, an opera singer from whom he was divorced in 1935. He later married the Mexican stage and screen star Margarita Bolado, better known under her professional name "Margo." She divorced him last December.

In the past year, Lederer has made three appearances on the Toronto stage—as leading man for Katharine Cornell in "No Time for Comedy," in "Autumn Crocus," and "The Pursuit of Happiness." His last movie appearance was in "I Married a Nazi."

Miss Irvine, who is well-known in Georgetown, is a graduate of Brampton schools, and has worked as a model for a photograph studio, featuring magazine advertising.

The wedding ceremony was performed at 8.30 a.m. by Rev. Albert C. Melton, of Immanuel Community Church. Lederer gave his age as 35 on the marriage license. After the ceremony, the couple left for Montreal, where he was scheduled to appear in a play.

Don't forget, tomorrow is the Red Cross garden party at the home of Mrs. A. W. Nixon. Come one, come all.
