SHOULD BE THANKFUL

Canadians should be thankful for a lot of commodities on their table daily, which the people of Britain are forced to go without. The story is told by the Goderich Signal-Star of some 200 radio technicians who arrived at the Clinton school, surprised at being able to have such luxuries as eggs, cheese and milk. "Can we have eggs?" was one of the first questions put to the Clinton cooks. "Yes, and cheese, too—and milk!" So one can imagine how busy the chefs at that camp would be for a few days, making egg and cheese sandwiches—especially as Clinton is in the centre of a noted cheese-making belt. These products are scarce in Britain during these war days, and Canadians can once again count themselves lucky.

MAYBE IT NEVER OCCURRED TO YOU!

We wonder if it ever occurred to you, when singing that popular old hymn, "Rock of Ages," who the author was and under what circumstances it was written. It seems this hymn was composed under unusual circumstances. In 1775, Augusta Toplady took shelter from a storm in a cleft in a large rock at Barrington Coombe in Somerset, England, and while waiting for the rain to stop, wrote this famous song on the only piece of paper he could find—a playing card.

KEEPING THE BOYS INFORMED

It seems to be "the thing to do," to send copies of the local newspaper to boys on Active Service. We read where Harrison town council is subscribing for papers to be sent to all their boys in the King's Uniform. Earl Rowe also made sure his constituents in Simcoe-Dufferin counties should read their home-town paper while overseas—so he subscribed for them at the regular rate. Hundreds of other weeklies across Canada have been sending free copies to the boys in the service on their own initiative—the Herald having nearly a hundred names on its list. In return for this fine gesture on the part of the editors, all is asked of the soldier boys and their friends is, to be prompt in sending in changes of address, number or rank. This will save overlapping and copies going astray in the mails.

NO WE HAVEN'T HEARD OF ANY!

Did you ever wonder where the name "peeping Tom" originated? We haven't heard of any being in this district for some time, but one never knows when one will turn up. According to a legend, the Lord of Coventry

LUNCH HOUR IN HURRICANE PLANT

"Kitty Hawker," the plant mascot, comes in for her share of the eats, as aircraft workers of the Hurricane manufacturing plant, in Fort William, stop for lunch. This plant is now turning out fifteen fighting planes a week and "Kitty" is proud of the achievements of her "co-workers."

was a very harsh man, and intended to inflict new and heavier taxation upon the people. His wife, Lady Godiva, pleaded for the citizens. Her lord doubted her sincerity, and dared her to ride through the town unclothed. If she did, he promised he would not levy the taxes. She then spread her windows and stay indoors. Then loosing her long hair she carried out her intention. The people of Coventry were all loyal to her and observed her request, save one "peeping Tom," who the legend says, was stricken blind.

A WORTHWHILE COLUMN

Have you been a regular reader of J. A. Strang's column in this paper? If you haven't you have been missing not only an interesting feature of the Herald but an informative one, too. We like Mr. Strang's style of writing, and the knack he has of putting everyday happenings in the news into words. While we don't always agree with his "stuff"—for instance when he said he would like to see us go back to unwrapped bread—we like to read the opinions of others, and Mr. Strang does not ask us to get on his bandwagon for he entitles his column "As We See It." His article on lacrosse was reprinted last week in the Peragus News-Record, as have a number of other articles been used by newspaper.
